BOERS ACCEPT PEACE TERMS

South African War Is Ended.

NEWS TO THAT EFFECT

London Believes That Leaders Have Decided to Accept the Terms Offered By the British.

London April 11.—The Central News is informed that a telegram was received in London this morning from Pretoria saying that Mr. Steyn and Generals Dewet and Botha had agreed upon terms of peace. The telegram indicates that the British terms have been accepted and that peace has been arranged.

Unconfirmed statements regarding peace negotiations were in circulation in London last night. It is said that Fredrick Rutherford Harris, ex-secretary of the British Chartered South African Co., has received a telegram to the same effect but nothing of an official or really reliable nature concerning the matter was then known.

Happily Mated.

A pretty wedding took place at the Moyie Catholic church last Wednesday morning when Mr. F. J. McMahon and Miss Stella Soper were united in marriage by Rev. Father Coccolo. Joseph Trombley officiated as groomsman and Miss Louise Harper as bridesmaid. The ceremony was witnessed by most of the members of the church residing in town.

Early in the evening the happy couple were given a good "send off" by the people of the town, and later in the evening a banquet was served at the Hotel Kootenay at which quite a number of their friends were present. The spread was an excellent one and the guests remained at the tables until nearly 12 o'clock. A dance will be given some evening next week in honor of the bride and groom.

Mr. McMahon is one of the oldest residents and business men in Moyie and is interested with his brother P. J. McMahon in the Kootenay hotel. He has a large number of friends in South East Kootenay.

Miss Soper, the bride, is well and favorably known both in Kimberley and Moyie. She is an accomplished musician and is well liked by everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. McMahon will make their home at the Kootenay hotel and become permanent residents of Moyie. The Leader joins with their many friends in wishing them abundant prosperity.

SEASON'S RUN BEGUN

The Moyie Lumber Co. Start Their Mill.

5,000,000 FEET OF LOGS

The Company Has the Best Equipped Mill on the Crow's Nest Line of Railway.

The sawmill of the Moyie Lumber Co, was started today in full blast on its season's run. There are about five million feet of logs to be worked up into lumber. There are a sufficient number at the mill to keep it running until such time as the upper lake is clear of ice and the logs at the chute can be brought down. The planer will also be run steadily.

The Moyie Lumber Co. have by far the best equipped sawmill along the line of the Crow's Nest railway and the company expect to do an extensive business this year.

The starting of the mill is good news for the people of Moyie.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

One hundred years ago England produced the most copper of any country in the world—about 300 tons. Copper extraction began in the United States in 1845. The Rio Tinto and Tharsis mines afford the best example of wet extraction of copper.

James J. Hill says: "The railroad interests in this country are not the greatest after all. The agricultural interests are the most important. They represent one-half of the population of the United States, one-half of the capital, and about all the patriotism, religion and feeling there is."

The Last Chance in the Slocan let out all of its men but six or seven on Monday. This, however, is not a permanent drop; it is occasioned by the water in the workings. It is believed that in a month or so the workings will be sufficiently dry again to allow the full staff to be taken on. In other respects there is nothing new to report at this property.

Fairbault Democrat: Cole Younger visited Mankato, Minnesota, a day or two ago, introduced himself and talked very freely and jovially over his exploits. He was interested in visiting places he traveled over twenty-six years ago, after the raid at Northfield, and while he and his companions were trying to escape.

Says the Paystreak: It is reported that F. J. Deane is to take the editorial management of the Nelson Miner. The Crows Nest Coal company will still own the plant. They have put up $5000 cash for the linotype machines formerly used by the Tribune.

The Medicine Hat News says:—"The influx of settlers to the Canadian west is simply wonderful. Medicine Hat we are in a position to size up the great incoming, especially of Americans, as we see here daily trainload after trainload of would-be settlers, bringing with them carloads of miscellaneous effects—horses, cattle, implements household stuffs. The exodus, this time from the States into Canada, shows that the undeveloped riches of western Canada are becoming known, and Canada is coming into her own. The rush of settlers is unprecedent, and is taxing the railways to the limit to handle the business in connection with other trade."

CRANBROOK ITEMS.

Cranbrook Herald:

The office of the Ryan hotel is now adorned with a disk cabinet that is a beauty. It is surmounted by a cluster of electric lights and attracts all kinds of attention.

Dr. Harvey of Montreal, has been in town the past week. He will go to Victoria to take his examination for the province and will then return to Cranbrook and be associated with Dr. King in the practice of medicine.

Robert Honeyman, better known along the Crow and the main line in British Columbia as "Old Scotty," left last week for Scotland where he has relatives. "Scotty" was a character, harmless, full of good nature, but during the last year he became a physical wreck, and unable to provide for himself.

Arrangements have been about completed to put in a big saw mill plant at Wardner. It is understood that Golden parties are largely interested in the enterprise, and that the mill will be built for the purpose of handling timber on the upper Kootenay and its tributaries. The C. P. R. will be asked to build a spur to the steamboat landing and the North Star will handle the product that is to go up or down the river.

G. W. Hull, general manager of the Sullivan Group Mining and Smelting company, the company that is building the smelter at Marysville, says "Just as soon as we have the roasters completed that we are now building, work will commence at once on four more, and another furnace, thus giving 11 roasters and three furnaces, and a capacity of 225 to 250 tons a day. And, as the needs rise, these will be increased from time to time.

SATURDAY, APRIL 12, 1902.

The lumbering industry promises to keep Moyie in a prosperous condition this season even if the St. Eugene mine remains closed down. There will be nearly 200 men employed, which will mean a very substantial payroll.

Trail, the smelter city, is the only city in the province of British Columbia, which does not owe a penny, says the News. Financially, we are at the top of the heap, and estimates for June 1, next, will show $1,000 in cash on hand. The city is being improved by sidewalks, and is being put in splendid sanitary condition. Incorporation has been a success because the affairs of the city have been managed in a business way by business men.

Secret of the Profession.

"Here I enclose a secret,
May it reveal itself to the world."

The following secret of the newspaper press association is revealed by an exchange. We trust our brothers of the fourth estate will not expel us; however we take all risk:

The enter sign consists of three kicks on the sanctum door; which should be given with deliberation. On entering you will kindly remove your hat and advance to the centre of the room. Place your right hand inside your pants pocket, thumb and finger tightly clasping two silver dollars, extend your arm and drop the silver dollars into the palm of the editor and at the same time say: "Send your paper to me." The editor in response should murmur: "Thank you," after which you will be seated and tell him all the news. If it should happen that you are without silver dollars, try paper ones. It might answer the purpose just as well.

Another Warning From the Doctors.

No doubt those wise doctors are quite right in saying that money should be disinfected frequently. Money is popularly supposed to be the root of all evil by those who haven't had the opportunity to acquire a taste for roots, and, naturally, it can easily be the root of the evil that we call disease. And this leads up to an unpleasant dilemma. If we hoard away money we can't help but take grevious chances on introducing disease into our own midst. If we play the spendthrift and let it go easy we incidentally scatter disease broadcast.

This is why Uncle Russell Sage is esteemed such a truly unselfish character. He scatters about as little disease in this way as any living man.

It's well enough to say that bankbills ought to be fumigated. Of course they ought, but who's going to do it? If a man owes you money and you see a chance to get it, you are not going to ask him to steam it, and deodorize it, and render it antiseptic before he hands it over.

No, indeed. We've got to be educated up to that sort of thing before we can adopt it. Let some storekeeper come out and say, "We don't give any change to our customers that isn't fumegated." He'd soon have imitators. Why, it might even get so after a while that when a man was held up by a highwayman and told by the latter that he was very sorry, but the fact was his wad of wealth hadn't been thoroughly formaldhyded, the gentlemanly ruffian would back away and leave him his germ loaded pelf.

Of course, when the highwaymen caught on to this little game they would naturally fit themselves out with a disenfecting apparatus and take their chances on the germs.

Yes, the doctors are all right, but you can't reason with any satisfaction with a man who needs money and is willing to take it just as he can get it, and perhaps let it go in the same way.

Slight Mistake.

"The showers last week, though copious, were not sufficient to meet the requirements of the mill men," wrote the rural editor.

But the compositor accidentally substituted "milkmen" for "millmen" and the proofreader being a humorous guy let it go at that.

Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of asthma. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. A man that hath no virtue in himself ever envieth in others; for men's minds will either feed upon their own good, or upon others' evil; and whoso is out of hope to attain to another's virtue, will seek to come at even hand by depressing another's fortune.—Bacon.

A MOTHER'S ADVICE.

She Tells How Little Ones Can Be Kept Well, Contented and Happy.

When baby is cross and irritable you may rest assured he is not well, even if you are unable to see any symptoms of his illness other than fretfulness. It is not natural for a baby to be cross and he is not so without reason. He has no other way of telling his troubles than by crossness and crying. When baby is cross give him Baby's Own Tablets, and they will soon make him good-natured and happy, because they will cool his hot little mouth, ease his sour little stomach and help his obstinate little teeth through painlessly. These tablets are just what every mother needs for her little ones—and for her older children too. Mrs. Clarence McKay, Roseway, N. S., says: "I find Baby's Own Tablets the best medicine I have ever used for my little ones. When my baby was four months old he was very much troubled with indigestion. He would vomit his food as soon as he took it, no matter what I gave him and he seemed to be always hungry and kept thin and delicate. He also suffered from constipation. After giving him the Tablets a few days the vomiting ceased and his bowels became regular, and I must say that since I began the use of the Tablets I have had less trouble with this baby than I had with any of the rest of my children." Every mother should keep Baby's Own Tablets in the house at all times—there is no telling when an emergency may arise.

These Tablets are a certain cure for all the minor ailments of little ones, such as constipation, indigestion, colic, diarrhoea, sour stomach, and simple fever. They break up colds, prevent croup, and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. They are sold under a guarantee to contain no opiate or other harmful drug, and dissolved in water may be given with absolute safety to the youngest infant. Sold by all druggists at 25 cents a box, or sent post paid on receipt of price by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Failure is, in a sense, the highway to success, inasmuch as every discovery of what is false leads us to seek earnestly after what is true, and every fresh experience points out some form of error which we shall afterward carefully avoid.—Keats.

Our strength often increases in proportion to the obstacles imposed upon it. It is thus we enter upon the most perilous plans after having had the shame of failing in more simple ones.—Rapin.

Why art thou troubled when things succeed not as thou wouldst or desirest; for who is he that hath all things according to his mind. Neither I nor thou, nor any man upon the earth.—Thomas a Kempis.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Lumberman's Friend.

Our lives make a moral tradition for our individual selve, as the life of mankind at large makes a moral tradition for the race; and to have once acted greatly seems a reason why we should always be noble.—George Eliot.

There is a difference of opinion on most subjects, but there is only one opinion as to the reliability of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It is safe, sure and effectual.

Strange it is, and sad, that a human life should so often miss the one human preciousness—the preciousness of love, with all the sympathy, all the compassion, all the sustenance that a worthy love includes.—Mary Linskill.

ARIZONA KICKLETS.

The Editor of The Kicker Contributes Some Bird's Items of News.

(Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.)

A Chicago drummer had his hand pinned to a table in the Red Fox poker parlors two or three evenings since. He made the mistake of thinking that a straight beat a flush.

From Johnson's hill, one mile west of town, we counted seven mountain peaks, five rivers, four waterfalls, three artists and a thousand jackass rabbits the other day, and it wasn't a good day either. Come west for scenery.

Over at Lone Jack the other day a stranger was foolish enough to bet $10 that we could not stay on the back of a bucking broncho ten minutes. He was a chap who could not comprehend the literary scope of a western editor, but he paid the bet without kicking.

There are about 500 Mexicans employed on the cattle ranches in this neighborhood, and at least 495 of them bear the name Jesus. We don't want to appear captious, but we think the name Pete would fit in a great deal better with the kind of whisky they drink.

As postmaster of this town we desire to oblige in every sense, but we cannot pass wolves, bears and lions through the mails to President Roosevelt, much as we should like to. The latest thing offered at this office was a Texas steer.

Our horse editor was buried yesterday, and we were glad to see such a large turnout to pay him last honors. It was not his fault, poor man, that he twisted a mule's tail to the right instead of the left. He had been brought up among oxen.

Whip-the-Devil-Jim, the cowboy evangelist, was in town the other day to look the ground over with a view to holding a series of meetings this winter. We know Jim to be full of pluck and fight, but if he sets out to tackle Satan around here he will want to keep his coat off all the time.

High Sing, a Chinese laundryman, stole a horse the other night, loaded the beast with plunder and set out for New Mexico to begin life anew. Several parties pursued and overhauled him, and now High Sing sings low—that is, he doesn't sing at all.

A self appointed committee of three waited upon us last Monday and asked us in the name of the people of Arizona to resign our five different offices and get out of the territory. The doctor says it will be three weeks before any of them gets out of the hospital and ten days before our lame back gets all right again. We are not the only critter with cheek in this locality.

Mr. John Skew, the genial landlord of the Royal hotel, was obliged to shoot another guest last Tuesday for complaining of the fare placed before him, but he did not shoot to kill. This is his fifth or sixth within a year, and in each and every case he has simply striven to inculcate a moral lesson and give the guest a chance to mend his ways. M. QUAD.

A Month Without a Full Moon.

The month of February, 1866, was the most remarkable month in the world's history. January had two full moons, and so had March, but February had none. This will not occur since the creation of the world, and according to astronomers the same thing will not occur again for a period of 2,500,000 years.

THEY CANNOT UNDERSTAND

MANY PEOPLE STILL ENQUIRING ABOUT JOSEPH BROWN'S CASE.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Are Acknowledged to be a Wonder Working Medicine—Many Other Miraculous Cures Brought to Light.

Oshawa, Ont., March 10.—(Special)—One effect of the publication far and wide through the press of the miraculous cure of a case of Paralysis here in Oshawa, has been to bring to the surface a great many similarly wonderful and well authenticated cures by the same remedy—Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Brown, whose case has caused all the sensation, is a modest, unassuming mechanic employed in the Oshawa Malleable Iron Works. Since the publication of the facts of his case and its cure he has been overwhelmed with letters of inquiry from all over the country, and to each of answers simply:

Yes, Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me after all the doctors and hospital specialists had given me up. I couldn't walk and had to be fed like a baby for four months, but the pills soon fixed me up, and I have been all right ever since."

He has also been in receipt of not a few letters from others who, too, have found Dodd's Kidney Pills a life-saving remedy when all else had failed.

Several of these, encouraged by Mr. Brown's example, have written to the papers reporting their cases, and all are very enthusiastic in their praises of the medicine.

But our explanation of all these cases has been offered, and it seems to make them easily understandable—The Kidneys are Nature's blood filters. If the kidneys are healthy all diseases will be extracted and expelled. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys, and thus enable them to throw off sickness and to protect the body from any and every assault of disease.

If we could read the secret history of our enemies, we should find in each man's life sorrow and suffering enough to disarm all hostility.—Longfellow.

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell P.O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills, and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

Experience keeps a dear school; but fools will learn in no other, and scarce in that; for it is true, we may give advice, but we cannot give conduct.—Franklin.

Are you a sufferer with corns? If you are get a bottle of Holloway's Corn Cure. It has never been known to fail.

The sooner a man shuffles off this mortal coil the sooner his good qualities will be recognized.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

Long words, like long dresses, frequently hide something wrong about the understanding.

To make no mistakes is not in the power of any man, but from their errors and mistakes the wise and good learn wisdom for the future.—Plutarch.

Indulgence

Is Craved

From the Free Press Subscribers Who Have Not Yet Received the Free Press Premium Barometer and Thermometer.

The manufacturers have been unable to supply instruments quickly enough to meet our needs and subscribers who are entitled to and have not yet received the Free Press combination Thermometer and Barometer are asked to wait patiently for a week or two until a further supply can be received.

In the first announcements all subscribers who renewed or sent in their subscriptions before Dec. 31st were promised prompt delivery of the Free Press combination Thermometer and Barometer and this promise was faithfully fulfilled. Long before such time, however, it was apparent that the demand for this instrument would far exceed the supply and a second order was forwarded to the manufacturers for several thousand more to be delivered by January 15th and the offer was extended to January 31st.

On account of the expensive nature of the premium, exceeding as it does in value that offered by any other paper in America, the Free Press intended to withdraw the offer on January 31st, but when the shipment arrived on January 15th the supply was found to be entirely inadequate and subscriptions and requests for the instrument continuing to pour in from all sides, it was decided to place a further order for several thousand and extend the offer until this last shipment should be exhausted.

A reliable thermometer and barometer is an article needed in every house. In the homes of the Canadian Northwest it is an almost indispensible article. You can secure a handsome instrument of this kind, guaranteed to register temperatures and atmospheric changes accurately, by forwarding $1.00 to the Free Press, Winnipeg. This payment entitles you to the Weekly Free Press for one year. Order at once on subjoined blank before supply is exhausted.

AT MAILTIME.

What Happens In the Country When the Letters Arrive.

Did you ever see the mail arrive?

The row of unkempt horses gnawing the hitching rack before Wise's store and impatiently kicking at disturbing flies testifies to the fact that the mail is due to arrive.

The slouching groups of jean clad beings, the unwonted activity and importance of the stiff haired station agent and the expectant alertness of the young and sunbonneted persons in the farm wagon all add to the impression.

The station is much the same as other stations. Its knife scarred walls are decorated with campaign lithographs, legal notices and advertisements of navy tobacco.

A platform of sun warped planks extends around two sides, beginning at two steps and a soap box and terminating at the usual "jumping off" place.

Upon the platform a lean cur is slowly baking in the midday sun, stretched at full length.

The agent, as is patent to all observers, possesses leather suspenders and a thorough and complete acquaintance with every man, woman, child and dog in Gilmer county.

"Yander she comes!"

The blacksmith across the road leaves a half shod mule and comes to the door of his dingy shop, wiping his grimy hands upon the sides of his leather apron; the young women in the muddy wagon remove their sunbonnets and smooth rebellious wisps of hair, giggling with excitement.

The loafers jump from platform and barrels, close their pocketknives and strain their eyes down the track.

A rapidly approaching column of smoke is seen around the curve back of Henderson's woods; a small boy, far down the dusty pike, leans over the dash of his rattling wagon and belabors his gaunt horse with a stick.

Two short, metallic shrieks the clangor of a bell, and the fast mail whizzes past with a jarring rumble of wheels, a streak of varnished woodwork and glittering glass and metal, leaving behind it a dust filled vacuum.

The blinking countrymen, holding fast to hats, gaze after its quivering rear platform with awe.

The brass bound mail pouch hustles through the air, skates along the cinders beside the track and brings up against the red cattle shoot, where it is pounced upon by three small boys.

With it the agent plows across the dusty road, followed by the crowd; the cling clink of the blacksmith is resumed, and ons impression of the station resolves itself into a vista of shimmering heat waves, whitewash and gleaming rails and hot yellow dust.

The mail has come.—Chicago Record.
