Council irked over wharf renovations

GIBSONS — Village council is up in arms over a government move to cut 10 feet in width off the approach ramp to the federal wharf.

Greenlees Piledriving of Vancouver started work at the beginning of last week on a federal contract to renovate the wharf by replacing piling and decking.

But it became obvious they were also going to reduce the width of the approach ramp by approximately 10 feet by eliminating the sidewalk and part of the traffic lane.

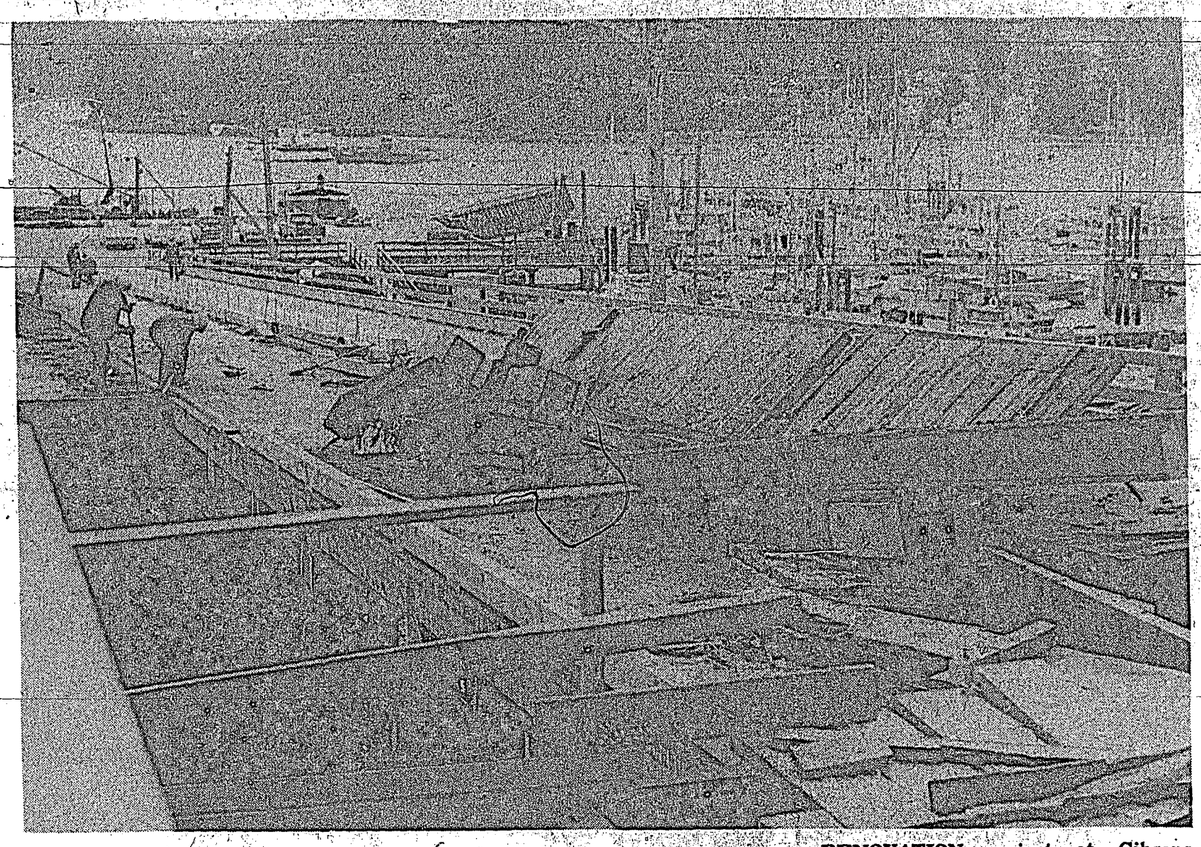
At their Jan. 7 meeting, aldermen said they had not been informed of the government's intention to narrow the ramp.

"I can't express strongly enough my disappointment with the ministry of transport for taking it off," said Ald. Bill Laing. "Instead of reducing our problems, they are giving us problems."

He said there was already a shortage of parking space on the wharf and that the federal move would only add to this problem.

Mayor Larry Labonte said he had written to MP Jack Pearsall and expressed council's concern over the proposed width reduction.

He said council was slated to meet with regional wharves administrator Charles Brooks to take the matter further.



RENOVATION project at Gibsons wharf has turned into bone of contention between federal government and municipality. Village council learned the government contract called for a reduction in width of the approach ramp by some 10 feet. Line of short uprights seen on ramp decking is cutoff point proposed by government. Everything on this side of them will be removed under Federal contract with Greenlees Piledriving. Mayor Larry Labonte said he has written MP Jack Pearsall about the wharf renovation to express council's concern The Mayor said the renovations only add to the wharf problems.

Hoehne asks pay bylaw be repealed

Regional board director Kurt Hoehne dropped a bombshell at the board's meeting last week.

Director Hoehne, a Gibsons' alderman, moved that by-law No. 98 granting a board directors an increase in pay be repealed.

The motion was seconded by director Dennis Shuttleworth, the only director to vote against the bylaw when it was passed at the board's first meeting in January.

The bylaw calls for the directors renumeration to be raised from $25 for each regularly called meeting of the board or a committee of the board and a raise from $50 to $100 for the chairman of the board or committee.

That vote has passed with only director Shuttleworth voting against it.

At the most recent board meeting, Director Hoehne said, "when the bylaw was passed, in the discussion before the vote, the board was told that the increase amounted to six and a half per cent per year. After the meeting, I figured out that the increase actually amounted to over nine per cent. The six and a half per cent figure didn't seem too excessive, but nine per cent does.

"Perhaps, the director added, "under the new figures, there are some directors who would not vote for the increase."

Director Hoehne's motion did not come to a vote. Newly re-elected board chairman Frank West said he would take the matter under advisement and seek legal advice on the matter.

I will seek legal advice and announce my decision at the regular board meeting on January 30. I do not wish to go into any great, long hassle with the board."

Chairman West said he was also looking into the possibility of having the board's remuneration indexed like many other wage increases, that is, tied to the industrial wage increase index or other similar annual or regular increase.

Regional committees set

Sunshine Coast Regional Board members have been given their assignments for the year.

Board chairman Frank West made the committee announcements at the board's first meeting of the year January 9 after four new directors were sworn in to the 1975 board.

Directors Peter Hoemberg of Area B, John McNevin of Area F, Jim Ironside of Area D and Tim Frizzell of Area C were all sworn in at the board's first meeting. Regional district secretary-treasurer Anne Pressley conducted the swearing in ceremony.

When the four took their seats at the board, Chairman West had duties for them, directors Kurt Hoehne, Norm Watson and Don Penson and for himself.

Before naming the committee heads and members, Chairman West said he was limiting the committees this year to three members, down from four last year.

Planning policy is a committee of the whole, so as West was chairman of the board, he thought it would be best if he was also chairman of the planning policy committee.

The planning detail committee is to be headed by Norm Watson with the other two members being drawn from the directors of areas affected by the contents of any given meeting.

Peter Hoemberg was named chairman of the water committee with John McNevin and Norm Watson as members.

Don Penson was named chairman of the building committee with Hoemberg and Jim Ironside as members.

The garbage committee got a face-lifting this year as it and the dump maintenance committee were combined into the waste disposal committee. Tim Frizzell will head that one with Hoehne and Penson as members.

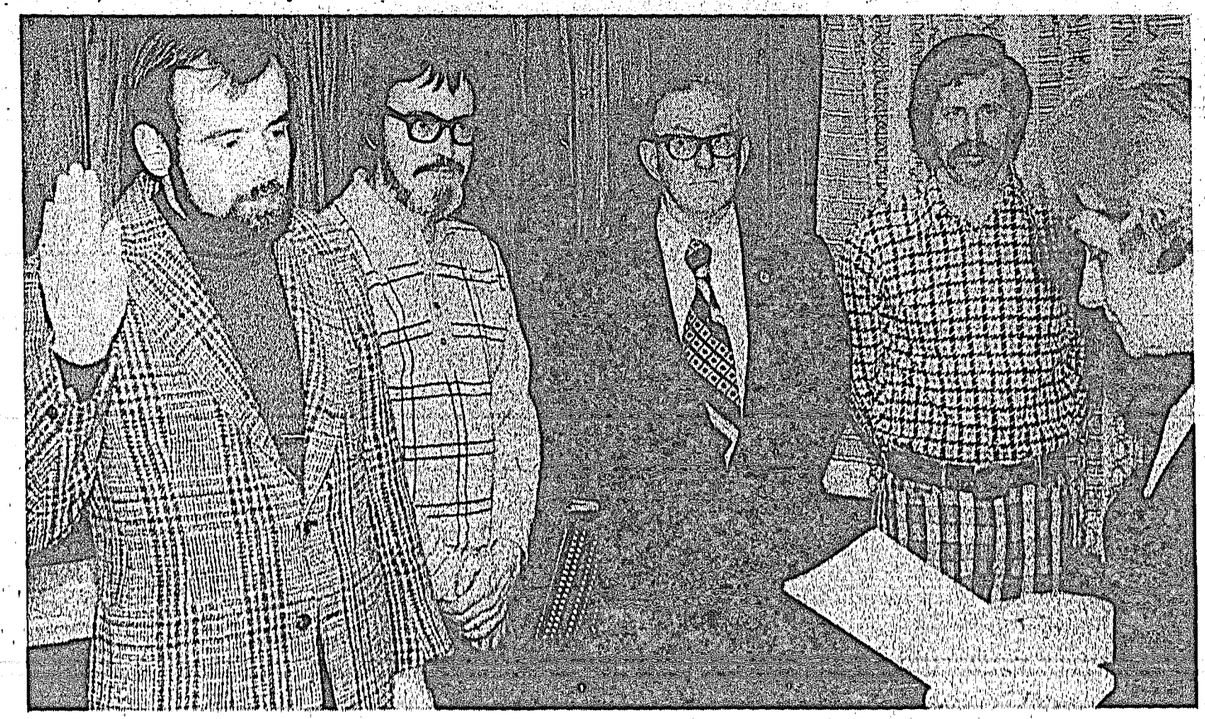
Jim Ironside will head the cemetary committee with Penson and Frizzell as members.

The procedures committee is new and will handle voters lists, elections, office procedure and administration, West explained. It will be headed by John McNevin with Hoemberg and Hoehne as members.

Chairman West took the finance committee himself with Hoehne and McNevin as members.

In addition to the committees there were some liasons to set up. Frizzell was asked to be the board liason with the Coast-Garibaldi Health unit and Human Resources Association.

Ironside is to be the board's representative on the recreation commission. Hoemberg is the board's liason with the airport and West, as Chairman of the finance committee, will keep the board in touch with the municipal financing authority. Watson will be on the library board and Hoemberg will be the liason with Civil Defence.



SWEARING-IN ceremonies preceded the Sunshine Coast Regional District meeting January 9. Here Director Peter Hoemberg, left, is the first to take the oath of office. Other new directors are John McNevin, second left, Jim Ironside and Tim Frizzell. Conducting the ceremony is board secretary treasurer Ann Pressley. Sechelt and Gibsons Village Council and the School board were also sworn-in in ceremonies last week.

The winners were chosen by a committee consisting of Warren McKibben, Lina Grisenthwaite and Harvey Hobbs.

Gravel facility study gets $52,000 grant

The Times has learned the federal government has granted the Sechelt Indian Band $52,000 for a feasibility study for a gravel processing plant on Jervis Inlet.

MP Jack Pearsall informed The Times that the grant of $52,100 will go towards a study to determine the feasibility of the gravel extraction and processing plant on the Tsooahdie Indian Reserve, 30 miles inland from Jervis Inlet.

"The study," Pearsall said, "would consider both the economic and environmental aspects of the project."

He added, "if completed, such a plant would create increased revenue and employment for members of the reserve and other residents of the surrounding community."

Derwyn Owen, economic advisor to the Sechelt Band, told The Times that a meeting was slated Dec. 13 to discuss details of the grant and the feasibility study.

Crash kills local man

A local man was killed Jan. 10 in a traffic accident near Abbotsford.

Keith Jaeger, 20, of Selma Park, died when a car driven by, Sechelt resident Barry West, 19, went out of control on wet slush, left the highway and rolled over, pinning Jaeger inside.

West escaped unhurt, Abbotsford RCMP told The Times.

Jaeger was the son of Matt and Nancy Jaeger of Selma Park. He had one younger brother.

Committees mapped out

SECHELT — Mayor Harold Nelson of Sechelt has laid out duties for himself and his councillors for 1975.

At the board's meeting of the year January 6, the mayor named the standing committee.

The mayor will be heading the finance committee for 1975 and assistant public works chairman.

Alderman Frank Leitner is in charge of recreation and community development and airport management.

Alderman Norm Watson will be the council's liason with the regional board, be in charge of sewers and pollution and also libraries.

Alderman Dennis Shuttleworth will be public works chairman and liason with provincial emergency plan.

Alderman Ernie Booth will be the deputy finance chairman, fire protection chairman and the council's representative on the Coast Garibaldi Health Unit.

Alderman Leitner and Booth were also appointed to the recreation commission.

Comparing budgets 'just not possible'

Comparing the 1974 and 1975 regional board budget would be like comparing apples and oranges according to chairman Frank West.

Chairman West was commenting on press reports on the board's provisional budget for 1975.

"In the present economy," the chairman said, "it is not realistic to compare the estimates of one year with the estimates of the next. Sure, we overspent in some areas; but we put on the tightest control we could. Unfortunately inflation didn't stop at Langdale or at Earls Cove."

He added, "comparing the two is like comparing apples and oranges."

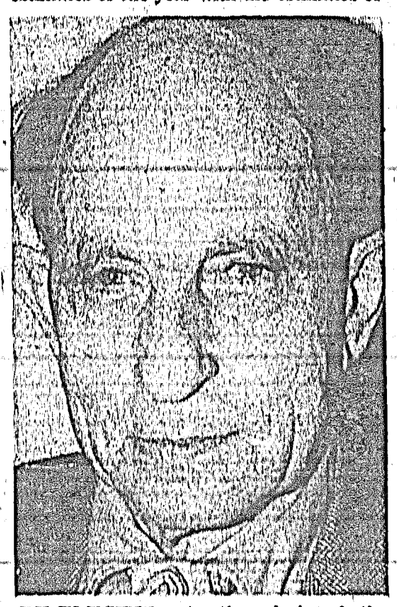
Chairman West who was re-elected to the chairmanship of the board at the meeting December 9, asked, "let's all take a little more realistic approach to the facts of life."

At the opening of the meeting, Chairman West said he was going to dispense with the traditional review of the year's activities.

"We are going to be a forward-looking board," he said, "we have had our successes and our failures but we should go on and not look backward."

Later he told the board, "thank you for your confidence in re-electing me chairman. I will do my best to serve the board and the taxpayers."

"By co-operation and a little give and take, this board will accomplish its aim — to serve the people," West said.



RE-ELECTED to the chair of the Sunshine Coast Regional District is Frank West. West, one of the charter members of the regional board thanked the board for their support in the past and expressed the hope that the board will work together for the benefit of the people in the area.

No last name or address didn't stop post office

Two ladies who work together in Sechelt, Ann and Sylvia, promised each other that they would not exchange Christmas gifts.

Ann kept her promise, but Sylvia broke down and bought Ann a small gift which she gave her in a small envelope with a card. After giving a scolding, Ann accepted the gift.

The envelope with the card and gift, however, got mixed in with Ann's ready-to-be-mailed Christmas cards and was shoved down the mail chute of the Sechelt Post Office with the cards.

When post office workers were sorting the mail, they came upon the envelope, obviously not destined to be mailed because all that was written on the outside of the envelope was "Ann."

They surmised, correctly, that the envelope got mixed up with the cards accidentally; but were stuck with the problem of how to get the gift and card back to the owner.

The post office has a dead letter box, but the people who work in the office decided that wasn't the place for it. They started contacting all the Ann's they could think of. When that failed, they contacted all the Sylvia's they knew. Inside the card was "Love from Sylvia."

That also failed until one employee remembered that a friend of hers had a cousin named Sylvia. She was phoned and her cousin was there at the time. She was the right Sylvia and the envelope, gift and card got back to the right Ann.

It could only happen in Sechelt.

By the way, Ann and Sylvia asked if we could thank the Sechelt Post Office for caring.

Court of revision set for February

Coast highway district eyed

The department of highways is studying the feasibility of creating a separate highways district to cover the Sunshine Coast, The Times has learned.

At present, the Sechelt Highway from Langdale to Earls Cove falls under the jurisdiction of the North Vancouver district.

Bob Winbow, highways district manager in North Vancouver, said proposals to create a separate Sunshine Coast district were "in the talking stages."

As a first step towards giving the area autonomy, Winbow revealed that, already there had been a "shift of administrative responsibility," giving more power to local district technician Tucker Forsyth.

Forsyth can now deal directly with subdivision access applications and other administrative questions, said Winbow.

"The main idea behind this is to cut a lot of time and paperwork," Forsyth told The Times. "Now, we can process permits and deal with subdivision applications without going to North Vancouver."

Mayor seeks public input

GIBSONS — Mayor Larry Labonte stressed the need for feedback from the public Jan. 6 at council's inaugural meeting.

He characterized 1974 as a "good year" for the village, and cited as some of council's achievements during the year improvememts to the village water system, completion of the Elphinstone Pioneer museum building and expansion of the sewer system.

But, he noted, "we did not receive too much feedback. I would like people to come to the village office and give us some constructive criticism to help guide us through our many programs.

During the meeting, re-elected aldermen Kurt Hoehne and Bill Laing were sworn in by local JP John Harvey.

Rev. David Brown gave a brief benediction, urging council and the public to work together during the coming year.

Ald, Kurt Hoehne was appointed acting mayor. He will head council in Labonte's absence.

Committee chairman were appointed as follows:

Ald. Hoehne — finance, wage and water committees; Ald. Bill Laing — public works, sewers, harbour and airport; Ald. Stuart Metcalfe — planning, building zoning, recreation, fire and health; Mayor Labonte — library and museum.

Halfmoon Bay Happenings

Wearing a silk christening gown over 200 years old, Sarah Emily-Jane, daughter of Pat and Sue Beaven, was christened Sunday, January 5, in the Church of His Presence on Redrooffs Road.

Rev. Godkin performed the ceremony and did a wonderful job of making it a very special occasion for everyone. Shirley Price, sister of Sue and Pat's brother, Larry Beaven are Sarah's god-parents. Family and friends came from Langley, Haney and Port Coquitlam. Afterward, everyone proceeded to the Pat Beaven home for a delicious buffet lunch.

Bob and Anne Ellis spent the holidays with Bob's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ellis. Bob and Anne make their home in Kitchener, Ontario where Bob attends Waterloo University.

Elsie Holgate has been in the hospital to undergo surgery. Her daughter and son-in-law, Bernice and Jim Guild from Brandon, Manitoba have been here throughout the Christmas season to visit and lend a helping hand.

Miriam Davie claims there is no place like Mazatlan during the winter months. Miles of beautiful sandy beaches and plenty to do even though the weather wasn't as nice as anticipated for the first week. She visited in the town frequently and found the people very charming and gracious. All in all she had a marvelous time and if the rain and snow here get to be too much, she can look in the mirror and see the tan to remind her of a place that is warm.

Chuck Davie wasn't so fortunate in that he spent his holidays in St. Paul Hospital recovering from his accident. However, he is home now and doing well. Pat is also home now after visiting Hawaii.

A branch Sabbath School of Seventh-Day Adventist Church is being held on Saturdays, 10:30 a.m., at the Redrooffs Anglican Church. Anyone interested in attending is welcome and for further information call 885-9750 or 883-2736.

Bessie Maybee is back from her visit to her brother and wife and family on McLeese Lake, about 35 miles north of Williams Lake. They have bought an old ranch there with a house that is over 100 years old on about 160 acres. They are making it a semi-supporting ranch with a couple of Welsh ponies, some white-face cattle, chickens and so forth. There is sufficient room to roam so it is a wonderful place for children. The past few days were especially enjoyable as the dry powdery snow was perfect for the snowmobiles.

Pearsall explains raise

Voters in the Coast-Chilcotin riding understand the problems faced by their Member of Parliament and have been generally quiet about the bill that would raise salaries and expense accounts of MP's, says MP Jack Pearsall.

"I hear very little flack against the bill locally," Pearsall said, "and those who are against it usually cool down after I've had a chance to explain the bill a little better, and tell them about the problems I face in this riding."

Like many western MP's, Pearsall keeps two homes: shares a room with several other parliamentarians in Ottawa, and maintains his home in Powell River as well. "On a monthly basis, I have about $1,000 a month to maintain these two places of residence, and my family, and that's not very much. In fact I'm going in the hole every month."

His $8,000 expense money, on a monthly basis, works out to about $700. "I'm going to Williams Lake in a few days, and because of poor flight connections, and hotel bills, that's going to cost well over $400, leaving me a little over $200 for the rest of January."

The result is that many legitimate expenses come out of his personal savings or salary, says Pearsall.

"Some people are still very much against the raise, but all I can say is that when the $26,000 for salary and expenses runs out, I'll have no alternative but to stay in Ottawa, which means I simply won't be able to get back to the riding and talk with people here."

JACK PEARSALL
...'sloppy reporting by media'

Pearsall gets 52 'free' plane rides per year between Ottawa and his riding, but only to where the schedule airlines stop. Any flights to areas other than Powell River, Williams Lake, or Bella Coola have to come out of his own pocket, and this has sometimes meant chartering a flight to get to and from the more remote areas of the riding, Pearsall says.

Much of the uproar about the salary wage increase is because the national media did a "sloppy job" of reporting the original version of the billl, Pearsall maintains. The 50 per cent increase was for the period from 1971 to 1978, he says.

"It's more like six per cent per year when you look at it like that."

A revised version of the bill calls for a 33 per cent increase which will take care of the 1971 to 1974 period, with future increases tied to the industrial wage index. This revision should make the increase more palatable and more understandable to the public, Pearsall says.

"Some people say I knew what the pay was when I ran for office, so I shouldn't be asking for a raise now," he adds, "but government shouldn't be just for millionaires. I knew that my predecessor, Harry Olaussen, went in the hole during his term of office, and so when any one asked me during the campaign, I said I would support an increase for MP's. I will defend this for any MP from B.C., which is the most difficult province in this respect."

From the pulpit

—by Pastor Gerry Foster,

Gold is a commodity that has been in the news lately. The price recently soared to almost two hundred dollars an ounce, and I heard someone suggest it could be $2000 an ounce in 10 years. Some feel it is the most valuable item we can possess in these days of inflation, recession and uncertainty.

But despite all this, gold is in the category of perishable things. The Bible mentions gold and indicates it was also considered valuable in Bible times, however, it is termed a corruptible item. And there is one thing that gold cannot do, and that is to redeem a soul from sin. Despite its great buying power, gold, nor anything else, cannot ransom us from our lost, hopeless condition away from God. The apostle Peter puts it this way, "you are not redeemed with perishable or corruptible things such as silver or gold, but with the precious blood of Christ".

The greatest price ever paid for anything was the day Jesus Christ paid for your sins with His blood. Through it He obtained eternal life for you. And it is about time some of us did business with God and asked His forgiveness that we might receive His grace which He freely bestows upon all who receive Him and trust in the finished work of Christ on the Cross.

Booklet details banking for clubs

How to organize and handle the financial affairs of a youth club is clearly and simply detailed in a new booklet published by the Canadian Bankers' Association.

Banking for Your Club is designed to familiarize the young reader with the range of financial services offered by the chartered banks. It tells clearly and simply the types of accounts available, how to invest the club's money, how to set up a simple form of ledger.

"For your club, as indeed for you personally, a banking connection is very important. Choose yours carefully and then find out all the ways it can be helpful to you. You will find the manager and staff anxious to help you and give you useful advice at all times.

"Whatever the puppose of young people's groups, money is always involved — money which belongs to the group as a whole, not to the individuals concerned. So the people who look after the financial affairs of the club want to do so in the best interests of the whole group today and for those who will belong in the future.

"Handling money for a club needn't be a problem. In fact, the treasurer and others concerned can derive real satisfaction from handling the club money effectively and gain experience which will be useful in later life. But like any other group activity, there are a few rules and procedures to follow. Your bank will help make it easy."

Copies of the booklet in English or French are available free, either singly or in reasonable quantity for clubs or groups, from: The Canadian Bankers' Association, P.O. Box 282, Toronto Dominion Centre, Toronto, Ontario M5K 1K2.

Power must remain with board - Hanna

District superintendent of schools Roland Hanna stressed Jan. 9 that final decision-making power in the educational system must rest with the school board.

He told trustees that the "collegial approach" to problem solving, where views on an issue were sought from outside groups and individuals, would only work if everyone was in agreement.

"If there is a disagreement, the final decision will have to rest with the board. I don't see how you can effect responsibility on a committee. Someone has to say what should be done and what should not be done."

He was referring to a number of issues presently before the board in which community and professional groups sought to have a say.

Earlier in the meeting, trustees received a brief from Sechelt Teachers' Association recommending the formation of a committee to aid in the selection of a new district superintendent to replace Hanna on his upcoming retirement.

The teachers felt the committee should include trustees, parents, STA representatives and students.

Terms of reference of this committee, the teachers felt, should include:

— evaluation of leadership needs in the district

— determination of criteria and a list of questions to be put to the candidates for the superintendency

— submission of a recommendation to the board of trustees.

"We believe that acceptance of our recommendations would benefit local education in several ways," said STA president Frank Fuller in the brief. "It would provide the best chance of formulating a list of criteria meeting all local educational needs. Information would be provided (to) trustees on what aspects of our present system do not meet local educational needs and require remedial attention."

He further suggested that the board's acceptance of the committee's recommendations would, "provide a positive step towards establishing co-operative community involvement in local education under the leadership of the trustees."

The STA brief included a number of specific questions which the group proposed should be submitted to candidates for the post of district superintendent.

Trustees noted that a meeting was slated with Jack Fleming, a department of education representative Jan. 16 to discuss the department's views on the method of selection of the new superintendent.

SCHOOL DISTRICT secretary-treasurer Roy Mills, left, administers oath of office to re-elected trustee Peter Prescesky and new member Maureen Clayton during board's inaugural meeting Jan. 9. Prescesky was later elected chairman of the board, taking over from Agnes Labonte.

Impaired suspect goes to court 'intoxicated'

A Sechelt man admitted being drunk in court when he appeared before Judge J.S.P. Johnson Jan. 9 to answer a charge of impaired driving.

Lloyd Emerson had pleaded guilty to the charge when Judge Johnson commented: "I'm only going on my experience, but you look intoxicated."

Emerson admitted: "I am."

His case was adjourned to the afternoon sitting of court, but when accused entered the dock for the second time that day, Judge Johnson said he apparently was still drunk.

Giving the circumstances of the charge against Emerson, crown prosecutor Hugh McCallum said accused had admitted drinking half-a-bottle of vodka at a home in West Sechelt Jan. 7 immediately before he collided head-on with a parked truck.

According to a subsequent breathalyzer test, said McCallum, Emerson's blood-alcohol ratio was .25. The legal maximum is .08.

Judge Johnson fined accused $300 and banned him from driving for one month.

OVER .08

In other court news, Gerald O'Connor was fined $500 and banned from driving for six months when he pleaded guilty to driving with a blood-alcohol ratio over .08. The offense took place near Gibsons Nov. 17.

McCallum said accused was checked by police after they noticed him driving erratically. His blood-alcohol ratio was .21.

O'Connor admitted a previous conviction for driving over .08.

Judge Johnson noted that police had charged O'Connor with impaired driving instead of over .08, he would have been liable for a jail sentence on second conviction.

NO LIGHTS

Bruce Corlett was fined the minimum of $50 and suspended from driving for six months for driving over .08. He admitted the offense.

McCallum said Corlett was stopped by police near Gibsons Dec. 14 when they noticed his head and tail lights were inoperative.

ROAD BLOCK

Judge Johnson handed down a $50 fine and a six month driving suspension to Robert Lovick, 21, after accused pleaded guilty to driving with a blood-alcohol ratio over .08.

Lovick was stopped at a Gibsons RCMP roadblock Dec. 15, court was told.

MARIJUANA

Allan Colleypriest was fined $250 for possession of marijuana. He admitted the offense.

McCallum said accused was searched by police in Gibsons Dec. 20 after they took him into custody on another matter.

A charge of impaired driving against Colleypriest was remanded to a later date.

IMPAIRED

Alexander Bowden netted a fine of $300 for driving near Madeira Park while impaired Dec. 13. He pleaded guilty.

Court was told that a motorist reported to police that the had seen someone driving erratically. RCMP investigated and found Bowden's vehicle had gone off the road and was stopped "in the woods."

David Christian, 19, pleaded guilty to driving with a blood-alcohol ratio over .08. McCallum said accused was checked at a police roadblock near Madeira Park Dec. 21.

Christian was fined $400 and suspended from driving for one month.

Residents up in arms over 'dog freeway'

GIBSONS — A Marine Drive resident has lodged an "official complaint" with council about the stray dog problem in her area.

Emma Butcher said she was renting a house without a protective fence and, "I'm sure that every large dog in the whole of Gibsons uses our yard as a freeway, both to travel to and fro and as its own particular toilet area."

She claimed that a large dog owned by her neighbour, "is in the process of digging, scratching and pawing our very beautiful lawn."

Mrs. Butcher said if something was not done about the problem, 'someone' would be held liable for seeing a new lawn at her home.

"It seems to me there is very little dog control in Gibsons," she said.

Mayor Larry Labonte told council's Jan. 7 meeting that the village was working towards solving the dog problem and "something will happen in the next few months."

Ald. Bill Laing said Mrs. Butcher would be within her rights to take legal action against the owners of the dog that was tearing up her lawn.

He suggested local residents who were troubled by the dog problem should consult the RCMP and find out what their legal rights were.

In other news, aldermen referred to the village works foreman a request from Gibsons Kinsmen Club to connect its clubhouse and outdoor washrooms to the village water system.

At present, the club's kitchen and washrooms are fed from a spring near the clubhouse, said Kinsmen secretary Rick Wray in a letter.

"We find that the water pressure is not adequate and also that the location and condition of this spring may not be sanitary as required."

He said his club wanted to connect to the village water system at the lowest possible cost. "Also, we would like to make our washrooms as public as possible, and we would require village water to do this."

Village works foreman Fred Holland will be asked to investigate the feasibility of hooking up the clubhouse.

Vancouver city archivist R. Lynn Ogden has come to the aid of Elphinstone Pioneer Museum Society in its bid to preserve some of the more valuable exhibits in the museum.

In a letter, she said she had learned that the society was concerned about preservation and suggested that members should contact the head of the Pacific Regional Laboratory of the Canadian Conservation Institute.

Double ring ceremony unites young couple

A double ring ceremony on December 14 united Patricia Anne Hogue and Harold Norman Pratt.

Patricia is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hogue of Gibsons; Harold is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pratt of Sechelt.

The couple was united at St. Bartholmews Anglican Church with the Reverend D. Brown officiating.

The bride wore a floor length satin trained gown with a lace bodice and long belled sleeves. She carried a bridal bouquet of red roses and white carnations with gold dusted babies breath.

Miss Donna Mandelkau was the maid of honour with Miss Marilynne Musgrove and Miss Cathy Currie in attendance. They wore long mint green gowns with matching short sleeved jackets and carried white carnations with baby red roses and gold dusted baby's breath.

Bob Lee was the best man with Bill Glassford and Greg Hogue, brother of the bride, serving as the ushers.

At the reception which followed the ceremony, the toast to the bride was proposed by Orme Payne Uncle to the bride. Ken Stewart was the master of ceremonies.

The bride's table was centered with a three tiered cake, silver candlestick holders and monogrammed silver goblets. The decorations were in the Chistmas theme.

Patricia chose a fortrel, long sleeved pale pink shirt dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of baby pink roses.

The couple chose Vancouver Island for their wedding trip, and plan to make Gibsons their home together.

Out of town guests attended the wedding from Port Moody, New Westminster, Coquitlam, Burnaby, Port Alberni, Squamish and Toronto.

Pythians sponsor poster competition

Knights of Pythias Lodge are sponsoring a highway safety poster contest.

The contest is for secondary school students and features cash awards at the local level and chances for the poster to advance to provincial finals.

The contest is being conducted in local schools by the Knights of Pythias as part of the fraternal order's Highway Courtesy and Safety Poster Contest. Prizes will be awarded for the best posters submitted from the local schools.

The purpose of the contest is to promote highway safety 'thinking' by students who have recently become drivers and those who will soon become automobile drivers in British Columbia reflecting the causes and means by which accidents can be prevented. Other contests are being held throughout Canada and the United States, a spokesman said.

The Knights of Pythias, in promoting the contest, said it is hopeful of making citizens more conscious of those things which contribute to a pleasant experience while driving in our streets and highways as well as those things which contribute to tragic results.

The poster message must reflect the causes and prevention of highway accidents. Rules and regulations for the contest have been supplied to the principals and art teachers at the schools.

The local Knights of Pythias Lodge will award prizes of $20 for the winning poster, $15 for the second and $10 for the third and the first place poster will advance for further judging in the provincial contest.

The posters will be judged by qualified persons, who are required to determine the winners based upon the consideration of message, originality, effective display of message and neatness of the poster.

The local judge representative is C.E. Scales of Davis Bay.

Magician to visit

There's magic in the air. New Westminster magician Anthony Taylor is scheduled to give a display of mystery and dexterity at St. Hilda's Anglican Church Hall Jan 24.

The performance gets underway at 8 p.m. and there is a $1 admission charge.

There will be a special performance for children at 2 p.m. January 25 in St. Hilda's Hall. Charge for that show will be 50 cents. Adults will be admitted only if accompanied by a child.

Arrangements for the shows were made by Dave Haywood of the Senior Citizens Association.

The way a car is driven is a significant factor in the durability of its shock absorbers, according to the B.C. Automobile Association.

BY ROBERT FOXALL

With only a bare quorum present at the first executive meeting of the New Year it was not possible to do too much work on setting up new committees.

This will be done as soon as those who were stricken with colds, or whatever is going around, are back in circulation. One report is worthy of special mention. Dave Haywood advised that he had made arrangements for a social afternoon at the Elementary School, Sechelt, at 2 p.m. January 26.

There will be a film showing arranged by our new member Bill Wilson, lately of Oshawa, Ontario, and in three reels will show various facets of the operation of the Canadian National Railway including operational scenes from the days of the steam engines, and a great many shots of the magnificence of Canada from coast to coast. After the showing there will be the tea hour with its opportunity of visiting with old friends.

Members are reminded that the monthly meeting will be held January 16 at the Old Legion Hall commencing at 1:30 p.m. Dancing on Wednesdays and carpet bowling on Mondays as usual.

Because of poor health

Winston Robinson quits seat on council

GIBSONS — Ald. Winston Robinson has resigned his seat on village council because of poor health.

He told council in a letter that his health must come first and that the village should be allowed to have a "complete, active member."

Robinson has served on council for three years. He was acting mayor during his term on council.

Mayor Labonte said: "It is with great regret that I have to accept (Robinson's resignation), but the health of the alderman has not been good in the past year.

"He has done a fine job, always working very hard."

Labonte thanked Robinson for his efforts during his term on council.

In his letter of resignation, Robinson said he would be, "most pleased at any time, to be called upon if I can be of usefulness to the village in any way."

"I have enjoyed working with this council and previous councils and it saddens me to have to give up something which I have found both satisfying and rewarding."

Robinson said he had been impressed with the way five members of council could work together so efficiently as a team, "and were able to accomplish many things which, we hope, will create a better Gibsons and help to make its citizens proud of their village."

Robinson is presently in Vancouver General Hospital, where he underwent a kidney transplant before Christmas.

A by-election will be held in February to find a replacement for the alderman.

Nomination day will be Feb. 3, council agreed. Nominations should be filed on that day at Gibsons municipal hall on South Fletcher Road.

Returning officer will be municipal clerk Jack Copland.

Building setback rules announced

Graham Lea, minister of highways, has announced new building setback regulations for property adjoining provincial arterial highways in municipalities and for property adjoining all highways and roads in unorganized territory.

Lea said, "The old regulation had a blanket requirement that no building was allowed within 25 feet of the highway right-of-way boundary. This is now reduced to 15 feet except in those cases where a lane or alley provides secondary access to the property, in which case the setback is 10 feet. This will give a property owner greater flexibility in locating buildings on his property."

The minister said that these are regulations under the Highway Act and operate in conjunction with municipal and regional district bylaws.

A new clause also controls the height of hedges, fences, or other objects on the corners of lots at an intersection.

No apartments at Gibsons supermarket

GIBSONS — Village council has turned down an application from Bill Edney to construct four apartment units at Ken's Lucky Dollar store.

Aldermen rejected the proposal Jan. 7 on the advice of Rob Buchan, the village planner, who noted that construction of apartments on the site would contravene the village zoning bylaw.

"The parking lot of a supermarket is not an environment conducive to family living," he said in a report.

Council earlier granted approval in principle to major proposals for expansion at the store.

The apartment development was later suggested by Edney as an addition to his store expansion project.

In recommending rejection of the application, Buchan said there was insufficient parking available at the site to justify the apartment project.

"This is a design problem, very simply inflicted by over-development of the site; no community benefit by way of extra parking is provided as any justification for council overlooking this infraction, and, indeed, recent focus of attention on bylaw enforcement would not encourage flexibility," he said.

Aldermen noted that they had amended their zoning bylaw once already, to allow Edney to proceed with his store expansion.

"Further amendments to do likewise would only undermine the enforceability of the bylaw, and the credibility of council with respect to other applications," Buchan felt.

In Sechelt . . .

Muriel Vinblad named Credit Union manager

SECHELT — Muriel Vinblad of West Sechelt has been appointed manager of the Sunshine Coast Credit Union in Sechelt.

She takes over from Howard Pratt who is retiring following a recent illness.

Born in Peterborough, Ontario, Mrs. Vinblad has spent the past 10 years managing Credit Unions. She moved to B.C. in 1972 and took up a nursing career in a hospital operated by the United Church of Canada in the Queen Charlotte Islands.

During her final four years residence in that area, she managed the Skidgate Inlet Credit Union.

Mrs. Vinblad then moved to Vancouver and managed the Nepro Credit Union for four years. In 1972, she moved to West Sechelt and commuted daily to Pender Harbour where she managed that credit union.

Mrs. Vinblad has a "dedicated interest" in the philosophy behind the credit union movement and lists as her hobbies gardening, gourmet cooking and fishing.

The new manager of the Sunshine Coast Credit Union was widowed in 1972 and has one married daughter.

Pension payment increases okayed

Increases in the Old Age Security Pension, Guaranteed Income Supplement payments and Canada Pension Plan, effective in January 1975, have been announced by Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde.

Increases in Old Age Security Pension and Guaranteed Income Supplement payments represent the fifth quarterly escalation based on the cost of living, as provided for in the Old Age Security Act.

The new monthly total at the single rate for persons receiving both the basic Old Age Security pension and maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement will be $204.27.

For a married couple who are both pensioners, the combination of the basic pension and maximum supplement will provide a payment of $389.70 for the couple monthly.

The basic Old Age Security pension will rise in January to $120.06 from the present $117.02.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a single person, or a married person whose spouse is not a pensioner, will go up in January to $84.21 from its current $82.08. The maximum supplement for a married couple, both pensioners, will increase to $74.70 each from $72.89. Added to the basic pension, this will give each married pensioner $194.85 monthly, or a total of $389.70 for the couple.

Some 600,000 pensioners and beneficiaries under the Canada Pension Plan will receive increases in their pension of 10.4 per cent.

New Years Eve dance big success at arena

BY HELEN PHILLIPS

GREAT SUCCESS

The arena held its first New Years Eve dance, which was a great success. A wonderful dinner catered to by the Parthenon and good music by Russ Clarke and his band.

SKATING SCHEDULE

Saturday and Sunday the afternoon session of public skating is at 2:15 p.m. and Fri., Sat. and Sunday nights are still 7:15. Don't forget Sat. is adults only and it is rather fun to get out with a group and skate for awhile, then go up to the bar and watch the men's hockey games, and practices.

MENS HOCKEY

Regularly scheduled games start next weekend with the men's commercial hockey teams. They will be held every Sun. at 4:45 p.m. and 9:45 p.m.

Schedule for Jan. 19 is Gibsons versus Roberts Creek at 4:45 and Wakefield against Pender Harbour at 9:45 p.m.

We watched a game last week, Wakefield beating Robert's Creek, and find it is pretty good caliber hockey. Come on out and watch the men play. It's better than hockey on t.v. even though there are no instant replays.

Of course the best hockey is played up in the bar, because anyone who isn't on the ice figures he can play better hockey than the guys on the ice. But it is most entertaining, whether you are watching the game or listening to the comments.

CURLING DRAWS

Last week saw the start of the curling draws, with wins and losses now being kept track of. The ladies are in need of spares for their curling Thur. afternoon, so if you would like to spare, please sign up on the sheet at the rink or call Dorothy MacDonald at 885-9898.

MINOR HOCKEY

Everything seems to be officially under way with the new year and this includes the minor hockey teams. The kids have improved tremendously and it is enjoyable to watch their games. They are all sporting hockey sweaters donated by their respective sponsors.

Below is the results of the Sat. and Sun. games played on Jan. 11 and 12.

In PeeWee action —

SATURDAY

Trail Bay Sports tied Kinsmen Kinucks 5-5; Legion 109 won 3-1 against Standard Oilers; T. and T. Trucking beat Gibsons B.E.s 4-1.

Bantam action —

Tyee Flyers tied Family Mart Aces 3-3.

SUNDAY

Pee Wee

Pender Harbour 5 Weldwood Clippers 1.

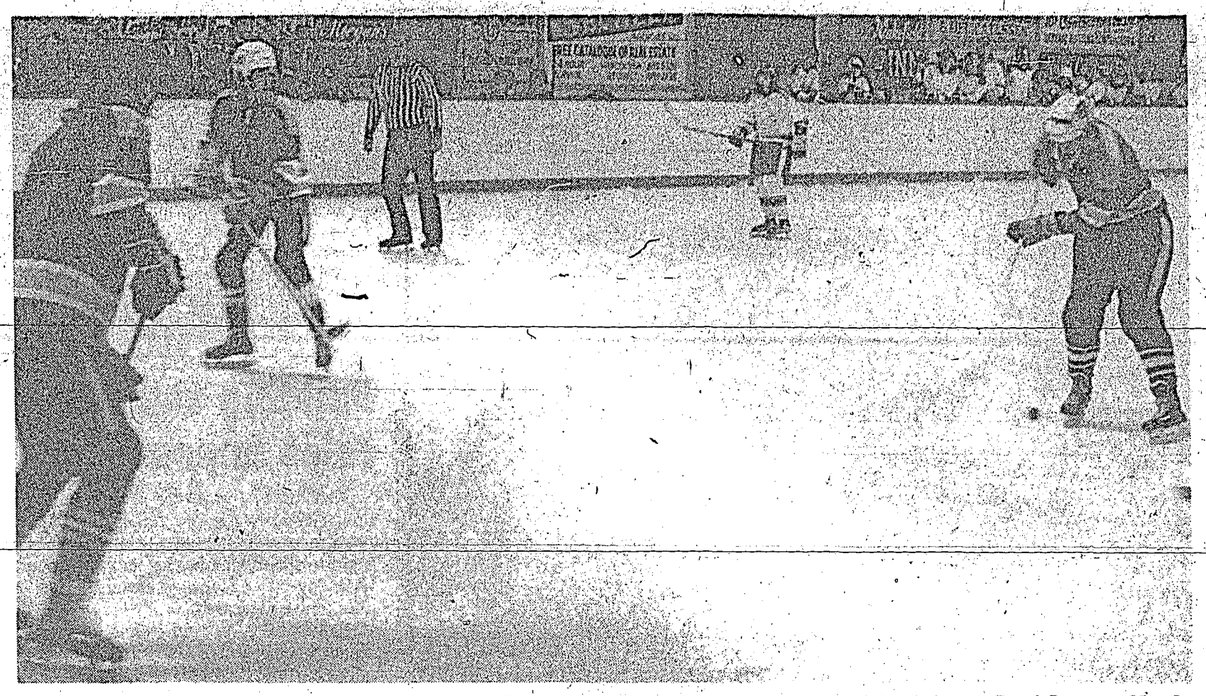
Pender Harbour 2 Seaside Plumbing 1.

Juvenile

Elson glass 2 Pender Harbour 1; Coast Paving 7 Uncle Micks Whitecaps 4.



MINOR HOCKEY got underway last Saturday at the Sunshine Coast Arena after weeks of practices. Here two juvenile teams go at it. The schedule for next week's games is carried in this week's Times. January 18 to 25 is Minor Hockey Week in Canada and the local teams will be capping that with a special ('Sponsors Day' January 25). On that day they will pay tribute to their sponsors, the people who allow them to play by paying the bills. —Timesphoto

Minor hockey week starts on Saturday

Minor Hockey Week in Canada is January 18 to 25.

The Sechelt Minor Hockey Association will celebrate their very first Minor Hockey week beginning this Saturday through 'til the following Saturday, Jan. 25, which will be proclaimed as sponsor day by the local association.

Certainly after the first week end of organized hockey games on the Peninsula the boys, and even the girls have a great deal to be thankful for. This includes that all the games are being very capably refereed, along with 25 businesses who have come forth to sponsor the teams for goal equipment and team uniforms from Pender Harbour to Port Mellon.

Following is a list of the divisions and the sponsors and their names in each division:

House League: Pender Harbour Community, Mercuryland (Chain Saw) Sabres, J&C Sonics, Super Valu "23's".

Bantams: Pender Harbour Community, Tyee Flyers, Family Mart Aces, D&O Logging, Seaside Plumbing.

Girls: Team 1 — unsponsored, Team 2 — unsponsored.

Peewees: Pender Harbour Lions, Suncoast Suns, Standard Oilers, Trail Bay Sports, T&T Trucking, Weldwood Clippers, B&E Electric B.E.'s Legion 109's, Kinsman Kinucks.

Juveniles: Pender Harbour Community, Uncle Mick's, Coast Paving, Elson Glass, Canfor Canadiens.

The theme of Minor Hockey is one which we hope you will abide by — "Don't send your kids to the arena . . . take them."

The hockey games start at 8:00 in the mornings on both Saturday and Sunday so go watch some real enjoyable hockey this week and next weekend.

Gibsons Winter Club . . .

Club needs finances and volunteer labor

The holiday season is over and we are back on the job.

Lots has happened over the holidays, so I will try to fill you in. Prior to the holiday season, considerable progress was made on the building. Ninety-five per cent of the foundation cement has been poured. The laying of brick should commence within the next week or two.

All is not perfect in our Winter wonderland, however. Financing is still the biggest problem. With the progress being made on the building comes the need to pay the bills — materials and labour — so, those of you who have pledged, but not yet paid — we could use your money. To those who are still thinking of joining us, we could use your committments.

Volunteer help is also needed; so, any time you have a spare hour during the week, drop around to the job site to see how you can help out. Work parties are also to be arranged. Paul Gauci is in charge of that committee; so, if you wish to volunteer your time, phone him at 886-7383. I am sure he will be glad to hear of your willingness to help.

Up until now we have not mentioned how we expected to finance the building, because we were expecting government grants from several quarters. One of those grants has definitley been turned down, and we have been told not to count on one other. We will, however, continue to pursue any other grants or donations that may become available. Presently, we expect the cost of the building, with clear span and concrete floor included, to be $150,000, net of donated labour and materials. Two big expenses included in that price are $41,200 for a 50-horsepower refrigeration plant, and $24,000 for a concrete floor.

We have funds arranged from three sources: a recreation grant from Victoria of $50,000, debenture sales of $30,000, a bank loan for $30,000, and income from clearing the property of $5,000; a total of $115,000. That leaves us $35,000 short of our goal. As you can see, the concrete floor may have to go if further local or government support is not forthcoming. This effectively eliminated the multi-purpose use of the building. Since the floor goes in last, we will leave such an unhappy decision until the final minutes, and hope that the funds will turn up from somewhere.

On March 1, the Modified Grid System of claim staking will take effect in British Columbia. This is a far superior method of locating and identifying mineral claims. It should lead to increased discoveries and developments, while virtually eliminating conflicting claims.

TIME OUT

Before this can happen, records must be revised and maps must be prepared, using the Modified Grid System. And care must be taken that the new system and the present system are not confused. So, there will be a moratorium between January 15 and February 28 on claim staking in British Columbia. Remember, no claim staking during this six-week period.

POWER SQUADRON instructor Gordon Hall, stanking, talks over an aspect of chart reading with some of his students. In eight years of instructing, Hall has put nearly 250 such students through the comprehensive Power Squadron course. It is a course in the basic principles of safe boating including laws, rules of the road, navigation and charts as well as other aspects of power and sail boats. boats.

Power Squadron teaches basics

Once a year, Sunshine Coast residents are offered a unique learning experience.

Every fall the Sunshine Coast Power Squadron offers their basic boating course which runs for about six months on a one-night-a-week basis. One is presently underway.

"The course runs from October to March," said instructor Gordon Hall, "the actual number of weeks varies with each class. Some need more, others not as much. If they need the extra time, we give it to them."

Power Squadron is a national organization dedicated to educating the boating population. It arrived on the West Coast about 1956 and here a few years later.

"Boating really isn't the rich man's game it once was," Hall said, "and there is a great demand for education about boats and boating. We teach the basic principles of safe boating. We are an educational organization; nothing more. We're not a yacht club or a group which tries to push legislation."

Hall was the founding commander of the Power Squadron locally ten years ago and has been its instructor locally for eight years.

In that time he has taught nearly 250 students the fundamentals of safe boating.

"There is about 25 to 30 students in each class," Hall said, "and they learn basic boating, government rules and regulations, rules of the road, fundamental navigation, tides and currents, chart work and safety. There is some practical involved."

He added, "The students take lots of cruises; but they are all on paper."

At the end of the course, the students take a substantial exam lasting two and three hours.

"When they pass the course," he said, "they have a good grasp of the fundamentals of how to operate their vessel."

At graduation, the students have the option of joining the Power Squadron. If they choose to, they become elegible for advanced and specialty courses.

These include seamanship — power and sail, advanced piloting which is coastal and two levels of courses in celestial navigation which are world-wide. There are also supplementary courses in engine maintenance, electronics, and weather.

Despite the name 'Power Squadron,' Hall notes, "that's really a misconception. The basic course is also for sailors. They learn the basics of seamanship and sail fundamentals."

The next power Squadron basic course is planned for the fall. "When we start a new course," Hall said, "we place advertisements, so people know well in advance."

Continuing education plagued by weather

KARIN HOEMBERG, 886-2225

The Spring Semester got off to a slow start last week because of the bad weather. Some classes were cancelled and I am sorry for those who went in vain. Most classes therefore start this week.

YOGA classes on Tuesday mornings (10-12 a.m.) have moved to Wilson Creek Community Hall, and Barbara Laakso is willing to take a few more students.

ACROBATICS goes on every Monday 5:30 - 6:30 p.m. and BALLET for children and adults and MODERN DANCE is on Tuesdays in Sechelt Elementary School. Call Joanne Glampa, 885-9014 for further information.

BALLROOM DANCING starts tonight at 8 p.m. in Portable 1, Elphinstone Secondary School. Singles are also welcome.

ENGLISH grade 12 is expected to start in the beginning of February, provided the class gets a few more students.

DOG CARE, a new course will start in Gibsons January 30.

PRE-SCHOOL SUPERVISOR course will start around February 1st. It is a two-credit course named 'Principles and Practices within early Childhood Development Centres', 52 hours and the fee will be approximately $40-$45. Students who would like to participate but are unable to pay the fee please contact the co-ordinator.

On Thursday, February 6, 9.30-11.30 Helen Roy starts a series of seminars called Parent Survival. The first of 10 sessions (20 hours) is designed for mothers with pre school children (2-4). Price $10. The meetings will take place at the Community Health Unit in Gibsons; babysitting and coffee will be provided at a modest fee.

The meeting on SABOT, Production and Pleasure, was cancelled Tuesday, January 7 because of the weather. A new meeting will be scheduled in the near future.

The second meeting on Learning Disabilities takes place January 17, Friday 8 p.m. in Sechelt Elementary School. Dr. F. Sigurdson will discuss the importance of early recognition of possible symptoms, ways of dealing with them, and how parents can utilize the resources provided by society.

SCOTTISH COUNTRY DANCING takes place every Thursday 7-9 p.m. at Sechelt Elementary School, Trail Bay Building. The instructor Ronnie Dunn has written about it today:

"Have you ever had the pleasure of joining in a Scottish Country Dance? If not, then indeed it is time that you experienced this lively social type of dancing. The origin of much of our Canadian square dancing with similar terms allemande and promenade, Scottish technique and presentation is French in character and goes back to the days of the "Auld Alliance" and times when the mercenary armies of France were largely Scottish.

Scottish Country Dancing should never be called Folk Dancing as it belongs to all grades of society. This is greatly due to the social pattern of Scotland where the clan system ruled and as the chief did, so did all his followers and family. Each chief had his piper and when the pipes were banned after the '45' they were replaced by fiddlers. Like the pipers these men not only composed music but also the dances with names to commemorate great events in national or clan history. Hence the Jacobite names of so many dances, 'White Cockade', Eight Men of Moidart', etc. It is not necessary to be adept to enjoy this type of dancing. The chief object is social.

Won't you join the dance?

ICBC to open 5 more offices

Autoplan renewal applications are being mailed out by ICBC over the next 10 days. Deadline for securing 1975 Autoplan insurance and licence plate decals is February 28.

The Insurance Corporation of British Columbia has opened four sales offices and plans to open five more later this month, to provide Autoplan services that have been offered in the past by the B.C. Automobile Association.

The BCAA announced some months ago that it would not handle Autoplan insurance after the end of 1974, and ICBC president Robert Strachan announced then that ICBC would open sales offices in the nine cities where the BCAA previously provided Autoplan service.

An ICBC sales office in New Westminster, directly across 6th Street from the BCAA office, is scheduled to open about January 10, and an ICBC office in Nelson is scheduled to open on Baker Street about January 15.

Opening later this month will be ICBC sales offices in Kamloops, Prince George and Chilliwack.

"A free press is the unsleeping guardian of every other right that free men prize." — Winston Churchill

Don Morberg, Managing Editor

The real test . . .

The real test — the only test, some would say — of a democracy is the manner in which the majority treats the minority. In Canada, a minority much-abused through most of the nation's history is organizing, demanding its rights. Canada's Indians, forming no more than two percent of the total population, are asking for settlement of long-standing claims — on land, treaty provisions and other matters.

Slowly, the other 98 percent of us are waking up to the fact that we skinned the original inhabitants of this country, treated them very shabbily indeed, in fact, fostered an attitude of "benign neglect" and hoped they would gradually disappear. Slowly, very slowly, this attitude has changed.

Two recent speeches by L. I. Barber, who was appointed Indian claims commissioner five years ago by the federal government to negotiate with Canada's native people, are of interest as evidence of this new attitude.

Indians are saying to Canadians, in Barber's words, "that this was originally their country, that we have either never made a satisfactory deal with them or we have not lived up to the spirit of the deals we did make . . . We must accept that we have some unfinished business."

Barber also warns of dangers in deferring the question. If we don't face up to it, Indians will be forced into raising the ante by taking extreme actions.

"I think the degree of militancy and extremist measures around the world should tell us that if we don't take the legitimate concerns of native people seriously, we should not be surprised if extremism, which we smugly feel is the problem of the Irish or the Americans, becomes our problem in a real and direct way."

Settlement of centuries-old grievances with native peoples is an emergency priority, says Barber. "In my view, the settlements we make with native people must have number one priority in this country. In a sense, everything that happens in this country is based on the land which they originally owned."

He feels Canada should seize the unique opportunity presented here and show Indians — and the rest of the world — "that we can deal with a difficult internal problem in an enlightened way and to show that people can resolve their differences, complicated and historic though they may be, and live harmoniously through democratic processes."

What they want . . .

Gibsons Mayor Larry Labonte has asked for feedback on the proposal for the village of Gibsons to extend its boundaries to include Port Mellon, Granthams, Hopkins, Langdale and Soames Point.

Again at the first Gibsons council meeting of the year, he asked for feedback again. The second time it was in the general sense concerning all village government matters.

Sad as it is to recognize, feedback to the village council is not a trait of the residents of Gibsons or just about any other village. People seem content to go their way and let the council go theirs. When they do happen to cross, you'll hear the people complaining, usually. That's not what we call feedback.

Gibsons is at an important and delicate situation right now. They're about to take a very big bite. Then, once they have bitten; have to chew it.

Mayor Labonte is right in asking for feedback now and we commend him for this.

Also we are assuming that unless he gets a strong negative reaction from the residents of the outlying areas, he will proceed with expansion plans.

The residents affected are the only ones who can help Mayor Labonte and the Gibsons council make the right decision either to go ahead with or forget the expansion.

Think about it very hard Port Mellon, Langdale, Granthams, Hopkins and Soames Point residents, because what you do or don't do now is what you will have to live with for a long time.

Men in the middle . . .

Anyone with a twinge of community conscience cringes when he hears the phrase, "I don't want to get involved."

In the Sunshine Coast Ice Arena situation, there is a unique situation. You have Nimpkish construction who built the arena, the village of Sechelt who own it and the recreation association who are paying for it.

Last week the construction company approached the village council, as owners, and asked if something could be worked out regarding their being paid for contract extras. The council also heard the recreation association's views. The council, wisely, took the matter under advisement and thanked the parties. They then adjourned to make their decision at a later date.

It would seem to us that council, although they own the building, really don't need to get involved at this stage. The idea to turn the matter over to the construction company and the association and let them hammer it out has real merit.

If the two parties can solve it that way — great.

If they can't, let council then step in and mediate or dictate the answer. Also then council could act as an appeal board if one of the parties does not like the answer they worked out.

Women in history

In the 1920's a group of Canadian women asked the logical question why had there never been a woman appointed to the senate.

The answer they got was all but satisfactory. The government's reply was that it seemed impossible because the BNA specifically stated that only "persons" may be appointed.

The ladies, lead by Mrs. Cairine Wilson, promptly took the matter to court where they were defeated, but later the privy council decided that "persons" covers both sexes and therefore women were people.

In 1930 Mrs. Cairine Wilson became Canada's first woman senator.

Regional mathematics not up to scratch

Editor, The Times:

Sir — I'm sorry if I grate on some people's ears, but I would like to see some truths.

The Sunshine Coast Regional Board by Mr. West's words (quoted in the press) has been in effect for nine years. My memory makes it seven years, 1967.

It has been stated that this 100 per cent raise from $25 to $50 and for the chairman from $25 in 1967 to $100 (400 per cent) is at the rate of six and a half per cent.

For those who are (and should) to do some figuring on these issues will find that six and a half per cent raises the $25 to $41.57. To receive the $50, it has to be about eight and a half per cent. Check it ($51.72).

All right, so I'm quibbling about a two per cent difference. I think I have the right when my Old Age Pension for December 1974 is $2.78 less than it was in December 1973.

Some time ago I wrote a letter stating I had figured out the total payments to the directors to be $21,000 for a year. That seemed to have momentarily deterred them. Now the press has come out with the same figure.

A Vegetable Disgrace

Editor: The Times:

Sir — By freight truck the peninsula is only two or three hours from Vancouver, yet when I buy vegetables I could swear that it is more like two or three months.

I have shopped in every supermarket between Sechelt and Gibsons, but everywhere I go it is the same. Carrots that could pass for gum rubber, tomatoes that are awful on the outside and rotten on the inside, and I have yet to come across any potatoes here that haven't got dry rot. Yes, and we musn't forget the lettuce which is already slightly rusted at the best of times. And for sake of my blood pressure, I'm not even going to mention the prices.

The vegetable situation here is deplorable and the merchants should be ashamed to put this type of produce on the shelves.

I would also like to mention that I have caught a couple of stores refreezing meat. To them I would like to offer this word of caution. Since obviously you have no pride in what you put on the shelves, be at least warned of the dangers of some of your actions.

Thank you from CARS

Editor, The Times:

Sir — May I express the sincere thanks from all of us at CARS to you and your staff for the opportunity to tell our story through your valuable news columns.

May I also, through your pages, say a thank you to our many supporters in B.C., who learn of our work through your pages, and who are making it possible for us to extend our services and to bring about better treatment facilities for patients with arthritis.

This year our campaign for funds has been the most successful ever. Our travelling consultation services, which provide for a CARS rheumatologist to visit key areas of B.C., our occupational therapy and physiotherapy services, are all expanding, as British Columbians become more aware of our specialized facilities for treating the arthritis patient.

The media has played a major role in making this all happen.

Hello there, dear friends and gentle people and of course all square dancers wherever you are. This is to inform you that the New Year square dance was just another great success and our hopes are to go on to a bigger and better square dance club during this half of the 74-75 square dance season, so you-all come now and have some real fun.

The picture of square dancers in action in The Pen Times Jan. 8th taken by The Times photoman Alastair Rogers is a great action shot of a promenade for home and in that picture you will find Jack and Shirley Richardson, Sid and Loraine Conroy, Harry Jenkins and Bev Brendon, Gwen Hicks and the other square dancer in the set is either Tom Parish or Lorne Lovell, your guess is as good as mine, anyway, The Country Stars thank Al Rogers for taking time out to take pictures of our square dancers in action.

Our next square dance being on Jan. 10, I guess I will tell you all about it in next weeks Peninsula Times, so be sure to pick one up.

I still believe in Santa Claus because I got a new typewriter from him; but do you know, it don't spell a derned bitt better than the old one. However, I am now open to offers on the old typewriter, as is where is, all-metal case, ready to go. Just think, owning a fantastic machine that had typed the column, Squaringly Yours, for the past ten years, give or take a day or year. Wups, must get along, so see you at the square dance.

Construction company asks for more money

The builders of the Sunshine Coast Ice Arena have approached the owners for more money.

Nimpkish Construction Company made a presentation to the Sechelt Village Council, owners of the arena, last week asking that they be paid for the provision of extra fire doors and a fire escape which were not called for in the original contract, but were ordered by the fire marshall.

Art McGuiness of Nimpkish Construction made the plea on, "compassionate grounds." Payment had previously been denied.

McGuiness outlined the "cost-saving" procedures Nimpkish had used to the benefit of the owner. These included a rush on construction to get the building completed before the May 31 Winter Works deadline. Only half of the labor paid after that date was recoverable under the plan.

After the contract was signed, the council was told, the fire marshall ordered extra doors and the fire escape installed. As the contract called for "all doors" the company carried the cost of installing the other doors.

In summing up, McGuiness asked the council to consider paying all or part of $18,000 in overrun labor costs and the fire doors and escape at $6,589.

While the Sechelt Village council are the owners of the building, the people who are charged with paying for the structure are the Sunshine Coast Recreation Association.

Gordon Dixon of the association addressed the board and told of the association's reluctance to pay out any more than necessary. "I want the board to realize that the money is coming from volunteers who are doing volunteer work. They way things are going now we are just going to break even."

The village council took the matter under advisement and another meeting would be called as required.

53 minutes

By Don Morberg

I WOULD like to quell a rumor that's been wandering around here for a little while now.

There is absolutely no truth to the rumor that when the metric system becomes law, there will be ten seconds in a minute, ten minutes in an hour and ten hours in a day.

To be honest, I'm looking forward to the metric system.

Take this situation.

You have bolt 'A' with nut 'B' attached. You pick up wrench 'C' and find out that it is just a smidgen too small. You look at the wrench. It is a 13-32 inch wrench. What is the next size up?

Fourteen-thirty-seconds is the obvious answer, but they don't have those. They have seven sixteenths or three quarters or (heaven forbid) twenty seven sixty-fourths.

A metric wrench set will have 14 mm and the next size will be 15 mm and that will be all there is to it.

LAST WEEK I was called down to the beach at West Sechelt to view what used to be a sea lion. When I returned to the office, I phoned a friend of mine in Nanaimo about the beast.

Dr. Mike Biggs is a marine biologist working out of the Pacific Biological station in Nanaimo. He specializes in marine mammals of which the sea lion is one.

Mike told me a bit about sea lions. He said from the description I gave him, that this one is probably a Stellar sea lion. He said during a trip to the Trail Islands he saw a colony of about 100 sea lions recently. I told him there were no apparent marks on the animal and he put forward the interesting proposition that it may have drowned in the previous night's storm. It may also have succumbed to old age.

Mike said many sea lions meet their fate in raids on fishing nets. Shooting one under any other conditions is strictly verboten.

Dr. Bigg, as he hates to be called, is probably better known for his work with killer whales. Mike was the one who originated the killer whale census and came up with the idea this year of having telephone numbers where people could call in when they spot a killer whale.

The idea is that when you spot a killer whale or pod of killer whales, call one of two numbers collect and pass the information on to the biological station. They will then dispatch a boat or aircraft to photograph the pod or whale.

From the photograph, believe it or not, they can tell who the whale is. Mike explained that through its life, the whale goes around collecting nicks and scratches in its dorsal fin. An individual whale can be identified by the nicks in its fin.

Descriptions of each whale are filed. A good example of the nicks on the fins is shown in a photograph of today's Times. Nickless, scratchless dorsal fins are a rarity.

Speaking of killer whales, you can expect to see more and more from now until the spring.

Speaking of seeing whales, if you do spot a whale or pod, call the Pacific Biological Station at 758-5202 or 758-6432. Call either number collect and tell them you have a killer whale siting.

Mike told me that this area had been a great help in the past with killer whale sitings.

The phone call, by the way, has to be made within the hour of the sighting. If more than that time has elapsed, it will make the pods very difficult to find.

MY WIFE, Georgie, came up with a brilliant idea. She said that seeing as the minimum wage in B.C. is $2.50 an hour, the old age pension should be that times eight hours a day, five days a week, 52 weeks a year. That works out to $20 a day, $100 a week, $400 a month (more or less) or $5,200 a year.

If $2,50 a month is the minimum working people are expected to live on, then shouldn't it be expected that a retired person's needs should be about the same?

REPLIES are coming in to me about the members of parliament and their pay increases. So far the feeling is running strongly against the MP's getting a wage boost of any type. Drop your comments to me at Box 310, Sechelt.

The majority would rather see the money channeled to senior citizens.

IN RESPONSE to quite a few inquiries, 'China Jim' Wilkinson has not left The Times, but he has left China.

Wilkinson, whose popular articles on life in China appeared regularly in The Times, phoned last week and said he had been transferred from Peking and spent some time in Israel.

He had sent us a Christmas article from the Holy land, but, unfortunately it did not get to us.

From Israel, he heads to England for a few months and then back to China.

I assured him that his articles were missed and he said he would start writing them again, starting with his observations of the Holy Land and then England. The first one should arrive in a few days.

Jim is an employee of CP Air which accounts for his country-hopping.

The Christmas Tree

BY BASIL SMYTH

They dragged me from my home among the wild winds,
Down through city streets they made their way
Fastened round my feet the tinseled paper,
Garnished me with things to make me gay.

I see again the eager smiling faces,
I feel again those soft carressing hands,
My limbs astraining for the joyous morn,
When tiny fingers loose the coloured bands.

I lie alone disgarded and disrobed,
I, who once had been so bright and gay,
Dressed in a myraid colours sparkling with life.
Yet here I am forgotten, thrown away.

I don't complaint, I've seen my happy hour,
I've served my time and now again I'm free.

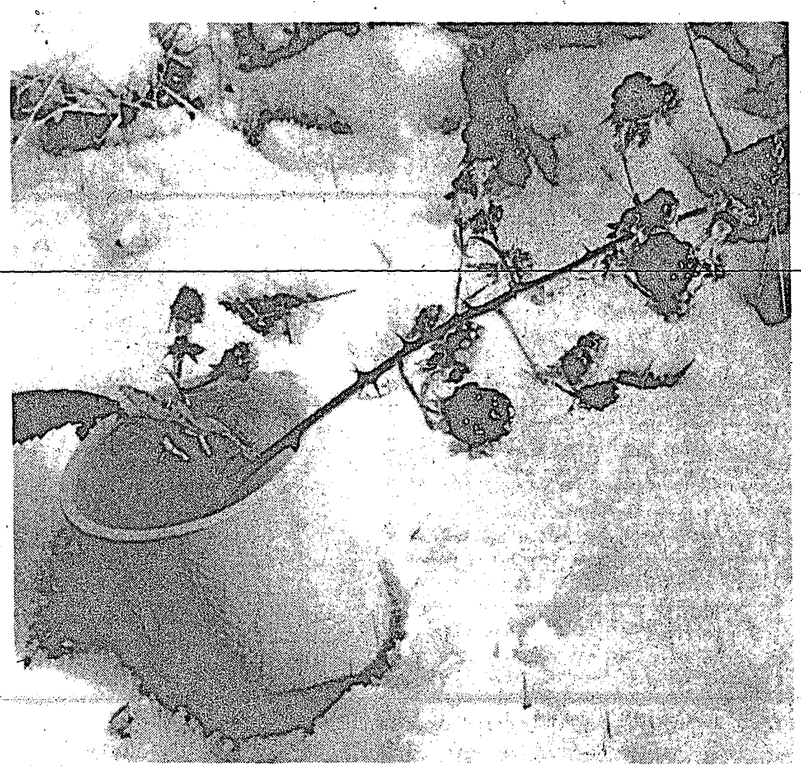
If they'd only take me back from whence I came,
But you see I am only just a Christmas tree.

Sechelt News Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Eddy of Hope were here in December visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lee in West Sechelt, Also visiting the Lees was Mrs. B. McCaul.

The Lee's daughter Bonnie and her husband Graeme West of Port McNeill and their three children visited over Christmas.

The Leisure Outlook This Week



THERE MAY BE snow on the ground in most places in the Sunshine Coast; but in West Sechelt, Mrs. Amy Rouse has blackberries growing. Mrs. Rouse also reports several roses blooming near her home. The blackberries, by the way, were not too bad. The only thing left is to figure out if they are late summer or early spring.

New service aids seniors

A new service is being initiated to help keep senior citizens in communication. The service will also provide an emergency function.

At the December general meeting of the Sunshine Coast Human Resource Society, approval was given to the committee on senior services to start a Telephone Tree. This is a phone service to seniors and handicapped living on their own. Calls will be made on a regular basis to keep in contact and arrangements will be made in advance as to what should be done in an emergency.

This service will be supplied free of charge thanks to ladies auxiliary No. 109 of the Royal Canadian Legion who have volunteered to install and pay the monthly phone charges. Offices will be in the basement of the Coast Garibaldi Health Unit, 1474 Fletcher Rd., Gibsons, until such time as the area has an Information Centre.

This service is available to all from Pender Harbour to Port Mellon. Referrals for this service or for information on services available to seniors, please contact Mrs. Louise Hume at the Senior Services office 886-7415 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

450 pound grizzly veteran of movies

The Sun International production of "The Life and Times of Grizzly Adams" starts at limited engagement at the Twilight theatre on Jan. 20 and 21. The features stars Dan Haggerty who portrays a historical frontier figure James "Grizzly" Adams. One of the more important performances rendered in the film is by a 450 pound silvertipped grizzly named Bozo.

In a time when wild animals, especially the ferocious grizzly, were greatly feared and misunderstood by the early settlers, Adams emerged in newspapers and dime-novels as the kind of living legend that neither feared nor misunderstood any living thing, with the possible exception of mankind.

Because Bozo's performance had to express the affinity that Adams held for the animals he encountered in the mountains, the responsibility for Bozo's portion of the script fell on her trainer. Terry Rowland from the Olympic Game Farm in Sequim, Washington. Terry's patience and kind understanding with Bozo yielded the scenes that make "The Life and Times of Grizzly Adams" a superb wildlife film.

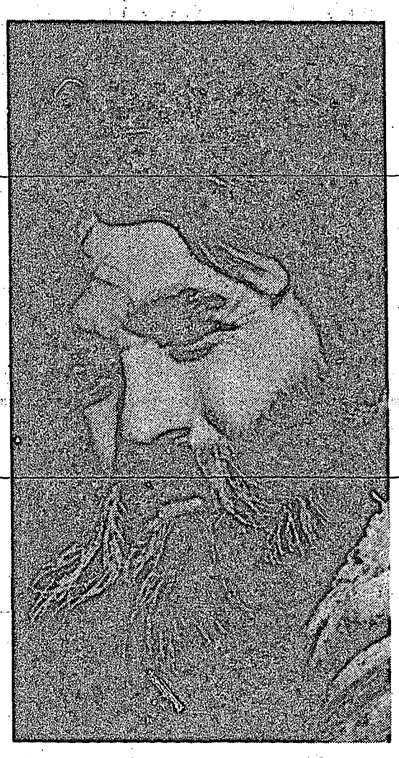
In a scene from the film, Bozo is shown rescuing Adams who had been struck and pinned by a tree he was chopping. The assistants and trainers who were ready to help Bozo roll the tree from the actor's leg were not even needed as Bozo performed the action perfectly in the first take. "We rehearse a lot," explains trainer, Terry Rowland.

Bozo's previous screen credits include 'King of the Grizzlies' and numerous television commercials. Off location, Bozo's time is spent in entertaining occasional visitors at the Olympic Game Farm, and learning new scrips for the opportunity to be the animal lead in another picture. Her acting abilities make her very useful to producers of films like "The Life and Times of Grizzly Adams".

On January 15 to 19 at the Twilight, Herbie Rides Again.

The car with a mind of its own is back in a sequel which is sure to become an instant success. Sceenplay by Bill Walsh, who also produced, from a story by Gordon Buford, is on a juvenile level and Robert Stevenson's direction keeps to a slapstick rather than sophisticated approach. But, except for the most hardened critics, "Herbie" will provide a lot of entertainment for audiences of all ages.

Two-time Academy Award winner Helen Hayes makes her Disney debut as the human lead and obviously enjoys what she's doing. Male star Ken Berry is as soft as Stefanie Powers is tough and Keenan Wynn creates an ultra-caricature of a two-fisted tycoon.



DAN HAGGERTY co-stars with a 450 pound grizzly bear Bozo in the film 'Life and Times of Grizzly Adams' which is showing at the Twilight Theatre January 20 and 21.

New exhibits at Whitaker

There will be new exhibits at Whitaker House every two weeks, planned by the newly elected exhibit committee consisting of Jackie Holecka, June Swartz and Trudy Small.

Be sure to see the entire collection of the Sunshine Coast's artist's spring offerings.

First in a series will be the water-colour paintings by Charles and Alice Murray of Selma Park, featuring the B.C. historical era, local landscapes and florals.

Whitaker House is open Monday to Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Terms council 'shortsighted' . . .

Condominium proposal angers Bluff resident

GIBSONS — A Skyline Drive resident has blasted council for its "seeming support" of a proposed condominium development on the Bluff.

"It is remarkable how our elected representatives historically can be so shortsighted," said Walter McGown in a letter submitted to council's Jan. 7 meeting. "Some seven or eight years ago, about 21 property owners attended a council meeting to voice our disapproval of the village granting a commercial zoning to the same property."

McGown charged that the condominium development, proposed by Main Home Improvements of Vancouver, would allow minimal parking and no play area for children.

At an earlier meeting, aldermen approved rezoning of the seven-lot Skyline Drive site from a comprehensive development area (CDA) to multi family use (RM2) to enable the Main Home Improvements people to proceed with more detailed plans of their development.

Final rezoning would be subject to a public hearing.

McGown said that council, "is seemingly supporting another commercial plan that offers the community nothing but trouble. If tax gains is the goal of council, surely private dwellings on these lots would provide just as much tax income and more sewer connection income than the proposed commercial venture, and the private residences would present no problems of parking and 'people pollution' which the commercial venture obviously will do."

Ald. Kurt Hoehne, council's finance chairman, said, "I don't think McGown is very well informed on the whole matter. He should go to the village and get all the information before writing us a letter."

Added Ald. Stuart Metcalfe: "As chairman of the planning committee, I should drop around and have a chat with him and get him to see reason."

Arguing further against the condominium development, McGown said in his letter "The parking in this restricted area, which is presently extremely hazardous, (is) admitted by you personally to be a probelm not controlled properly by police in that speeding cars and joyriders make the area one of several that are not controlled acceptably."

He said developments such as that proposed by Main Homes Improvements, "tend to become nothing but slum areas and these high density residential units have made the west end of Vancouver a mess. Surely we in Gibsons are not ready to have our community spoiled by shortsighted leaders."

He said the village had no proof that Main Home Improvements would carry out satisfactorily their "rosy-hued" proposals for the development.

"None of us want a blight on the waterfront area," said McGown. "Let us develop with sane, sound and sensible housing without the gamble of commercialism that, all too often, is regrettably allowed to present schemes and proceed not for the good of the community as a whole."

Before agreeing to pursue rezoning of the site, council requested and received a number of assurances on the development from Main Home Improvements.

Trees on the site must be left intact where possible and the natural surroundings of the area must be maintained.

A playground must be constructed and no dump rock or excavation material can be dumped over the bank.

The developers must also pay for a sewer extension to the site.

A village spokesman said a preliminary public hearing likely will be held within two weeks to gauge the reaction of Bluff residents to the condomimium proposal.

"If reaction to the development is positive," said the spokesman, "we would enter into a special contract with the developer which would give the village complete control over the development."

Main Home Improvements would also be required to post a performance bond, he said.

The 12-unit condominium development is proposed for Lots 7 through 13 on Skyline Drive.

Happenings around the Harbour

Jock Bachop 883-9056

JANUARY 6

Just got back from a hectic weekend in town and received the stunning news that I have to go back to work tomorrow. I was getting quite used to laying around and enjoying the good life and managing to stir myself now and again to fill out my unemployment insurance forms. Well, as my mother is wont to say after the holiday season, back to old clothes and porridge. Plus in my case dirt under my fingernails and sweat on my brow!

While downtown we went to Simpson Sears where the crowd of people was such that it took us three hours to replace an article which had sustained damage during delivery to us.

Of course, while I was gnashing my teeth at the delay my wife, sister Anne and my mother were cheerfully shopping amidst the madness.

However I did notice one thing that lifted my black mood a little. I was waiting at a prearranged spot for the ladies to join me when my attention was caught by a young mother dragging her infant by the hand along the aisle. Both looked most unhappy and when they were passing a display which featured a large stuffed tiger the little one on impulse grabbed the tiger by the tail and off they went — mother dragging child and child dragging tiger! I almost had hysterics watching as people tripped cursing over the tiger as the mother forged on through the crowd pulling her charge with her.

Finally she passed a full length mirror and like any woman glanced at her reflection and saw the tiger. I regret I must draw a veil over what happened next. Suffice to say an embarrassed lady and her wailing child disappeared into the multitude of shoppers leaving a disconsolate stuffed tiger sitting in the middle of the aisle causing no end of comment by passers by . . .

MADEIRA PARK

Bill Bomford asks me to remind you that there is a radio phone in the fire hall here in case of emergency. It can only be used if the normal lines of communication are down and someone needs an ambulance or something of that nature. In emergency, notify any fireman.

HELP WANTED

You know, since I started writing this column many people have contacted me saying it's time Pender Harbour got more coverage in the Times. Well and good, and while I was laid off from my regular job, I found it reasonably easy to scout around with pen, tape recorder and camera and gather lots of items from this area as you may have noticed in the last couple of months.

Many people have been kind enough to say nice things about my writing and I am grateful for that. However, now I am back to my regular line of work and don't have nearly as much time to gather news. So — here is the pitch. I would like to appeal to all of you to help me by calling in with anything you feel is worth reporting.

I want to see the Harbour well represented and with your help it will be. Thank you.

POT HOLE PARADISE

Took a trip to our local garbage dump recently. My gosh, the road into it is in dreadful condition. Since then a number of people have brought it to my attention.

I do not know what agency is responsible for the upkeep of the road or how often it is checked for wear and tear but it sure is in need of a facelift.

JANUARY 8

First day back at work yesterday and now I'm home again, courtesy of the snow. I thought we were going to get away with it this year. Just shows what kind of a weather forecaster I am. At least there will be lots of happy kids around.

Good friend Alvin at the Royal Bank at the time of writing is home in bed nursing what I believe is a case of infected sinuses. If you are reading this at work Alvin — welcome back, we missed you.

COMMUNITY CLUB

A general meeting of the Pender Harbour Community Club will be held Sunday, January 19. Please attend. Time of the meeting is 2 p.m.

PENDER HARBOUR LIONS CLUB

I accepted a kind invitation recently by Jack Barrett to join local Lions at one of their dinner meetings. I enjoyed the company and needless to say the meal. you may be assured they have the good of the community at heart and I picked up a few items from the meeting that may interest you.

You know of course that they sponsor local minor hockey, but here are some of the other things they are arranging.

Lions clubs throughout the world are concerned with sight. To this end clubs gather surplus eyeglasses or parts thereof from people who no longer need them and send them through a shipping centre to various countries whose residents are in dire need of them.

Any eyeglass donations will be received with thanks at the Bank of Montreal and the Royal Bank in Madeira Park. The lions annual auction in the Pender Harbour Community Hall will be held in April. Proceeds to charity of course. If you have any donation for this worthwhile cause get in touch with Joe McCann, Jack Barrett or Bernie Garick.

Jack tells me the Lions wish to thank Kelly of the Kosy Kitchen for the help he has given them by selling tickets for the Club draws. Consider it done, Jack.

Talking of Kelly, at the time of writing he has not returned to Madeira Park. I heard he was vacationing in Las Vegas. Come home gambling man, Jock and heaven knows how many other residents are pining away for your inimitable goodies!

A STORY

While living in Scotland — to be precise in Portobello, a seaside suburb of Edinburgh — our family maintained a boarding house. We had many weird and funny experiences there.

We had advertised a vacancy in the local paper and with no results for a spell, were getting quite concerned, when to our relief along came this shabby old dear in the company of a young girl of around 14 years of age; well she looked about 14. I myself was on hand to show them the suite and 'tho I had inward doubts as to their ability to keep up the rent I let them have it. I consoled myself with the thought that it was better than having empty rooms and appearances can be deceptive etc. etc.

Well I admit it — I boobed. Old softhearted Jock didn't even get a week's rent in advance, and to make matters worse within a day or two they were bumming meals from my equally softhearted mother. This could only go on for a limited time. Our budget was not geared to keep and feed two extra mouths.

One day, after a futile attempt to get some money out of our freeloading guests, mother came to the inevitable decision. They had to go. It didn't take much time to figure out who would have the job of evicting them.

What it amounted to was this. The family reasoned that since I was the sucker who got us involved with this miserable pair, why then, who else was more fitted for the unenviable task of clearing them out? I didn't agree, and insisted on a vote. After I was defeated ten to one (there were eleven in our family) I said with a nonchalance I didn't feel, "Oh well, I'll just go up and clear them out right now."

Followed by a discreet ripple of applause, I made my way upstairs and was admitted to the old lady's room. Determined not to weaken, I opened my mouth.

"You have to go", I said. It came out in a squeaky falsetto voice. Appaled, I tried again. Worse, it sounded like a stricken bull. The old lady started, and a tear glistened in the young girl's eyes. I had shot my bolt and digging my toe nervously into the carpet gazed unseeingly out the window.

There was a heavy silence for a while, then the old lady spoke. "For myself, she said, I don't mind walking the streets hungry, I'm used to that. It's the wee girl I'm thinking of." We both turned to look at her.

"Funny", I thought, "the kid looks older than I thought she was." She was sitting in such a position as to be showing off more of her young legs than was considered proper according to my upbringing. Either I didn't know too much about girls or something was wrong with my upbringing. I couldn't help staring.

The old lady was rambling on again, so tearing my eyes away from the girl's legs I hurriedly repeated my message and bolting from the room fled downstairs to relate to the waiting family the casual yet masterful way I had handled the situation.

The pair left shortly afterwards to our great relief and I kept well out of their way until then. We always demanded our rent be paid in money.

EGMONT

Received a phone call from Leah Silvey from Egmont. Seems the young lady won the centrepiece at the Christmas Party in the Community Hall there and I reported it as having been won by Jean Silvey. My apologies, Leah, thanks for correcting me.

A tip-or-two

Cut bologna into one inch cubes, add undiluted can of cream of chicken soup. Serve on whole wheat toast for a salty, flavorsome dinner.

For economical stretcher fill soup can one-half powdered skim milk, one-half water. Add pan of meat and condensed soup. Heat and serve. Quick and tasty meal.

Substitute condensed cream of mushroom soup or add to chicken sauce.

TIP: Remember, this dish is salty and does not call for added spices for its flavor. Delicious.

TIP OR TWO: Dropped waist style dresses can be converted to attractive overblouses. Cut off long sleeves and lower half of dress skirt, make cut sash style belt from them, creating attractive new blouse to wear with skirts, slacks and evening pants.

Want to feel younger? Turn on your radio for a change of pace. Try it. We discovered there is a different world out there. Closer to us, too.

Recently compared our village grocery store's prices with markets in town, discovering that ours were identical on canned goods and most other foods except perhaps sale items. But, we have our sales too.

A TIP: Still using those aerosol sprays? Be certain to open your window before pushing that release button. Have read recent research on possible lung damage from aerosol deodorants. Tests are now being made on other spray can products . . . always hated them, told myself I was too conservative, 'old hat' holding my nose at hair styling time . . . maybe I wasn't so wrong after all.

A TIP OR TWO: Lonely? Register your name, telephone number, volunteer capabilities, hours available, and time you can be reached for messages, with a local volunteer service. Not only is your talent needed, it provides relaxation, exercise, and a warm inner feeling of satisfaction in lending a helping hand. An impossibility for an incapacitated person could be a small, fast chore or hobby for you.

Some of us hesitate to ask for simple assistance from our neighbours whereas we might register our urgent immediate needs like wooden bannisters for steep stairways, hair washed and set in curlers, garbage cans set out on that day, marketing on slippery wet days, mending, ironing, baking, shining shoes, short drives, etc.

Case of the blank tapes

The Sunshine Coast has the makings of its own Watergate scandal.

A tape transcript of a recent regional district meeting, which had been requested by Gibsons village council, turned out "completely blank."

Anne Pressley, regional district secretary-treasurer, told council in a letter: "It is unfortunate that the one time we have need of the audio tape transcript of a board meeting, the tapes are completely blank. We are at a loss to explain why this occurred. The recorder may have been at fault."

Gibsons aldermen requested the tape to review comments made by chairman Frank West concerning the proposed take-over by the regional district of certain water lines outside the Gibsons municipal boundary but maintained by the village.

Ald. Kurt Hoehne, the village representative on the regional board and chairman of council's finance committee, reported that West had said the district was willing to pay Gibsons $4 per foot, or "the book price", for the lines.

"In my opinion, this is not enough," said the alderman.

He explained that West had justified this price in "a long speech" at the regional board meeting, but that council could not obtain a transcript of the "speech."

The water line concerned in the regional district purchase serves the Pratt Road area, near Gibsons.

Council referred the matter back to its finance committee.
