Change of Route

It is announced, says a contemporary, that the route of the Kettle valley line has been changed to tap Princeton with the main line instead of with the branch, and a survey party will be placed in the field shortly to revise the location between the junction point and the summit of the Hope mountains, at the headwaters of the Coquahamish river. The terminals will be at Midway in the Boundary district and at Hope in the lower Fraser valley. The Fraser is to be bridged at Hope, and connection made with the main line of the C.P.R. Construction is in progress west of Midway near the summit of the west fork of the Kettle river, and west of Princeton on Okanagan lake. A branch line has already been built from Merritt in the Nicola valley to the headwaters of the Coldwater river.

Remains Shipped to Montana

The remains of Steve Alimenti, who met his death in the recent mine accident, was shipped on Monday to Red Lodge, Montana. The deceased's brother, arrived in Phoenix on Saturday from Montana and accompanied the casket to Red Lodge where the final interment took place. A large number of the friends and acquaintances of the dead miner were in attendance at the depot.

During the storm at Anaconda, last week, the lightning struck an auto containing F. Bell and Peter Teddy.

ENORMOUS BLAST AT MOTHER LODE MINE

2400 Fourteen Feet Holes Fired—130,000 Tons Displaced.

Another huge blast, the second that has taken place within a few months, was exploded about ten o'clock on Monday morning, April 22, at the British Columbia Copper company's Mother Lode mine, Greenwood. In all there were about 2400 holes loaded and about eight tons of explosives were used. The average depth of each drill hole was about fourteen feet. An approximate estimate of the amount of muck displaced would be in the neighborhood of 130,000 tons. The enormous charge was fired simultaneously, electricity of course being the agent employed. From a spectacular point of view there was not much to reward the spectators and except for the huge pall of smoke which for a short time hung over the scene, there was little to be seen, while the noise occasioned by the blast was not at all what the ordinary layman naturally expected.

Movement For Mounted Police.

Referring to a report recently revived during the past few days in the mainland press, that the British Columbia government has under consideration the advisability of organizing a corps of mounted constabulary, Hon. William Bowser, Attorney-General states that this project is not at present obtaining serious consideration.

Activity in Tulameen

What promises to become one of the established mining camps of the province, and which is likely to attract more than average attention this season, is that of Summit camp in the Tulameen. The other day a force of men commenced development work on the Indianapolis group of claims, the property of United States capitalists, which has one of the best galena showings in that district, besides carrying good values in gold. The property is immediately adjacent to the Belmont fraction, which was staked about three years ago by W. B. Marks and Albert Biner of Phoenix. The lead runs diagonally across both the properties.

Handsome Balance for Hospital

The committee who were in charge of the arrangements for the Easter Monday hospital ball, wish to express their thanks to all those who in any way contributed to the success of the event. They also submit the following statement, in which it will be seen at a glance that the affair was more than usually successful from a financial standpoint. In this connection it might be added that the greatest praise is also due the small committee, who not only were the originators, but who spared no effort to make the dance a social and financial success.

NEW ORE STRIKE AT HIDDEN CREEK MINE

Drifting on No. 385 Tunnel Reveals Three Per Cent Copper.

Recent development and exploratory work at the Granby company's Hidden creek mine at Anyox, in the northern portion of British Columbia, are more than confirming the optimism of the company's officials on the ultimate success of the new undertaking. During the past winter there was of necessity a cessation of outside operations on the ore bodies, but a thorough and systematic program of drifting and underground development was persistently followed, with the pleasing result that after drifting for a distance of 700 feet on the 385 tunnel, a fine ore body was encountered, yielding higher assays than formerly. "The first returns from the new strike gave an assay of five per cent copper," said O. B. Smith, general supt., who has recently returned from a visit to the mine, "but the average returns," continued Mr. Smith, "were three per cent copper." Answering a query as to the extent of the ore bodies, Mr. Smith, who is noted for the conservatism of his statements, stated that the zones consisted of two colossal ore bodies; the first, or No. 1 as it is called, is estimated to be 250 feet wide, while the No. 2 ore body was even larger still. A much more effective boat system of communication with the mines has now been established, consisting of four steamers calling weekly, and comprising the C.P.R. steamers Prince John, Princess Royal and the Union company's boats Camusson and Chelohsin.

Granby Stocks to Sell at $100

G. L. Walker, one of the most observant writers of American and Canadian market affairs, has the following to say in a recent issue of the Boston Commercial:

"Granby stock has been one of the market leaders recently. Since the stock sold at $20 I have repeatedly advised its purchase. In my letter of February 24, I pointed out that after the Hidden creek smelter is built and in commission the company will be able to produce 45,000,000 to 50,000,000 pounds of copper annually and earn $15 a share on a 15-cent metal market. "At present Granby is producing at the rate of 22,000,000 pounds of copper annually, and earnings must be equivalent to $7 or $8 a share on its stock. During the coming year or two, however, its profits probably will go to pay for the proposed smelter at Hidden creek. No dividends are likely to be paid immediately, therefore. I think Granby stock will again sell above $100 a share."

The Fife Mines, Limited, are at present running one shift, employing 10 men.

Methodist Church Social

The Methodist church social, given by the Ladies aid on Wednesday last, was a social in every sense of the word, and much resembled the affairs of that kind given in Phoenix a few years ago. Good humor and fellowship prevailed throughout the evening, while the program prepared by the committee, particularly the concert, was a most entertaining one. The church was crowded, all creeds of gentiles resident in Phoenix being present, and all intermingled and joined in the general merriment. Geo. Caine presided over the gathering, and many of those present are wondering, after hearing his speech, how it is that George has been overlooked in the nominations for the last elections; but then everybody knows how modest George is. The musical program was a long one, and the efforts, both vocal and recitative, of the younger folks, were decidedly novel and pleasing. "O'Hara's Trombone," a humorous song by Miss Laura Bellis, a piano selection by Miss Annie McKeown, a song by Miss Phyllis Pope, another song by Miss M. Jarrett and a recitation by Bob Evans, all came in for vociferous applause, while the number of encores received by the grown-ups testified the appreciation of their listeners. Following is the remainder of the program: Piano selection, Mrs. C. Knight; songs, Mrs. Wm. Bellis; duet, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Knight; humorous recitation by Mrs. J. A. Millar; song, Mrs. C. Knight; duet, Wm. Humphries and R. Owens; violin selection, by T. Silas, and a tenor solo by Thos. Roberts. Mrs. W. F. Smith filled the position of chancellor of the exchequer, and no doubt was able to exhibit a neat balance over expenditure toward the church's funds. Mrs. D. Dockstader presided over the candy and popcorn counter, and while there appeared to be a scarcity of money passing in that corner, her stock of wares diminished in quantity towards the close.

Road Construction at Fife

Work on the Fife wagon road is proceeding with despatch, operations having been vigorously pursued for the last two weeks under the supervision of Jos. Darragh. On the completion of this undertaking, which was badly needed, Mr. Darragh expects to receive word to proceed with the commencement of the new automobile road which is to pass through Phoenix and connect with Grand Forks. It is confidentially expected that work on the new roadway will be commenced about the end of May, or perhaps sooner if the surveying is completed.

The Phoenix-Greenwood stage was loaded to the Plimsoll mark on Friday morning, its passenger list consisting wholly of eastern drummers. They all appeared to be satisfied with their visit here.

The B. C. Columbia company's smelter treated 9,246 tons of ore this week, as follows: Mother Lode, 3,716; Rawhide, 4,685; Wellington, 378; Jack Pot, 151; Emma, 132; others, 174.

Receipts For Hospital Dance

The band concert, which was recently given for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of uniforms for the band, was fairly well attended, the receipts from the sale of tickets showing a handsome balance, which, while not sufficient for the purpose, will form the nucleus of a fund for the attainment of the object in view. The selections by the band, which were of unusual merit, were deservedly applauded, and gave ample proof that the organization is one well worthy of much more substantial recognition than they have hitherto received from the town. The various other items on the program were all well received.

The castle was the dead, leaning stub of a bitwood tree, at least four feet across and had in it a great hollow some ten feet from the ground. There was an entrance to this hollow and at its bottom was a soft bed of moss through which leaves which had blown in sort-of the autumn.

The Silver Lining

There is a thrill in every line of the story of the wreck of the Titanic, says the Victoria Colonist, and almost every person who read it must have felt at times as if something had clutched the heart. Four days had passed and there was nothing to lighten the burden of sorrow. Our expectations were tuned up to expect a climax of horror. And then the story came, and we read of deeds of quiet heroism that made our pulses beat faster and brought tears of pride to our eyes. As there is no tale of the sea more awful in its toll of lives, so there is none more glorious as an illustration of the manliness of men and the nobility of woman's love. The wife who stood by her husband preferring to die with him than to be saved without him, although there was everything else to make life happy to her except a husband's love; the father whose only thought as he faced certain death was of the mother who was waiting for her little boys; the captain who stood upon the bridge and issued his commands knowing that in a few minutes he would have gone to his death in the water; the musicians who played their own death song in order that courage might be inspired in the hearts of others; the sailors who stood by the boats in which they could have sought refuge, but preferred their duty to life itself. We may lament the death of such as these and of the hundreds of others of whose noble courage we have not been and never will be told; but it is with pride that we realize that they were only men and women like ourselves, and that we feel a reason to believe that we could do as they did.

The explanation of such a disaster is only to be found in the inscrutable wisdom of God. Perhaps, who knows, man needed a lesson? In our pride we built a great ship. We said we have done what has never before been done, we have built a ship that cannot sink; we have so tamed the forces of nature that we can rush with headlong

A Wonderful Discovery.

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poisoning. Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then again, as soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children and such friends of Zam-Buk. They cure nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again, as soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorming Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Co., and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. Today—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c. stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

speed across the deep through fog and darkness, nothing on land or sea to make us afraid. Then out of the night comes Nature, this time wearing a mantle of ice. She spurns the greatest triumph of our skill with only a touch of her foot, and what was our pride, what seemed the very culmination of wisdom and skill, is broken and sinks from sight as a pebble sinks when a child throws it into a pond, and the icy monster moves on without a tremor. When daylight comes, where there had been a mighty ship, seemingly almost a living thing and carrying hundreds of men and women full of satisfaction that man had been able to accomplish such a triumph over nature, there is nothing but a few fragments of wreckage and a state-ly berg shining like a vast pearl in the rays of the rising sun. Nature has taught man a lesson, an awful lesson indeed, but in proportion to our pride so must be our fall.

And yet, though there is much sorrow, it is not all sorrow; though there is much that is almost too painful to bear, it is not all painful. Nature may show us that she can triumph over the works of man; but she failed to show that she can triumph over the souls of men. The greatest thing in that awful night was not the towering berg whose feet were many fathoms deep; but the unconquerable souls of the men, who in the very hour and article of death could do their duty unflinchingly. Human skill was powerless; but humanity itself was triumphant. And so while we mourn the lost, let us not forget that the men and women, who proved their nobility of soul, were no better than we ourselves are, and that we and every-one else have within ourselves that which is greater than fear, that when the time comes for us to exhibit the greatness of humanity, we too may be able to prove ourselves worthy to be classed with the heroes of the Titanic.

Gets the Bounce

Captain Bernier, commander of the Canadian government steamer Arctic, has been suspended by the government following grave charges lodged against him in connection with his official conduct of expeditions to the far north. Captain Bernier has enjoyed international repute as an Arctic navigator, having come successfully through a number of voyages in Northern waters. He commanded the Arctic during the fourteen months' expedition of 1908-9, the fitting out of his ship at that time being the subject of a scandal and a parliamentary investigation. In that trouble Captain Bernier was not personally involved. Lately, however, it has been charged that in connection with some of his expeditions he has traded with the natives and others in the north for personal gain, and at the expense of the government. These charges have been under investigation by a commission under the Inquiries Act. Until the report of the commission is in, no definite action will be taken, but in view of the evidence already given, including the testimony of Captain Bernier himself, the government has concluded that the circumstances warrant his suspension.

There is a remarkable influx of settlers this spring to the Upper Columbia river valley along the route of the Kootenay Central railroad, now under construction, according to E. J. Scovil, former government agent at Golden. A party of English settlers, comprising 500 men, women and children, are now en route from England, bound for the Windermere district in B.C. They are all to engage in fruit raising.

South Vancouver is growing so rapidly in population that tents will have to be erected to provide school accommodation.
