TEMPORARY CLOSING OF THE JEWEL MINE

Superintendent Leaves for London to Confer with Directors

Superintendent C. A. Banks with Mrs. Banks left Greenwood on Saturday, Feburary 15th en route for England where he is to consult the directors of that property regarding the instalment of a new slime process for the Jewel cyanide mill.

The Nicholls slime filtering process has been thrown out two years ago, and it seems likely that the Ridgeway ditto (which was sent for instalment without either the knowledge or approval of the then superintendent Mr. R. Roberts) is to follow suit.

It is presumed that either the Moore or Butters process will be installed shortly, being expected to give better results than the Oliver filter, which has given satisfaction in the Hedley quartz mine for years.

The grinding pans have also been cut out, and it is Mr. Banks intention to install tube mills in their place; which done, it is probable that the mine can be successfully exploited without further important alterations.

Mining operations at the Jewel have already been shut down since Saturday Feb. 8th and the mill will cease working before this paper goes to press.

The force will then be reduced to about five men including the experienced mill-wright, Chas. Oliver, under whose charge the existing mill was built, who will be kept busy preparing for the erection of the new machinery.

This will probably be completed some time in May next when the mill will be in a position to treat about sixty tons every 24 hours.

The above result has, it seems, amply justified the judgment of ex-manager R. Roberts regarding the existing system of treating slimes, as it is rumored that he resigned his position rather than risk his reputation as a mill man in tolerating its operation in his own mill, and this consideration is accentuated by the fact that the present manager, Mr. Banks is an accomplished engineer and mill manager, the successful record of of the one hundred stamp mill at Waikikie, New Zealand, being principally due to his scientific planning and management.

B. C. Copper's Brooklyn Mine

Greenwood, Feb. 21.—While nothing of an authoritative nature has been given out, we learn that the attention of B. C. Copper officials have recently been centred on the Brooklyn mine, in Phoenix which has now been shut down for a number of years. The rumor, which is believed to be well founded seems to point to a resumption of development work within the space of three months.

A short time ago the Omineca Herald published a report to the effect that a deal was being put through for the Highland Boy group on Rocher de Boule mountain. This property adjoins Rocher de Boule mine and carries the same veins and the same character of ore. Word has now been received by the Herald from P. J. Jennings that the deal has been completed and that it is one of the biggest ever pulled off in the district. The syndicate that have taken this group over are the most active men on the continent. They are mostly men in Butte, Montana, and Mr. Jennings is there yet. The new company has completed organization and will be known as the Butte & Rocher de Boule Copper company. Samuel McConnell, general manager of the Butte Central mine, is president, and C. J. Stone, general manager of the Butte-Alex. Scott is vice-president. The rest of the officers and directors are equally prominent in the mining world.

FAST HOCKEY GAME ENDS IN VICTORY FOR PHOENIX

Superior Combination of Home Artists too Much for Visitors—Most Spectacular Game of Season—Atkins of Nelson Refereed the Match—Score, 5-3.

Crowded galleries, etc., marked the interest shown by Boundaryites in the game of Wednesday last, played on the local ice, for outside of the attendance by home people the spectators included a delegation of two hundred from the Forks and many others from outlying points of both the Kootenay and Boundary districts.

The contest, which was strictly speaking a re-play of the contested game of January 27, brings the position of affairs in the Boundary league to a straight tie, the decision now resting on the issue of a final game between Grand Forks and Phoenix. Probably never in the history of interior hockey has excitement reached such a pitch as that occasioned by this match, while local money in abundance in favor of Phoenix was in evidence on all sides. It must be stated, however, that just as much confidence was reposed by the visiting boosters in the ability of their home team.

The ice conditions could scarcely be improved upon and as a result the speed was considerably accelerated. Atkins of Nelson refereed the game, his decisions being marked with that impartiality dear to the hearts of all admirers of clean and legitimate sport. Taylor was judge of play and no fault could be found with his actions, although some of our visiting friends appear to imagine that official to possess a surfeit of eyes. The defence by Neil, Davidson and Mitchell was strikingly strong and contributed no small part to the brilliant victory of Phoenix. It might be stated that the appearance of the Nelson referee was due to the suggestion of the Grand Forks' executive.

Referee Atkins of Nelson started the puck sliding a few minutes after nine and soon after the rubber was rapidly passing from east to west and vice versa. After a couple of minutes the visitors encircled the home net and some lively work was cut out for Mitchell and the home forwards. The tension was ultimately relieved by Neil and Bassett who borrowed the puck until Rochon and Ross dissolved the partnership; this was reversed a little later when the home squad advanced with some fine combination and subjected Clark to the time of his life. Clark, however, met the test successfully until Neil slipped an artful pass to McKelvey who sent it into the net amidst a perfect pandemonium of applause. Moore now tried his hand for a shot, but a quick check by McGregor brought the puck and the visiting army with it to the front of the home net and afforded Mitchell another opportunity to display his puck-stopping stunts, one of which enabled Davidson, who never played a better game, to remove the puck single-handed to the other end, but the resulting shot failed to materialize. Immediately afterwards friend Lynne attempted a body check and measured his length on the ice, and McWha taking sole possession recorded the equalizing score. Lynne immediately afterwards despatched another of his hi-power shots at Mitchell, which the latter deftly turned aside. Both nets now received attention, Clark and Mitchell both being called upon to defend their respective trusts. Rochon now became aggressive, but Neil and Davidson scenting danger fell back, the former passing to Sayers when operations ceased for the first period, the score standing 1-1.

Strenuous play marked the 2nd period and within a minute the Forks had pierced the home defence and Lynne secured the second goal for his colors amid tumultous Grand Forks applause. The finest of stick work and the neatest checking of the season then followed and on McKelvey passing to Moore the latter landed one that two Clarks would find difficult to stop. A little later Moore again hovered suspiciously around Clark and the latter swallowing the bait, stepped a little outside the net, giving Moore the opportunity to register the third goal for Phoenix. Both sides by this time were feeling the strain of the terrific pace, but of the two the home seven appeared to feel it the least. The score at the close of the second period stood 3-2 in favor of the home team.

Some classy hockey greeted the spectators during the final period and Clark for the Forks performed yeoman service for the visitors. The pace was also something to wonder at, and a few peualties for minor offences were impartially handed out. The period was also conspicuous for the neat short passing of Bassett and the three forwards—McKelvey, Sayers and Moore, the latter of whom proved more than a match for Rochon. Davidson snapped on a fine pass from Moore and added another honor to the home colors. This was followed by one of the truest expositions of Canada's winter game, when Rochon, taking possession of the puck took it clean through the home blockade and landed a well-aimed and difficult high shot past Mitchell. A very small interval found Mitchell stubbornly contesting the movements of Ross and McWha, and McKelvey taking hold, passing to Sayers who had no use for it, sent it on to Moore who promptly scored the fifth and final goal of the game, which eventually ended with a score of 5-3 in favor of Phoenix.

St. Andrew's Church Concert

The congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church gave a very successful concert on Friday of last week in the church building. The program, which was unusually long, but withal interesting, consisted of instrumental selections, and recitations, with a number of vocal contributions by local ladies and gentlemen, ably assisted by Mrs. E. S. Logie of Nelson, whose fine soprano voice entranced an appreciative and music-loving audience. The juvenile portion of the entertainers, of which there were quite a number, more than exceeded expectations, two or three of whom were especially good and plainly exhibited evidence of careful training. The violin solo by T. Silas was an excellent performance and well deserved the encore, while the other vocal and recitative items were equally deserving of the unstinted applause that followed them.

Knights of Pythias Celebrate

The members of the local lodge of Knights of Pythias celebrated the 49 anniversary of the foundation of their order on Thursday evening by giving a dance, to which a few friends were invited. The ladies auxiliary of the order provided a wealth of good things for the supper which followed, while the music which was exceptionally good, wasfurnished by Mrs. Charles A. Knight and Chas. McKay.

Dr. Simmons has commenced a practice in North Vancouver.

Oddfellows Defeat Knights

Saturday evening saw the final match deciding the Phoenix Fraternal Society championship, when the Knights of Pythias lined up in battle array against their old opponents, the Oddfellows. Owing to the enforced absence of one of the three-link men, the knights agreed to give the six-man method a trial. The game was unusually stubborn, so much so, that during the first half neither side was able to score. The second half, however, was full of exciting situations and the Oddfellows were without doubt the aggressors, Percy Poulton being very busy defending the knights' net. In this he was ably assisted by A. White. The faulty shooting of the triple links was very marked and times without number the opportunity to score was lost. The game was remarkable for the chivalry displayed on both sides and quite often the puck was passed to a player of the opposing side. The turkey trot was not in evidence, but the grizzly hug and fairy flop were repeatedly demonstrated. Two or three minutes from time the stonewall defence of the knights was pierced by the Oddfellows, and Small passing to the right had the mortification of seeing the puck stop a few feet from the net, where a shot from Spence took it against the post and into the possession of Jackson who eventually made good. The final score being Oddfellows 1, Knights, 0.

After the match, a Pioneer representative waited on the members of the losing team and inquired the reasons for their failure.

A. A. White candidly expressed his pleasure at the opportunity afforded of putting himself square with the ladies. "I know they'll be disappointed with the result," he said. "Especially my sisters of the Pythian temple, but the fact of the matter is, that although I am as young looking as ever, I have never quite recovered from the Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT

Government Now Throws Open Land for Free Settlement—Conditions now Similar to that of Dominion—Increases Royalty on Timber Cut on Crown Lands to Offset $584,000 Loss Caused by Government's New Policy.

A new departure in government policy which may be regarded as certain to greatly stimulate colonization activity in British Columbia is the outstanding feature of the bill for the amendment of the Laud Act. The striking provision of this measure is that for the granting of free pre-emptions of surveyed crown lands from and after the 31st March promixo, pre-emptors henceforward being permitted to take up land upon payment only of $2.00 for the pre-emption record and $10.00 as crown grant fee. The land and the cost of survey are given without charge.

The policy of the past has been to sell such pre-empted lands at a price of $1.00 per acre, 25% of such cost being payable within two years from the issuance of record, with further annual payments of 25 cents per acre until the purchase price of $1.00 per acre be paid, and six per cent interest being collectable upon arrears. The maximum quantity of land which it has heretofore been possible thus to take up by the pre-emption process has been 160 acres, and this maximum will remain the general standard pre-emption size under the new and progressive legislation, power being however retained to the minister to refuse any application for the pre-emption which may in his opinion be adverse to the public interest, as for example, should the applicant be an Asiatic.

This radical change in the law for the substantial encouragement of settlement and the development of the agricultural resources of the country has been for some time past under consideration, and has had as a necessary precedent foundation the surveys of large tracts in those districts now or soon to be rendered accessible by the rapid advance of railway construction operations. The new bill will go far toward settling up first of all the surveyed areas which in the majority of instances have already been reserved for pre-emption reqnirements, and in it the minister is further given power to determine the acreage which may in individual instances be pre-empted, as in forest parks etc., and generally as conditions warrant in special localities.

There can be no quotation but that the departure from the old pre-emption plan will bear early and satisfactory fruit in the immediate stimulation of settlement, many thousands taking advantage of this last opportunity to secure free land for agricultural purposes on the western American continent.

To estimate the effect which will be exercised upon provincial revenue by the adoption of the free pre-emption principle, it may be noted thaa last year, the maximum year in this regard in provincial history, 3650 pre-emption records were issued, which, assuming each record covered the maximum allotment of 160 acres, would represent a contribution to revenue of $584,000. Against the loss of this revenue the government in adopting its new policy places as prospective compensation the varied and manifold advantages which must accrue to British Columbia through an immediate occupation of its wild lands and their transformation into farms, orchards and gardens.

Offsetting the revenue loss involved in the new pre-emption policy, the amendment to the forests act provides for an increase of the royalty collected on timber cut on crown lands from fifty cents to one dollar per thousand feet board measurement, such increase however not taking effect until three years hence. There are also found in the forest act amendment bill, provisions extending the time for timber holding surveys upon recommendation of the Surveyor-General enlarging the prohibition of export of unscaled timber by making such timber and the tngs towing it liable to seizure and confiscation, prescribing reforms in timber markings, and increasing the annual collections for forest protection service from timber licensees, lessees and owners of timber lands. Whereas this impost has been one cent per acre per annum under the forestry legislation of 1912, it will be one and one half cent in future, the government continuing to contribute dollar for dollar.

During committee consideration of the bill prescribing regulations for the burning of human bodies and the establishment of crematoria in British Columbia, Mr. Parker Williams offered the suggestion that provisions might be made for the compulsory holding of a coroner's inquiry in the case of every death where cremation was selected in place of the more customary burial of the dead. The Socialist leader argued that deaths by murder might become impossible of proof if the remains of the victims were consumed by fire, burial leaving it possible to trace a cause of death by exhumation of the remains, but this possibility was defeated if the bodies were cremated. Hon. Dr. Young rejected the suggestion, holding that it would be but one chance in a million that the ends of justice would be defeated as the member for Newcastle had suggested, while on the other hand the advantages of cremation were manifold.

"As a medical man," said the minister, "I thoroughly believe in cremation as the best method for the disposal of the bodies of the dead, and if the premier would allow me to do so I should bring in a bill providing for compulsory cremation in British Columbia."

Political Fanatics

The fanatical suffragette movement in Great Britain must have received an unusually heavy blow last week, when a couple of irresponsible women, bedecked with ribbons and carrying banners, attempted to force their way into St. Paul's cathedral during the progress of the solemn memorial service in memory of Captain Scott and his ill-fated companions. John Bull must be about accustomed to the vagaries of the "militants" by now and this latest will do more to open his eyes to the unsuitability of women having any voice in the affairs of a great nation.

SORES FROM ELBOW TO FINGERS

Zam-Buk Worked a Miracle of Healing

Reverend Gentleman Fully Corroborates

Miss Kate L. Dolliver, of Caledonia, Queen's Co., N.S., says: "I must add my testimony to the value of Zam-Buk. Ulcers and sores broke out on my arm, and although I tried to heal them by using various preparhtions, nothing seemed to do me any good. The sores spread until from fingers to elbow was one mass of ulceration.

"I had five different doctors, and faithfully carried out their instructions. I drank pint after pint of blood medicines, tried salve after salve, and lotion after lotion; but it was of no avail.

"My father then took me thirty miles to see a well-known doctor. He photographed the arm and hand. This photograph was sent to a New York hospital to a specialist; but they sent word that they could do nothing further for me, and I was in despair.

"One day a friend asked me if I had tried Zam-Buk. I said I had not, but I got a box right away. That first box did me more good than all the medicine I had tried up to that time, so I continued the treatment. Every box healed the sores more and more until, to make a long story short, Zam-Buk healed all the sores completely. Everybody in this place knows of my case, and that it is Zam-Buk alone which cured me."

Minister corroborates.—The Rev. W. B. M. Parker, of Caledonia, Miss Dolliver's minister, writes: "This is to certify that the testimonial of Miss Dolliver is correct as far as my knowledge goes. I have known her for a year and a half, and her cure effected by Zam-Buk is remarkable."

Wherever there is ulceration, blood-poison, sores, cold-cracks, abscesses, cuts, burns, bruises, or any skin injury or disease, there Zam-Buk should be applied. It is also a sure cure for piles. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. per box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse cheap and harmful imitations and substitutes.

The Prevailing Epidemic

"There is hardly a city of any size or a State of any description that is now free from political inquiries and investigations. Indeed, we are assured, for example, that almost every city of 40,000 inhabitants in Pennsylvania is investigating vice or taxes, or the grand jury system—one or the other, or perhaps all three.

"The new governor of the State of New York had hardly established himself in the executive chair before he began "investigating," and the work of inquiry into the various state departments was actually under way before Governor Dix realized that the "fated hour had arrived." Simultaneously, with the State inquiry at Albany, we find police and vice investigations going on in New York city. We have the money trust investigation at Washington, and another congressional committee also at work inquiring into banking and currency; while the ways and means committee is hauling citizens from north, south, east and west on the tariff hearings; a Senate committee is trying to find out what it can about the use and abuse of campaign funds and the Interstate Commerce Commission is continuing its inquiry into the causes of railroad wrecks.

"So it goes all over the country. New Jersey is overhauling its method of assessing and collecting taxes and trying to simplify the various disjointed commissions and bureaus to make them compact and effective. In Chicago, when they are not investigating National Harvester, they are after oleomargarine. In Ohio every blessed thing under the sun is under investigation or supervision.

"Is it possible that the country can be so unutterably wicked as all these things would seem to indicate? Granted that some of this is good, is it all "uplift," or is not some of it the merest bid for the votes of discontent and incompetence?"—Wall Street Journal.

Fear Canadian Competition

Another direct attack on Canada's interest in tariff revision in the United States was made in a brief of the manufacturers filed at the executive sessions of the ways and means committee a few days ago. On the basis of the showing made in the brief, it is argued that Canada is engaged in construction work, with a view to wresting commerce from the United States. It is also pointed out that the great railroad construction that is going on on this side would not have been undertaken except for the prospect of an open market in the States.

The American manufacturers contend that the Canadian railroads are invading that country as rapidly as possible and they assert that it is now just as easy to get an unbroken ride from Chicago to Banff as it is from Chicago to Philadelphia.

The migration of the American citizens, particularly those of the west, is held to be part and parcel of a scheme to secure closer relations with the republic, while the big excursion traffic between Chicago and vicinity to the British Columbia summer resorts has evidently excited the envy of our southern neighbours.

The brief also draws attention to the Canadian Northern railroad's proposal, now under consideration by the Vancouver city council, to reclaim the entire bed of False creek east of Main street or Westminster avenue, for terminal facilities which, with the cost of a tunnel for entering the city will entail an expenditure of $8,000,000.

With the tariff lowered, and the American manufacturers subjected to unlimited competition from Canada, and with the farmers and workingmen immigrating to the Dominion, it is argued that a terrible blow would be struck at the prosperity of the United States.

Our Patriotic Opposition

The Grand Forks Sun, which ever since the advent of the present enlightened government to power, has suffered considerably from the "slings and arrows of outraged fortune," treats the matter of German airship visits to the British coast as something in the nature of a huge joke, and "airly" dismisses the matter with the outrageously-implied statement that "the advertising agents of Premier Borden's emergency contribution are working overtime." To read the Sun's effusion one is inclined to think that its editor has lost his old-time faith in the future possibilities of aeronautics, and in reference to those supernatural aerial visits, it may be news to our contemporary to learn that during the past few days a bill prohibiting the visits of foreign aircraft was introduced and hurriedly passed by both houses of the British Parliament. That there was no doubt in the mind of the Imperial cabinet as to the genuine nature of the alarming reports was plainly evidenced by the significant request to the Opposition not to delay the passing of the measure, a request that was loyally respected, and which, in the light of recent events, would be too much for us to expect from our own "loyal" opposition at Ottawa.

Listen!

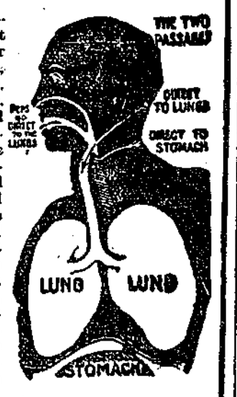
Have you heard about Peps?

Peps is a new scientific preparation put up into tabloid or pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds and lung and throat troubles.

There is no connection between the lungs and the stomach.

Suppose something were wrong with your stomach—say indigestion, or ulceration—would you think of taking some medicine which went—not to your stomach, but to your lungs? Certainly not!

Why then, when your lungs and chest are affected, should you dose your stomach—an absolutely separate organ—with medicine? Is it not far better to treat the ailing organ direct?



Peps provide a direct treatment for coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all lung, chest and throat troubles. Peps contain highly medicinal essences and pine extracts condensed into tablet form. You put a Pep on your tongue, and as it slowly dissolves, these volatile essences turn into vapor. You BREATHE the remedy to your sore ailing lungs direct—not swallow it to your stomach, which is not ailing. (See diagram.) The healing fumes, thus breathed down, bathe the delicate, inflamed membranes of your breathing-tubes and pass right on to the tiny passages of the lungs—a course no liquid or solid medicine could possibly take.

Peps fumes are healing and antiseptic. They heal sore tissue and kill disease germs. Peps bring pine-forest fumes to your home, instead of you going to the pine forest!

For that cold, that night cough, that touch of bronchitis, don't dose your stomach! The trouble lies in your lungs. Peps go to the lungs direct and will cure you.

All druggists and stores 50c. box. Write for free sample to Peps Co., Toronto, or 52 Princess St., Winnipeg. Send only 1c. stamp for postage and enclose this advertisement.

strain of the Stanley cup final in 1900."

"I am convinced that our borrowed togs had something to do with the triple link victory," said Joe Small, the intrepid left wing. "They had never been worn since the disaster to the home team at Greenwood the previous Monday." The interviewer suggested that possibly Mr. Small's connection with the sea had prompted the idea of a hoodoo. "Not at all," replied the intrepid left wing. "I rembember when I was laying off Timbuctoo—What! must you go. Well, I'll try and write it up for the Xmas number of the Pioneer.

"Lent fixed us," said A. B. Cook. "With the possible exception of Jimmy Marshall's oyster cocktails and crab a la Newberg, a fish diet invariably affects my nerves."

"Were you overtrained, Mr. Poulton?" queried the reporter. "Overtrained nothing!" replied that puck-stopping expert. "The knights never train. We generally rely on the training we get handling new candidates through the various degrees. It's quite sufficient for us, I assure you. I am unable to account for the result.

Like A. A. White, Mr. Gordon thanked his interviewer for the opportunity afforded for a public statement. "I think," said Mr. Thompson, "that this championship should be played off by five-year members. You see our third degree is a terrible strain on us, and, generally speaking it takes about four years for a full-fledged knight to get over it. It is three years since I went through it and I am still suffering from its effects."

"What we want on our team are a few married men," says Jim Carter. "How the knights expect to win otherwise is more than I can make out."

On Monday, the newly appointed general manager of the British Columbia Copper company Oscar Lachmund, paid a visit of inspection to the Rawhide mine.

From a purely social standpoint the recent dance in aid of the funds of the city band, was a decided success, although unfortunately the attendance was not at all what might reasonably have been expected. The Ironsides orchestra provided a very acceptable program of dance selections and were frequently called upon for encores. J. F. McDougal was appointed floor manager, a position in which he rendered signal service.

Vancouver and Carnegie.

Andrew Carnegie's determination to rid himself of his burdensome wealth before he dies promises to meet with a further obstacle, likely to be put in his path by the Vancouver Library Board. The board proposes to refund to the Laird of Skibo $50,000, which he gave some years ago for the erection of a library building in that city.

Vancouver's Carnegie library was erected twelve years ago, the millionaire advancing $50.000 Since that time the site has become immensely valuable through the development of the surrounding territory, and it is now proposed to sell the site and erect a more suitable building on a less valuable location. It is felt that the only way in which this may be done is by paying back to Mr. Carnegie the amount he contributed towards the building, with interest for the period the city has had it. This would free the board from any obligation to maintain the present building for all time.

There is also a deep-rooted objection held locally to the designation 'Garnegie Library.' In labor union circles there is a strong objection against the city being indebted for a public institution to a man whom they believe to be opposed to organized labor.

It is probable that a vote of the rateplayers on the proposition will be taken.

A Promising Find

F. Panvini, who returned to Prince Rupert a few days a go from the west coast of Graham Island showed the representative of the Queen Charlotte news a large piece of paraffin wax which he picked up among the rocks. The piece weighed six pounds.

The gentleman referred to is actively interested in oil propositions on the Queen Charlotte islands and is associated with some who are drilling for oil, among them the B. C. Oilfields Ltd:, whose drill is down 200ft.
