TWELFTH YEAR — PHOENIX, B.C., SATURDAY, JULY 27, 1911 — No. 36

GREAT PREPARATIONS FOR LABOR DAY

Already $1800 Has Been Raised —Ball Grounds to be Entirely Renovated.

To the credit of Phoenix it has been decided to hold a Labor Day celebration here. Phoenix has been anything but lavish in her celebrations, and it is a considerable while back since one was held in this town. Grand Forks, Greenwood, Marcus and Christina have all had their turn, and now it is up to Phoenix. Considerable support has been promised, the sum of $1800 being contributed by the business people of the town, while the Miners' Union, etc., have subscribed up to date the sum of $300 for the preparation of the ball ground, P. Clune being very active in the latter particular. A committee of the Miners' Union has been formed, and it is expected that before the end of next week a tangible programme for the day will be prepared. The most surprising thing about the affair is the whole-hearted manner in which the project has been received on all sides, and it looks reasonably certain that one of the most successful celebrations held in the Boundary is in sight.

Grand Forks Fire.

It is with regret that we hear of the disastrous fire which has depleted the business section of Grand Forks. Any disaster which affects a boundary town strikes a sympathetic chord in all the towns adjacent, and we in Phoenix sincerely feel for those who have probably suffered the loss of all they had. Especially do we regret the loss R. J. Gardner has sustained, he being an old and valued resident here for many years, only moving there about eighteen months ago. We learn that eleven establishments went up in smoke, and it was only with great difficulty and the exercise of considerable skill that the fire was prevented from spreading. The money loss was considerable, and is said to be in the neighborhood of $110,000.

All lovers of healthy, wholesome dramatic art, will welcome the "Squaw Man," Edwin Milton Royle's masterful drama of the west, which the leading dramatic reviewers have hailed as the great American play. The "Squaw Man" will be presented at the Miners' Union Hall, on Wednesday, August 3rd, with the entire production and a magnificent scenic equipment, which will be precisely the same in every detail, as presented during the phenomenal run of over one thousand performances in New York City.

A wedding which aroused considerable interest was solemnised on Tuesday, when Ellen Peterson and Frank Peterson were united in the bonds of matrimony by the Rev. Levine, Swedish minister of Rossland. The hall was tastefully decorated, and about 100 friends of the couple were present. The happy couple were the recipients of an unusal number of presents. Immediately after the ceremony the health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed, and a dance followed, with an intermission at midnight for the wedding supper. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will take up their residence in Phoenix, and the Pioneer joins in wishing them a pleasant voyage across the matrimonial sea.

Phoenix Brass Band.

Phoenix enjoys the privilege not often possessed by many western towns, of having a brass band organisation in its midst. Up to the present time this institution has not received the support it so greatly merits. The members have been to considerable personal expense in procuring the necessary music, etc., and they are a singularly enthusiastic group of music lovers, all of them being in the band solely for music's sake, and not, as is very often the case, for pecuniary gain. In view of the approaching celebration, it would be a graceful act, much appreciated by all concerned, if the city council recognised the band's existence by a monetary grant. The band intends to render another open air concert at an early date; their appearance on the streets last Saturday was favorably commented on, and the music proved a welcome break in the city's life.

B. C. COPPER CO. WINS OVER DEVELOPMENT CO.

Temporary Injunction Dismissed on Application of New Dominion Copper Co.

The ill feeling between General Development Co. interests and representatives of the British Columbia Copper company has broken out in litigation, in which the British Columbia company has drawn first blood through the dismissal of a temporary injunction secured by the General Development company interests, who sought to restrain shipments of New Dominion ores to the British Columbia smelter.

When the Dominion Copper Co. was reorganised into the New Dominion Copper Co. the General Development Co. assumed the management, and Lewishon representatives were given the positions of importance. The B. C. Copper Co., whose property lies near that of the Dominion, commenced buying stock and when a substantial amount was acquired the company was given two places on the New Dominion directorate; later these purchases resulted in actual control of New Dominion being secured by British Columbia.

The British Columbia directors on the New Dominion board sought to negotiate a contract for shipments of the latter's ore to the British Columbia smelter under terms which the General Development representatives, and also the minority interests—H. H. Melville, J. H. Sussman and one other—did not favor.

The contract, providing for the shipment of 25,000 tons, called for settlement of copper on a basis of Engineering and Mining Journal quotations less deductions of 33%. Gold and silver were to be settled at the rate of 95% of value, the former at $20 per ounce, and the latter at current market. In addition there was to be a deduction of 2¾ cents on copper to allow for certain charges, while 50 cents per ton was to be allowed for any remaining losses. The Lewisohns resigned as a result of the consummation of this contract, leaving the British Columbia with five, and the minority interests with two directors. Of the latter N. B. McKelvie has just tendered his resignation.

Mr. Melville, one of the plaintiffs, was one of the pioneers of the Dominion property in its early days, and his ownership of the company's bonds now exceeds $30,000, while the General Development Co. also has a considerable ownership.

The British Columbia smelter has in operation three of its blast furnaces which at present are handling approximately 1900 to 2000 tons of ore per day. Of this amount, roughly 700 tons is taken from the New Dominion property.

At the Napoleon mine the new cyanide plant which was put in commission April 1, is working satisfactorily. The mill at present is treating from 100 to 150 tons per day.

The Squaw Man.

The information that Geronimo, the blood-thirsty medicine man of the San Carlos Apaches was dead at Fort Sill, where he had been a prisoner of war, was hailed with delight by every resident of the southwest, who had not forgotten his last outbreak, and the months of murder, rapine and outrage which terrorised the people from Colorado to the City of Mexico. Just before this famous outbreak, Tabywan, chief of the Colorado Utes, went on the warpath for ponies, scalps, Mexican women, and any other loot which might fall in his way. On the banks of Medicine creek, Okla., laden with spoil and many captives, Tabywana came across the trail of the dreaded Geronimo. It was easy to tell from the mocassin tracks and the trail of lodge poles that the party was the hereditary foe of the Utes. Tabywana sent his captives south, and with the rest of his band trailed the "Snakes." Near Henrietta, they met Captain Lawton with a sqadron of the 7th Cavalry. The two joined forces and drove the Apaches back into the mountains of Mexico where they surrendered. Edwin Milton Royle, in drawing the character of the famous Ute chief, has done so from life, and the entire atmosphere of his western drama The Squaw Man, which Clarence Bennett is presenting, breathes the days of the vanishing west. The Squaw Man will be given at the Miners' Union Hall, on Thursday, August 3rd.

A novel spectacle was witnessed a short time ago in Seattle. A huge hammer, carried on a crepe hung truck, was drawn through the streets, followed by mourners wearing black cowl and gown, and a band playing a dirge. Reaching the public square the funeral rites were held, and the symbol of civic strife and petty quarrels placed on the pyre. The object of the ceremony was to publicly mark the end of the campaign of knocking, and to revive the old Seattle spirit.

B. C. Mining

Geo. McCready, formerly K. and S. agent at Sandon, is developing a very promising silver-lead property near Sproules. Assayer Fingland has a large number of samples for analysis.

The Monarch mine, a silver-lead property, two miles east of Field, on the main line of the C.P.R. has been re-opened. Mr. J. A. Thompson is the managing director, and H. H. Laverty is superintendent.

One car of ore from the Utica is down at the K. and S. track ready for shipment as soon as the trains are ready to run. Several more will probably be down by the time the railroad is in shape for operation.

The new bunk houses which are being built at the Rambler-Cariboo mine, and which are intended to replace the ones destroyed by fire last fall, will furnish accommodation for over 100 men, and will be of the most modern type.

The Fagan property on the south fork of Siwash creek is now opening up well, the values running from $60 to $100 per ton. The Carpenter property, which was the means of renewing interest in this locality, is expected to commence operations shortly.

Four cars of ore from the San Poil Consolidated company at Republic, treated at the Granby smelter, ran $4,000.64, or a little better than $1,000 to the car. The shipment consisted of 131.6 tons, giving a gross value of something over $31 to the ton.

A ripple of excitement has been caused near Yale by the discovery of a ledge of porphyry and quartzite having shale on one side and slate on the other. The ledge was uncovered in three places, and it is said that from 30 and 40 colors to the pan have been obtained.

The statement of the Engineering and Mining Journal of New York that the Monarch mine is the oldest in the province is incorrect, for David Douglas, a Scottish botanist, discovered the Blue Bell mine on Kootenay lake, in 1825, and in 1884 George Hearst a wealthy mining man of California erected on it an open hearth furnace and smelted some lead ore, while the Monarch mine was not discovered until 1885.

On Siwash creek six stamps are in operation, and working 18 hours per day, treating 24 tons of ore. This ore is taken from the surface of the lead in a series of open cuts, extending from wall to wall, a distance of 14 feet. Everything goes through the mill, and the total product assays on an average $7 per ton. Since the total cost of mining, tramming and milling totals $1.50 per ton, the mill is making a net saving of $100 per day. The mill is run by water power, a Pelton wheel being used.

SATURDAY, JULY 29, 1911

The Doukhobor colony at Brilliant, who have been making strenuous objection to the taking of the census, have now decided to answer the questions of the enumerator. This is not the first trouble that these peculiar people, or spirit wrestlers, as they call themselves, have caused the authorities, in fact ever since their arrival in Canada they have been a thorn in the side of the Laurier government. Their coming to this country was heralded with the sound of trumpets, they were met by the citizens of towns along the railroad and regaled with refreshments, the present administration at Ottawa did everything possible to help them, giving them seed, lumber, cattle and food to tide them over the winter. These people also introduced into Canada the delightful practice of hitching their women to a plough and using them to break the virgin prairie. It was a common sight to see eighteen women harnessed to a plough and driven by a be-whiskered patriarch, this practice is probably what induced the Dominion government to provide them with horses. However, these kindnesses appear to have been misplaced, for a few years ago one of the leaders declared he had had a revelation to the effect that the Messiah wanted to interview them, and was waiting for them at Portage La Prairie. The result was that the whole tribe was thrown into religious hysteria, turned all their stock loose, threw away their clothes, and advanced in a body on Portage. On their arrival at that unfortunate town, bootless and clothed in the airy atmosphere of Manitoba, the prophet declared he had made a slight mistake, the Messiah was in Winnipeg. The misguided bunch then moved on to Winnipeg, but they had not proceeded far when their deliverer arrived in the form of a troop of the Canadian Mounted Police, who proceeded to unceremoniously bundle them neck and crop into a special train which landed them back more dead than alive in their homes. The Laurier government, previous to their arrival in Canada had persistently delared this people's fitness for Canadian citizenship, but if this is a sample of the type of emigrants the Liberals are enamored of, then it is about time for the people of Canada to take a hand in the matter and substitute in their place a government possessed of more sense than they have apparently shown.

The report of Mr. Justice Murphy, who was appointed a commissioner to inquire into the frauds in connection with the entry of Chinese into Canada, has just been tabled at Ottawa. The judges references afford delightful reading for British Columbians who have been relying on the promises of the Laurier administration. It was naturally to be expected that the poll tax of $500 placed on Chinese entering Canada, other than merchants or students, would have reduced in no small degree the Chinese population in Canada, but quite the opposite has taken place, the method of collecting the poll tax and of determining the elegibility of those claiming exemption has been rotten in the extreme. The wily Chink has been arriving in thousands, most of them on the plea that they were merchants or students, thus escaping the payment of the $500 poll tax. It would be quite right to say that never in the history of Canadian emigration has so many merchants and college students arrived in Canada in so short a time. There has been shady work somewhere, and Justice Murphy has done his best to locate the crooked ones, but it does seem strange that the report of the commission which has named the crooked ones should have been delayed until the guilty rascals were safe home again in China.

Bush Fires—Warning.

We are requested to point out the necessity for increasing vigilance on the part of campers and others, as the conditions in the Boundary are such that should a fire originate, it will only be with the greatest difficulty that heavy loss can be prevented. The Provincial Government has a strong force of rangers out patrolling night and day, but one careless individual may cause all their efforts to count for naught.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION FIGHTS WHITE PLAGUE

Interesting Exhibit at Dominion Fair at Regina, Sask.

The Dominion Exhibition which opens in Regina at the end of this month, will give visitors an opportunity to see what the union printers have done in respect to the stamping out of the great white plague. Arrangements have been made by the Regina Typographical Union whereby a miniature exhibit will be shown of the home in Colorado replete with information as to the part being played by the men of type to alleviate the sufferings of the human race in this and other respects. The results of experiments made by the union are open to those interested in the work, and are considered by the highest and foremost medical authorities of the day to have been of inestimable value. Research work, experimental work, all have done great good, and today this home is looked upon as one of the most important factors in the fight. The hospital building at the Union Printers' Home is located just south of the main structure, covering a space of 50 x 90 feet, and is three stories in height. The experimental stage in open air treatment for tuberculosis has long since been passed. Fully 50 per cent. of the patients who have the advantage of tent life and the regenerating rays of the Colorado sun have recovered health and strength, and have been enabled to again assume business duties. There are many tent colonies in Colorado, but few can compare with the tuberculosis sanitarium at the Printers' Home. Since the original gift of Messrs. Childs and Drexel, the home has received but one endowment, that being received from the estate of Julia A. Ladd, of Shirley, Mass., and amounted to $1,045. With this one exception, the home has no endowment. Since its completion, all the expenses, including cost of maintenance, have been paid from money contributed by the members of the International Typographical Union. And so, whether it be for the bettering of conditions under which men work, or whether it be the better education of the men in their art, or whether it be the care of their sick and feeble, the union printers stand in the front rank of those looking to the assistance of mankind. In their fight against the white plague they ought to have the sympathy and practical support of every right thinking man and woman, and the exhibit, which will be opened during the fair, will give some idea of the great value and stupendous efforts put forth by the union printers in defence of their brothers for the right to live.

No man is so sharp that some one doesn't try to sit on him.

RING, BROOCH, LOCKET, EARRINGS, OR A DIAM ND STUDDED WATCH?

Prices on Diamonds have been rising for over ten years and are rising still. No man knows when they will stop rising. Yet Diamonds are sold by us at the same prices that were asked last season, because we saw how things were going and bought accordingly. We buy them direct from headquarters and save you the middleman's profit. A Diamond is about the only form of investment certain not to depreciate in value. Inspection Invited.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

The most powerful electromagnet in the world was constructed in Switzerland for the United States government.

Surgeon McMaster of the White Star liner Celtic, assisted by Dr. Roberts of New York, and Dr. Rininger of Seattle, performed an operation for appendicitis on two men passengers while the ship was in mid-ocean. The ship was slowed down while the surgeons were at work, and the patients arrived safely in England.

Bauxite brick is being used in lining reverberatory copper furnaces and also in lining lead refining furnaces. For this latter purpose they give satisfactory service, lasting much longer than silica brick, which are badly corroded by the basic oxides, and which rise to the surface as skims. It is claimed that the lining of Bauxite brick lasts five times longer than ordinary silica brick.

The deepest well in the U.S.A. is near West Elizabeth, Pennsylvania. Its bottom is 5,575 feet beneath the surface. A more remarkable well, perhaps, reaching a depth of 3,600 feet was drilled for petroleum in Western China by primitive methods, and by means of such crude appliances as a cable made of twisted strands of rattan. The deepest well in the world is in Germany and is 6,572 feet deep.

Smallpox has broken out in one of the survey parties which have been marking out the boundary line between Alaska and Yukon. J. D. Craig's outfit is convalescing from a mild attack. Fot a time it was thought that the epidemic would prove serious. It is understood that the Royal Northwest Mounted Police at Dawson sent relief to the stricken camp when a messenger brought in news of their plight.

The new national theatre in Mexico City will have an exquisite mosaic glass curtain composed of nearly one million pieces of glass. The curtain combines beauty with security against fire. The pieces of glass were inlaid one by one into a concrete composition, impervious to heat and moisture. Twenty expert workmen were employed for more than 15 months, and when finished it covered a space of 2,500 square feet, and weighed 27 tons.

Moose Jaw, is no longer dry. The local option mix-up there has been settled, with the result that five hotels in the town have again been granted licenses. It was established that many of the names on the voting list previously objected to by the temperance party were qualified voters, which left no valid reason for enforcing the by-law. The vote was taken last December, and since then there has been a never ending agitation, owing to the inconvenience the town was put to, through lack of hotel accommodation.

Fire Out, But Still Hot.

Joseph Davis, of Comox, has learned as a result of a recent invitation to appear in court, that there are occasionally two sides to a joke. Mr. Davies thought that he had a joke on the B. C. government and the forest protection department thereof. His joke arose out of the fact that he had recently set out a large fire for the purpose of clearing land, a fire which occasioned his neighbours very serious alarm, and had done so without concerning himself with obtaining a permit, as required by statutory law. Indeed he had openly boasted that he had secured no permit, and did not propose to do so. Evidence to this effect was offered before Mr. Eates, J.P., at Courtenay, and upon conviction Mr. Davis was taxed $50 and costs for burning without a permit, the minimum fine prescribed. One curious feature of the case is that although his fire is long since reduced to ashes, Mr. Davis is still hot over it.

Geological Congress.

The International Geological Congress, made up of the geological societies of the world, and which meets every three years, held its tenth session at Stockholm, Sweden, in 1910. The next meeting is to be held at Toronto, in July, 1913, when it is expected that not less than two thousand geologists will attend. At a meeting called to discuss this important event, Dr. Adams, professor of geology, M'Gill College, Montreal, was selected as president, and R. W. Brock, director of the geological survey, as secretary-treasurer, and an executive committee consisting of the two previously named gentlemen, A. P. Coleman, J. B. Tyrrell, W. G. Miller, O. E. LeRoy, W. McInnes, T. Denis, W. A. Parks and G. G. S. Lindsey was chosen. At the first meeting of the executive committee it was decided that three series of excursions should be held, one before the session in Toronto, another consisting of short daily outings during the session, and a third after the session of the congress. These trips will pretty well cover the whole of the accessible portions of the dominion. A monograph on the iron resources of the world was prepared for the Swedish congress, and it was decided that the present congress should undertake a monograph on the coal resources of the world. The work of securing and preparing the necessary material for this was delegated to a special committee consisting of the president, secretary, and Messrs. Lindsey, Dowling, McEvoy, Fergie and Dr. Bonsall Porter. This monograph will occupy two large quarto volumes, and will be printed and ready for the congress when it meets.

FROM ACT III., "SQUAW MAN" AT OPERA HOUSE, AUG. 3.

Sale of First Thought Extension

Following the sale of the First Thought mine at Orient by P. Burns for $8,000,000, as reported lately, comes the further information that the controlling interest in the First Thought extension has also been sold. Who the purchaser is cannot be definitely learned, but it is reasonably certain that Patsy Clark, the millionaire mine operator of Spokane, who with his associates recently acquired the Standard mine in the Slocan country for $2,500,000, is at the bottom of the deal.
