WAS STARTED THIS WEEK

Electric Service For Greenwood Smelter.

FURNACE BLOWERS DRIVEN THAT WAY

Converter Plant Will Probably Be in Use Some Time Next Week—Power Lines likely to be Extended to Mother Lode mine, etc.

This week electrical energy was utilized for the first time at the B. C. Copper Co.'s smelter at Greenwood, the power being used to operate the two large blowers for the two furnaces.

For months preparations have been going on to this end, and by next week all parts of the works will be entirely operated by electricity, transmitted 25 miles from Cascade, on the Kettle river, to and through the sub-station at Phoenix. All of the electrical machinery, motors, transformers, etc., have arrived and been put in place, and that part of it which is now running is working with the greatest of satisfaction to the smelter management. Something like 800-horse power will be used by the smelter.

By next week it is expected that the new converters—for blowing the waste out of the 50 per cent. copper matte, till it is about 98 or 99 per cent. fine, containing nothing but copper, gold and silver—will be placed in operation also, the machinery having already been placed in position and tested. After that the matte, instead of being sent to the Tacoma smelter for converting, as has been the case latterly, will be bessemerized right in Greenwood, as the Granby Co. does in Grand Forks, the blister copper only being shipped east for refining. This will save the company a goodly amount for freight alone. For a little time past matte has been accumulating at Greenwood, in anticipation of the starting of the two stands of converters.

It is expected that, for the present, it will not be necessary to operate the converters except in the day time. A little later when one or more furnaces are added to the capacity of the smelter, the converters will be kept busier.

Doubtless at no distant date, the B. C. Copper Co. will also use electricity as motive power at the company's Mother Lode group of mines, three miles west of Greenwood, and it follows, as a matter of course, that the Boundary Falls smelter, four miles below Greenwood, will be served the same way in due time, the cost of electrical power being less than one-third that of steam power in this section. When this is done, it will about use up the amount of power now available at the main power station at Cascade, although the works there are so arranged that the capacity can be doubled with no great expense, compared with the initial outlay.

Converter Plant.

The converter plant includes the following machinery: In powerhouse (81x40), a Nordberg blowing engine, arranged for either steam or electricity, capacity 5,000 cubic feet of air per minute, at 12 pounds pressure; a 300 horsepower Canadian General electric variable speed induction motor, with switch boards, etc.; two banks of transformers to reduce voltage from 20,000 to 2,000, and others to reduce from 2,000 to 550; a 75 kilowatt motor generating set to produce direct current at 250 volts, for driving electric crane, and trolley locomotives; an hydraulic accumulator and pump, for tilting converters, run by 25-horsepower motor.

In the converter room there are two converter stands equipped with all necessary appliances; five shells will be provided; a 30-ton, 4-motor electric travelling crane will handle matte in 5-ton ladles, which will be filled by launders connecting with furnace forehearth. The flue dust will be caught in a specially arranged steel and brick dust chambers. A spur from the main line of the C. P. R. serves the converter department of the works and no expense has been spared to make the plant up to date in every particular.

Republic and Curlew will celebrate the Fourth of July together.

CROW'S NEST DAMAGE SUITS.

Trial of Test Cases in Nelson Concluded After Many Days.

The trial of the test damage actions against the Crow's Nest Coal Co., which commenced on May 31st, was concluded Wednesday afternoon at Nelson after lasting twenty consecutive days.

The feature of the case was an attempt on the part of the plaintiffs to prove that the disaster, in which 125 men were killed at Coal Creek near Fernie, was the result of a coal dust explosion, as against the defendants' theory of a gas explosion. Eminent experts from Canada, the United States and England testified in the matter. Seven counsel were engaged, and the damages claimed amounted to over $800,000, exclusive of the costs.

The court reserved judgment, but stated that a decision would be rendered within the next few days.

Ninety-one cases will abide by the result of the decision of the court in the five test cases.

COUNCIL MOVES ONCE MORE

In the Chief of Police Matter Here.

ALSO THAT OF POLICE MAGISTRATE

Sends Resolution to Government Asking Removal of Latter, and Also to Secure Removal of Former.

At this week's regular meeting of the city council there were present Aldermen Birnie, Boyle, Delahay, McArdle and Porter, the absentees being Mayor Rumberger and Alderman Marshall. Alderman Birnie was chosen to preside in the mayor's absence. Two accounts were ordered paid, one of $7.50 to the B. C. Gazette, and one of $3.00 to Dr. G. S. Gordon.

The amendment to the liquor license by-law was read the second time and passed, and the chief of police was ordered to see that animals be kept off the streets hereafter or be impounded, and that all vehicles should also be removed from the city streets when not in use.

A communication was read from Chief of Police Flood, saying that he would not accept $80 in payment of his April salary, as ordered by the council last week, and if the council did not pay the full amount claimed, namely, $100, he should have to sue for the same. No further action was taken in the matter, and Thursday the chief went to the city clerk and secured the check for $80.

The following resolution was moved by Ald. Delahay and seconded by Ald. Porter, passed without a negative vote, and ordered sent to the government, and our member:

Whereas, five aldermen of the city of Phoenix lately resigned as a protest against certain actions of the Police Magistrate and Police Commissioners;

And, Whereas, an election has been held in the city, at which four of the aldermen who resigned stood again as candidates, and all four were returned at the head of the polls in their respective wards;

And, Whereas, of the fifty-nine persons who voted in the election no less than forty-eight appear as property owners on the last revised assessment roll of the city, a fact which makes it clear that the action of the resigning aldermen was endorsed by those who have a permanent interest in the city;

And, Whereas, it is absolutely necessary in the interest of harmony in the city that the officers who have been the source of the municipal strife should be removed;

Now, Therefore, the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the city of Phoenix respectfully requests His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Council to remove Police Magistrate W. R. Williams from office;

And Also to instruct the Police Commissioners of Phoenix to remove Chief of Police C. H. Flood from the police force of the city.

Boundary Mining Notes

The owners of the Summit claim, Summit camp, have let a contract for crosscutting from the face of the tunnel.

High grade ore strikes are reported from the Gallao, adjoining the Defiance, and on the Maple Leaf, near Greenwood.

An important find of ore was recently made in the Exchange claim, in Pass Creek camp, on the North Fork of Kettle river.

It is said that the Quilp mine at Republic will resume operations at once, with 40 or 50 men, the ore to go to the Granby smelter.

A number of deals are about to be completed for claims in Boundary's high grade belt, which is attracting more and more attention.

Some diamond drilling is being done at the Mother Lode mine, Deadwood camp, and preparations are being made for the installation of the new ore crusher.

The B. C. Copper Co. has put on a train of pack mules to take out some ore for test shipments from the Roderick Dhu in Long Lake camp. It will be placed on the cars at Eholt.

About two cars per day of Mountain Lion ore are being received by the Granby smelter from Republic. It is used for the converter linings. The Greenwood smelter is also taking some Mountain Lion ore.

Placer mining is again going on in Boundary creek, with more or less satisfactory results. Messrs. Sansom, Buchanan and Anderson are working at the mouth of Norwegian creek, a couple of miles above Midway.

The Greyhound, a well known Deadwood camp claim, was bought last Monday by A. M. Whiteside, solicitor for Wm. Price, the millionaire lumber dealer of Montreal, under judgment against the Western Copper Co., Ltd. The price was $7,000.

June 28th, next Tuesday, is the date set for the sale of the Winnipeg mine, the sale to take place at the courthouse at Greenwood, the upset price of $4,500 having been set on the property. Labor leins will be paid from the net proceeds of the sale.

It is said that the Providence mine, the leading high grade property of the Boundary, will be equipped with electrical machinery, to cost in the neighborhood of $7,000, which will be secured by Duncan McIntosh, the manager, on his trip to the east. Cascade power will be used.

Several men are now employed at the No. 37 claim, Summit camp, adjoining the Senator, under Foreman Rogers, and shipments will soon be going down to the Granby smelter at the rate of a carload of ore daily. J. B. Henderson has given the Granby Co. an option on the property.

Jay P. Graves, general manager of the Granby Consolidated, is of the opinion that the report that John D. Rockefeller if preparing to consolidate the mines of the world, originated in the mind of some person having something to sell or promote. Mr. Graves says he does not believe there is any truth in the report. It has never been suggested to the Granby people, and it would not be considered if it were.

Ballasted Brooklyn Spur.

Tuesday Foreman McGrade's C. P. R. extra gang of some 25 men, who have been spending a week, on short notice, in rendering the Brooklyn and Stemwinder spurs ready for traffic, pulled out for the new Williams spur, two miles below Hartford Junction where they are now laying the steel. This spur is being put in especially for the ore traffic from Phoenix.

TO BLOW OUT FOR REPAIRS

Granby Smelter Takes Short Rest on July 1st.

MINE TO HAVE VACATION BUT ONE DAY

At Reduction Works Four Furnaces Will be Idle Two or Three Days, and the Other Two for Perhaps a Week.

A. B. W. Hodges, superintendent of the Granby smelter, who will also assume the superintendency of the Granby mines after the first of July, succeeding W. Y. Williams in that position, spends several days in this camp each week now.

While in town this week he was asked regarding the blowing out of the smelter furnaces about the 1st of July, and stated that on the date mentioned—next week Friday—the entire battery of six furnaces and two copper converters at the company's smelter at Grand Forks would be blown out, for the purpose of general repairing, but that four furnaces would be blown in again by Sunday night, while the two remaining furnaces would not be in operation for a week or thereabouts.

It was known that the roof over two of the furnaces needed repairing, owing to the action of the intense heat on the heavy timbering that supports the corrugated iron roofing, and last week Friday a portion of this gave way, showing the need of further repairs without further delay.

It is learned that at the mines work will be discontinued but one day, next Friday, July 1st, after which it will be resumed as usual.

Railway Notes.

Something like a hundred men are now employed in the railway camps around Summit camp.

Next week Burns & Jordan will probably have a force of men grading within the city limits.

Laborers are being steadily added to the railway crews and Burns & Jordan now have about 300 men in their employ.

Laborers have been coming in steadily all the time, and most of them are put to work in some of the many grading camps.

Chief Engineer Kennedy and Right of Way Agent DesBrisay, of the V. V. & E. Railway, spent last Sunday in the city, after visiting Summit camp together on official business.

The increase of traffic into the Boundary, consequent upon railway building, has necessitated the increase of the force in the Great Northern office in Grand Forks to six men.

From the fact that contractors are really figuring on getting their work completed by October, the appearances are that trains will be running into Phoenix on the Great Northern before winter sets in for good.

A wagon road up Fourth of July creek from where the old stage road crosses the creek, to Summit camp, is now being built by the contractors to get in the supplies for the railway builders. If the grade is all right it may be used by the Royer stage line, as the hill over Boundary mountain would be avoided, even if the mileage is a little more.

This year horrors follow orch other in quick succession. The Steamer Slocum fire, near New York, with one thousand lives as the sacrifice, caps the awful climax thus far.

Even the Russians now confess that the plucky little Japs are good fighters, and well they may. According to the reports of battles fought, one Jap, when he gets his fighting clothes on, is equal to about a dozen burly, bewhiskered, boasting Russians.

Munro, the Phoenix miner, who has been following the pastime of John L. Sullivan for a year or two, seems to be having trouble in getting a bout on with Jeffries. Gentlemen with such lofty aims should not find so much difficulty in getting together in a friendly little contest of this kind.

For nearly three years this part of the Boundary has been looking forward to railway construction by the Great Northern, and it is now in progress as fast as men and money can accomplish that end. For nearly the same length of time the reopening of the big Brooklyn group of claims in this camp has also been anticipated, and it appears as though hopes in that direction would be fulfilled shortly. Patience is certainly a virtue that has its own reward.

In the early days it was never thought that the prosperity of Rossland might depend on getting ore from Boundary mines, but that seems to be the opinion at present in many quarters. The LeRoi Northport smelter needs flux and needs it badly. This can be supplied from the Snowshoe mine in Phoenix, and the building of the Great Northern will solve the difficulty so far as transportation is concerned. Rossland's prosperity, in turn, depends largely on the operation of the Northwort smelter. It is pleasant to be able to help Rossland out.

It was hardly to be expected that the government would be able to please every one in its plan for issuing those long looked for East Kootenay coal and oil licenses. It would not make any difference how it was done, there would be a class who would, metaphorically speaking, get up on their hind legs and howl. Those who are howling the loudest should remember that it is the height of absurdity to suppose that the government is trying to make enemies—that would not be good politics, in any event. The fact is that it is a knotty question any way it is looked at, and mighty good men differ on it.

WHAT EDITORS SAY

COLD COMFORT—Hewitt Bostock has received the senatoral plum and now there is all kinds of sympathy being handed out to G. O. Buchanan and Dr. Sinclair by the opposition.—Cranbrook Herald.

PROOF OF WISDOM—The fact that there is to be no summer session of the local legislature is no doubt a vast saving of expense to the province and is a further proof of the wisdom and statesmanship of the lieutenant-governor.—Grand Forks News-Gazette.

A despatch to the Daily News from Greenwood says that at a recent high school entrance examination some of the pupils in reply to the question of "Who is the present representative in the Dominion House for this riding?" replied, "Duncan Ross, of Greenwood." This must not be construed into ignorance of Mr. Galliher's existence, but as an imbibing of advanced teachings on the local situation.—Kamloops Sentinel.

B. C. MINING

The St. Eugene now has 300 men employed.

British Columbia produced in 1903, 1,482,000 tons of coal.

Five concentrator mills are now in operation around Sandon.

The first year of the government lead bounty expires June 30th.

The Nettie L. mill, in the Lardeau, has turned out its first bar of gold bullion.

Rossland ore shipments last week were 5,112 tons, or 172,288 tons for the year to date.

Up to the end of May over $120,000 in lead bounty was earned by Kootenay mines.

The Monitor people assert that work on their zinc works at Rosebery will be started next month.

British Columbia gold, lead and copper ores are fully represented at the St. Louis Exposition.

The new crosscut in the Rambler-Cariboo, in the Slocan, will give 1400 feet depth on the vein from the apex.

Preliminary runs of the Rossland Power Co.'s new 200 ton concentrator show the machinery to be in satisfactory condition.

A second zinc mill with English capital behind it is reported as getting ready to build a plant near New Denver.

Wm. Hunter, Silverton, will extensively work the McAllister group, on the north fork of Carpenter, this season. New quarters will be built.

Chas. Sweeney states his company will build a smelter at Myersville, capable of handling the entire output of all the silver-lead mines in East Kootenay.

The Northport smelter bottoms sent to Tacoma, estimated by J. H. Mackenzie at about $85,000, realized $100,000. The smelter will be blown out about August 1st, it is stated.

World Wide Mining

The output from the Cripple Creek district for the month of May amounted to $1,901,800.

At Stockton, Utah, the Honerine drainage tunnel has been driven more than 6,000 feet from the portal, and work still progresses in this great enterprise.

The Tacoma smelter has given out a statement of its year's business. Imports were; Ore, $4,523,816.50; lime and limestone, $21,191.78; merchandise, $30,899.84. Exports of furnace products, $4,619,167.51.

The total value of metallic minerals for 1903 of Ontario was $5,165,000, and non-metallic, $7,632,644. The number engaged in the production was; Metallic, 2,936; earning in wages, $1,583,361; non-metallic, 7,652 earning in wages, $2,617,012.

Only three or four feet of water now remain in the lower workings of the Elkhorn mine, Cripple Creek, the water having been lowered 80 feet since the drainage tunnel was completed. It is estimated that 6,900 gallons per minute are pouring through the drainage tunnel at this time.

Triumphs of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced; pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It always allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering which such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

The Future of B. C.

Prof. Macoun has made the following important statement respecting the future of British Columbia:

"As the years roll on and our possessions become developed, the value of this second Britain will come so vividly before the people that men will ask with astonishment why such ignorance of British Columbia prevailed in the past. Today there are 400 miles of coast line clothed with a forest growth superior to anything else in the world at present. It's shores indented with multitudes of harbors, bays and inlets, teeming with myriads of fish, its rocks and sands containing gold, iron, silver, coal and various other minerals. And besides all this a climate superior to England in every respect, both as regards heat and moisture, and yet men will ask, what is it worth? I answer, 'Worth more than Quebec and all the maritime provinces thrown in.' And sceptics may rest assured that the day is not far distant when my words will be accepted as truth."

Fools Use Washes and Snuffs.

Thinking perhaps they will cure catarrh,—but no one ever heard of a genuine cure following such senseless treatment. There is just one prompt and thorough cure for catarrh and that is fragrant healing Catarrhozone which goes right to the root of the trouble. It destroys the germs, heals the inflamed membranes and cures any case no matter how obstinate or long standing. "I experimented for years with Catarrh remedies, but found Catarrhozone the most rational and satisfactory," writes W. J. MacEachern of Waterville. "It cured me for all time." For a sure cure use only Catarrhozone. Complete outfit $1.00; trial size 25c.

A Ghostly Game of Chess.

"The International Hall of the Cafe Monico is a truly palatial chamber, ever so many feet broad by ever so many more feet long. On the evenings of Friday and Saturday of last week," says London "Outlook," "it was divided by a barrier into two unequal parts. In the smaller sat, each at his board, the British chess-players competing against the American chess-players—who were not there. Through the larger roamed a selection of the chess public. . . . Inside the barrier, and next it, sat Mr. James Mason at a chess-board, facing us. We seem to have known Mr. Mason as a fine player these—well, say twenty years. On this occasion he is opposing Mr. J. W. Barry of America—who is not here; Mr. Barry is sitting in a room in Brooklyn three thousand miles away, under the eyes of American spectators. It is easy to say that the two men are connected by electric telegraph; but it is not wise to dispose of the mystery and romance of space in so rude a way. . . . But Mr. Mason, in this grand International Hall, seated opposite nothing better than a man with a book of telegraph forms who waits unconcernedly for the move, can he play thus dumbly and in absence against Mr. Barry in Brooklyn and think it chess? It is a very ghostly business, and we wonder Mr. Mason can get through with it at all. But he does. He is as solemn, as rapt in thought, as oblivious of all but the game as if Mr. Barry were opposite to him in the flesh, and not opposed to him only by electric telegraph. Clearly to him the play is everything, whether the opponent's move comes to him by actual touch, by telegraph, or by psychic suggestion. But for our part we cannot throw off a dread of the uncanny nature of the business. We feel inclined to look about for some manifestation of Mr. American Barry's spirit. What better evidence of it could we have than the arrangement of these wooden pieces on that wooden board? There is Mr. Barry—most effectually Mr. Barry, for he is causing Mr. Mason to think, and think, and think; to purse his lips in the old familiar way, to fall into immovable silences, wherein you would think he was revolving schemes of a new order of creation or puzzling out the mystery of man's origin and destiny; and Mr. Mason is doing the like to him in far Brooklyn. A strange and fascinating pursuit is chess, strange and unprofitable. Not politics, nor fame, nor wealth, nor love can so engross a man. These objects are usually compassed by flashes of passion, insight, and daring; but this slow, prolonged struggle of brain against brain, through the medium of pieces of fantastically carved wood, is pure devotion to an abstraction. The man who wins, who so hems in the piece of wood called a king that he may not move, gains nothing, proves nothing, establishes nothing but—"checkmate." Yet when he accomplishes that he tastes of a satisfaction deeper and more permanent than is accorded to statesman or lover, merchant or gambler. To accomplish it he deliberately, and for very love of the doing of it, undertakes an enormous mental effort, a thing which mankind in general shuns as if it were Satan himself. Truly a most mystical business this chess. In Paradise you will find politicians reading poetry, and poets studying morals; merchants will be cultivating the arts, and critics weeping on other people's necks; but the chess-players will be playing chess.

Dispensing With Early Rising.

Some genius has, according to his own advertisement, invented an apparatus to dispense with getting up so early in winter time to set the kettle boiling. As far as we understand it, you fix the new invention on your clock, and at the hour required it starts a fire under a kettle of water. As soon as the water boils a bell rings, and you wake up. This is not the sort of thing that takes the cake; it simply grabs it.

We once saw a remarkable invention of this nature in Sheffield. It consisted of a small, but powerfully built bedstead which had an ingenious clockwork arrangement attached, as you would expect, to the ticking of the matiress. In the morning a phonograph got up from under the bed, walked round to your side, and announced it was seven o'clock. After giving you two minutes to reply, one of the hands of the clock reached up and pulled your ear playfully. These were just preliminaries so to speak. If you didn't move then, the patent bed began business. It got up on its hind legs and ran downstairs with you inside it till it got to the garden, where you were shot into a modest little heap under the pump. By a clever arrangement of the process of suction you were drawn up to the mouth and a refreshing stream of cold water crawled down your back. If this didn't wake you, you had to wait for Gabriel's trumpet.

As a matter of fact, the inventor explained, it did wake most people. But in case you were too sleepy to collect your thoughts into fitting shape, by pressing a little knob in one of the blankets, a second phonograph would grind out a little appropriate profanity to ease your feelings. The invention is patented; and when it is put on the market it will beat all the spring mattresses going, as it does for summer, autumn and winter as well.—"Pick-Me-Up."

An "Infernal" Dinner.

A tiny girl of seven gave a dinner-party the other day, for which twelve covers were laid, and that number of small maidens sat down to dine. It was a real little girls' dinner, and the little hostess herself presided, sitting at the head of the table. She had been very anxious, in looking forward to it, to do everything as it should be done. "Mamma," she asked, "shall we say grace?" "No," said mamma; "it will be a very informal dinner, and I think you need not do that." That meant one ceremony the less to be gone through, and was a relief. But the little lady was anxious to have all her guests understand it. So, as they gathered about the table, she explained: "Mamma says that this is such an infernal dinner that we need not have grace to-day!"

Sued by His Doctor.

"A doctor here has sued me for $12.50, which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Coachella, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used as I had good reason to believe it was, and he would not say under oath that it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this in a case of cholera morbus, it never fails. Sold by all druggists.

THE OBSERVATORY

THINGS TALKED OF AT HOME AND ELSEWHERE

Editor Ross, of the Greenwood Times, last week said some pretty plain things about G. A. Fraser, M. P. P. for Grand Forks riding, and accused him of controlling the board of license commissioners for Boundary Creek License District for his own private ends, for momentary considerations. If Mr. Fraser has been doing this, and the Times knows of specific cases, that paper might get a lot of advertising by citing a few cases in point. But, of course, it must be remembered that Editor Ross is Liberal, while Mr. Fraser is a Conservative, and allowance be made accordingly. It seems quite evident that some one has applied for a license who has been turned down for what the board thought good and sufficient reasons.

***

As a rule, license commissioners use a good deal of discretion in the granting of licenses, and it is perhaps as well that they should. If they err, it is generally on the side of the applicant, and not to the contrary. This, of course, brings in a greater revenue for the government. Mighty few holders of liquor licenses, whether in or outside of incorporated towns in the Boundary, have any real grievance against the license commissioners, and this state of affairs obtains, we have no doubt, in other parts of the province.

***

Last week the Nelson News printed a well merited leading editorial regarding Wm. Yolen Williams, who is about to give up the superintendency of the Granby mines. The Greenwood Times also had one to same effect, which it is a pleasure to produce here in full, as follows:

"The retirement of W. Yolen Williams from the active management of the Granby mines will be learned with regret by those interested in the Boundary. The Boundary district, as well as the company with which he was directly interested, owe much to Mr. Williams. Much depended upon the successful development of these great mines. A smaller man might have precipitated labor troubles, involved his company in expensive litigation or encouraged numerous other difficulties that militate against success in a new mining camp. The Granby mines have been developed until the company owning them is on a paying basis. Its success has done more than anything else to establish the permanency of the camp, and Mr. Williams has contributed much towards that result.

In these days of labor strife, the big superintendent of the Granby company was an object lesson to those who needlessly create strife and discord. He could easily have made trouble in Phoenix, but by the exercise of tact, good judgment and firmness he succeeded in making the biggest mine in the world, securing the hearty appreciation of his company and the confidence and respect of his men.

***

It has been a theory among the members of the fourth estate that a newspaper could no more suspend publication for a time and resume successfully than a man could stop breathing for a week or two and begin again. But the Ferguson Eagle proposes to show the fallacy of the theory, evidently. After experiencing inanition for several weeks, it has once more spread its wings, this time with a new editor, E. G. Woodward having relinquished the quill to J. J. Atherton.

***

It has been announced that $100,000,000 of preferred stock has been authorized by the directors of the Southern Pacific to carry 7 per cent. dividends, $40,000,000 to be issued immediately. This, it is said, will place the Southern Pacific out of debt but recalls the case of the man who, after signing a promissory note for an obligation, remarked, "Thank God, that debt is paid."

***

Four men went camping. It was agreed that one of them should act as cook until somebody kicked on the grub, when the kicker should do the cooking. One man cooked for three days, and wearied of good works. He concluded that he would force somebody to kick, for a kick meant a new cook. Accordingly he baked a pie, the principal ingredients of which were pieces of an old gum boot and shavings. When the pie was served, one of the party crunched his teeth on a piece of gum boot, and swore vehemently. "This is the d—dest pie I ever ate!" he ejaculated, "but," hastily, "I like it; I like it!"

"Weakness has filled many months of my life with suffering. Through carelessness I caught a severe cold two years ago which settled in catarrh and seriously interfered with the regular functions of the body, and made me nervous and irritable. I began taking Peruna and found in it a faithful helper, as it enriched my blood and invigorated the whole system. I have no pains now and am always well."

Female weakness is generally dependent upon catarrh of the pelvic organs. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.
