HON. J. ISRAEL TARTE DISMISSED.

His Resignation Demanded by Laurier.—His Recent Tariff Speech a Breach of Party Faith.

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—Tarte is no longer a member of Laurier's cabinet. The following letters, which have passed between the premier and the minister of public works, fully explain the matter. Premier Laurier writes to Tarte today as follows:

"My dear Mr. Tarte.—After having seen you on Sunday last and having expressed to you my well settled opinion upon the consequences of your recent attitude, my first duty was to wait upon the governor-general to inform him that I was obliged to demand the resignation of your portfolio. After having seen his excellency, I had to acquaint my colleagues of the interview which I had with you.

In accepting your resignation it is well to emphasize the points of difference between us. During my absence in Europe, without any communication with me, and without any previous understanding with your colleagues, you began an active campaign in favor of the immediate revision of the tariff in the direction of high protection. I regret having been obliged to observe to you that this attitude on your part constitutes a self-evident violation of your duty towards the government of which you were a member.

I repeat to you here what I told you on Sunday, I do not wish to discuss at this moment the economic theory of which you have made yourself the champion. This question, however important it might be is subordinate to one still more important. If you had reached the conclusion that the interests of the country demanded without delay an increase of custom duties, the first thing for you to do as a member of the government, before addressing your views to the public, would have been to place them before your colleagues, with the object of obtaining the unanimous action of the cabinet, which is the foundation of responsible government.

If you had not been able to obtain from your colleagues their assent to the course you recommend, you would have been obliged then either to accept their views, or to sever your connection with them, and then for the first time you would have been free to place your views before the public. Such was the simple course which was binding upon you, but to remain a member of the government and advocate a policy which has not yet been adopted, was an impediment to the proper working of our constitutional system, and implies a disregard for that loyalty which all those who are members of the same administration owe to one another and have a right to expect from each other.

I thank you for the good wishes which you have expressed for improvement of my health, and I will make it my duty to convey to your old colleagues those that you formulate for their welfare and happiness. Believe me, yours very sincerely, (Signed), Wilfrid Laurier.

The above letter was written in reply to the following from Toronto.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 20th. To the Right Honorable Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Prime Minister, Ottawa:

"My dear Sir Wilfrid—I feel it my duty to place my resignation in your hands, and ask you to be good enough to have it accepted by the governor-general.

In the interview which I had with you, you expressed the opinion that I should not have spoken on the tariff as I have done, that the government had as yet not come to any definite understanding on their fiscal policy for the future, etc.

Market Conditions.

Favorable symptoms predominate, and the mining outlook is encouraging despite an adverse lead market.

Weather conditions were exceptionally favorable during the past week.

The problem of adequate transportation is also disturbing and there is already congestion among smelters in the Kootenays.

Trade conditions continue favorable as a whole.

Fall trading is generally active

Return from a Prospecting Trip.

O. J. Johnson returned from a two-month's prospecting trip in the country about the head of Hellroaring and Perry creeks. Mr. Johnson does not report having made any extraordinary strikes, but says that he saw many interesting things, and that he made several locations, and that he believes there will be some interesting developments up that way.

While up there he had his camp at the Roaring King group and assisted in getting quarters fixed up and work started. He reports that the supplies sent up reached there all right, and that the men at camp had cabin built and work commenced on tunnel when he left.

Mr. Johnson has great faith in that section and intends to return in the spring and give his attention to the development of the claims he has located.

General reports from the mining camps of the district are promising.

LONDON WELCOMES KING EDWARD.

Most Brilliant Street Pageant Londoners Have Seen Since the Diamond Jubilee.

Special to THE PROSPECTOR.

London, Oct. 25.—The royal progress through the streets of London, which was to have been one of the great spectacular features of Coronation week, but which was abandoned for the time being because of King Edwards illness, took place today and proved to be the most brilliant street pageant Londoners have seen since the Diamond Jubilee. It was scarcely forty-eight hours ago that the people awakened to a realization of the fact that the affair was to be a state procession in all its grandeur and not a mere drive of the royal family through the metropolis. Public buildings and business houses began to blossom out in holiday attire, grandstands were hastily erected at points of vantage and in many instances the original plans for the Coronation pageant were fully carried out.

It was nearly 11 o'clock when the booming of cannon from an artillery detachment stationed in St. James Park, immediately in the rear of Buckingham Palace, announced to the assembled thousands that their Majesties had entered their carriage and that the royal procession was prepared to move. The state carriage in which their Majesties rode, and which was a veritable dream in artistic gold and blue enamelling, was drawn by eight cream colored horses, with outriders in uniforms of scarlet and gold. Trumpeters in magnificent uniforms and mounted upon black chargers cleared the way for the procession. Behind the trumpeters galloped a squad of the Household Cavalry. Then came eight carriages, containing members of the royal family. Included among the number were Princess Beatrice, the Duke and Duchess of Argyll, the Duke of Connaught, Princess Victoria, Prince and Princess Christian, the Duchess of Albany and the venerable Duke of Cambridge. Immediately proceeding their Majesties were the Prince and Princess of Wales and Prince and Princess Charles of Denmark.

The route from Buckingham Palace to Guildhall was through the Mall, Marlborough yard, Pall Mall, Trefalgar Square, Duncannon Street, the Strand, Temple Bar, Fleet Street, St. Paul's Churchyard, Cheapside and King Street. The entire route was lined with troop reinforced by the Metropolitan Police and at the important street intersections there, with military bands which played the national anthem as the procession went past. Back of the troops were the spectators, a veritable sea of faces, men, women and children, enthusiastic almost to wildness, and uncomplainingly standing on tiptoe to see over the bearskin hats of the Foot Guards, who lined the curbs on both sides of the street.

Never before, probably, had a British sovereign, received such a genuinely enthusiastic greeting. The cheering started at the moment the King descended the steps of the palace, and it could still be heard long after the royal party had passed within the portals of Guildhall. It was a popular reception in every sense of the word. Myriads of dainty white handkerchiefs fluttered in the air on either side of the street and seemed to keep time with the hoarse cheering of the masculine element, while children tossed out nosegays and baskets of loose flowers.

As a military pageant the procession was well worth seeing, every branch of the two services was represented and seldom have the people had an opportunity of witnessing such a large and representative turnout of military forces. In addition to the detachments of soldiers there were a number of squads of sailors and marines from the Terrible and other battleships and all along the route the jackies were greeted with the wildest applause.

Arriving at Guildhall their Majesties were received by Lord Mayor Dimsdale and the Aldermen. The royal party entered through the Gresham Street entrance and after a formal address by the Lord Mayor the party passed into the Great Hall. The arrival was witnessed by a crowd of several hundred notables occupying seats in a pavilion especially erected for the occasion in the Guildhall yard. Several of the spacious rooms in the ancient edifice were fitted up as retiring rooms for the King and Queen and their respective suites. The municipal dinner was carried out in full accordance with the plans which were originally carried to a forward stage when the Coronation festivities were postponed. Their Majesties and the other members of the royal family occupied seats at a table on a dias at the northern end of the great banqueting hall. The company present numbered between seven and eight hundred and included besides the officials of the city of London, the heads of the various London guilds, members of parliament and other persons of distinction.

At the conclusion of the function, which lasted from 1 o'clock until a quarter past two, the royal procession was reformed and the start back to Buckingham Palace was begun. The scenes attending the progress on the return journey were characterized by the same enthusiastic demonstrations witnessed in the forenoon. Especially elaborate were the decorations in the Southwark section, where arches had been erected and the facades of business houses and dwellings pursuant to the original Coronation plans. Near the end of the route when the royal carriage turned into Whitehall Street, a thousand or more members of the Stock Exchange, who occupied a special stand, sang "Rule Britannia" with telling effect.

Late in the afternoon an official bulletin was issued stating that their Majesties had stood the fatigues of the day unusually well and that the entire royal family would attend the Coronation thanksgiving service in St. Paul's tomorrow.

Provincial Tax Sale.

The Provincial tax sale held at the Court House in Fort Steele was a success looking from the government side of the question. A small number of purchasers were present.

There were no lots offered for sale in Fernie or Fort Steele.

Seven lots were sold in Westport, twelve in Moyie, 48 in Wardner, 68 in Cranbrook and two in Kimberley. No bids being offered for remaining lots advertised.

Messrs. Robinson and Clapp of Cranbrook were the largest purchasers. Everything in Cranbrook and Wardner was snapped up quick. Kimberley lots were slow, and pre-emption market was overstocked, and there is some left for the next sale which will take place in January.

GOLDEN PERRY CREEK.

East Kootenay Placer Company Will Put in a Steam Shovel.

For many years there has been a strong feeling among the old time placer miners of Southeast Kootenay that the deep ground on Perry creek contained gold in paying quantities. Nearly forty years ago, a number of attempts were made to reach bed-rock by means of shafts, the remains of which are still to be seen. The cause of failure invariably was inability to cope with the water with the crude facilities then available.

The East Kootenay Placer Company, recently organized, is now engaged on one of the largest deep ground undertakings in Southeast Kootenay. This company have acquired several miles of placer ground on Perry Creek, which has been successfully prospected, and found to warrant the installation of a large and modern plant, ditches, flumes, etc., and there is every reason to anticipate a most successful issue to this enterprise, and should it realize the hopes and anticipations of those directly concerned, and of the residents of the district, it will doubtless give a strong impetus to placer mining.

The property of the company consists of six leases of placer ground on Perry creek aggregating three miles in length by 500 feet wide. The deposits included in the company's property vary from 20 to 70 feet in depth from surface to bed-rock. The amount of gravel which is available for washing has been estimated at over a million cubic yards, and is expected to yield a return of from $1 to $5 to the superficial yard.

The company is still engaged in exploratory work preparatory to the installing of a large steam shovel, or dredge, which is now on its way to Perry creek, and is expected to be ready for operation in two or three weeks. A force of men are employed in clearing the ground. A ditch of one-half mile, and a flume 6,054 feet in length is under construction.

In order to expediate the delivery of the steam shovel the company, with the assistance of the Provincial Government, has built ——miles of a wagon road, making through connection with their camp.

Immediately upon the installation of this plant, work will be commenced and pushed to completion with all possible speed. Those interested are to be congratulated in having, as a result of their persistent efforts, what gives every promise of being a very profitable property.

THOMPSON OUTFIT.

What is known as the Thompson Outfit, a purely local company, have been engaged in deep mining on Perry creek for several years, and have installed a complete and powerful plant of pumping and hoisting machinery, and nothing stands in the way of the successful operating of the ground. Work will commence in a few days, and will be actively carried on during the coming winter.

Morrissey Mines Closed.

The Morrissey mines of the Crow's Nest Coal Company, have been closed down owing to a disagreement between the operators and the men.

A third furnace was blown in at the Granby smelter on Friday Coke is now coming freely.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1902

IT is predicted that Kootenay will within a very short time have a greater measure of prosperity than it ever had. Over a million tons of ore will be mined during 1902 in the various mining camps of the Kootenays. Smelters are in operation at Nelson, Grand Forks, Trail, Greenwood and Boundary Falls.

To confine our remarks to the mineral resources of East Kootenay alone, what a rich and extensive field we have; no district in British Columbia compares with it. Every mineral found in other districts of the Province are found in East Kootenay. In this district we have not begun to develop the enormous deposits of gold, silver, lead, copper, iron, coal and oil. What we need more than anything else in this district, if we would develop to the fullest extent the immense wealth of our gold, silver, iron and copper deposits, is the establishment of smelters in suitable and convenient mining centres. Every one of these establishments when placed in locations convenient to fuel, ores and fluxes, with adequate and cheap transportation facilities, would pay large dividends.

"The mining industry of British Columbia has paid more dividends, compared with other industries, than any other business."

The average daily tonnage of East Kootenay can be readily figured at not less than 1,000 tons. The big silver-lead mines of the district have curtailed shipments at present, awaiting a change in the existing conditions of the lead market.

It is quite unnecessary to point out the vast and ever increasing mineral development now going on in the Fort Steele and Windermere mining divisions. Also the favorable conditions for the location of a smelter at some point in the Kootenay valley. But the most important feature of a smelting plant is its location in respect to supplies of ores, fluxes, and general facilities for transportation. The Crow's Nest railway, and the Kootenay Central railway, when completed, will serve a large mineral producing district.

From its natural adaptability the Kootenay valley has a decided advantage over many other points as a location for a smelter, it would be situated in a beautiful valley in close proximity to an abundant supply of coal and coke, immense deposits of lead, copper and iron ores, fluxing ores containing fair values, water power is also available, as the Elk and Bull Rivers, which drain the western slope of the Rockies, never run dry, and the navigable Kootenay passes through the entire valley north and south.

The demand for more sulphide smelters in the Kootenay has become a serious question with the mining industry on account of the largely increased production. Capitalists, at the present time who are seeking great opportunities, should look into and investigate the chances which presents themselves for investment in the Kootenay valley.

It is an undisputed fact that some of the best mining properties in Southeast Kootenay are tributary to Fort Steele.

Hon. J. Israel Tarte Dismissed.

I shall not discuss with you at the present time as to whether I was right or wrong in the course I followed. You are the leader of the government and your opinion as far as my attitude is involved, must prevail. You told me that my utterances are causing you trouble. I have no right, and no desire to be a source of embarrassment to you, or to the party with which I have been connected with since 1892. My views on the tariff are well known to you. I have on several occasions stated them publicly in your presence and discussed them often privately with you.

Entertaining the opinion that the interests of the Canadian people make it our duty to revise without delay the tariff of 1897, with the view of giving a more adequate protection to our industries, to our farming community, and to our workingmen, I cannot possibly remain silent. I prefer my freedom of action and speech under the circumstances, even to the great honor of being your colleague.

Before severing my official relations with you, allow me to express my sincerest hope that you will soon be restored to your health of former days. You would greatly oblige me by conveying to my colleagues my best wishes for their welfare and their happiness. My personal relations with most of them have been of a pleasant and cordial nature. I hope that they will continue to be the same in the future.

Believe me, my dear Sir Wilfrid, very sincerely yours,

(Signed) J. ISRAEL TARTE.

Tarte's Next Move.

There is much curiosity regarding Mr. Tarte's future actions, and allegations are freely made that he has the support of manufacturers who encourage the suggestion of a possible alliance with others on a high tariff programme.

Wonderful Value.

Any person who thinks he is not getting a dollar's worth with the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal, this season, would be hard to satisfy. Their two pictures, "Purity," and "Alone," are gems. As to which will prove the most popular it would be difficult to decide. "Purity" will certainly have a large support from an artistic point of view, and it deserves it. It is a style of art most popular in Europe and America to-day. But the other picture, "Alone," is one that will hold the attention of all observers. Pleasing and sad at the same time, one cannot forget it. A record-breaking business is predicted for the Family Herald this season.
