SUDDEN DEATH

The sudden death of Felix Faure, President of the French Republic, will undoubtedly cast a gloom over that nation.

Carnot ran along pleasantly enough for a few years,—he was an aristocrat of the old school and grandson of the great Carnot of revolutionary days.

Now comes Felix Faure, who has been steering the rickety ship of state with fine judgment through squalls and storms innumerable, stricken down in the prime of his manhood by a stroke of apoplexy.

A RUSSIAN ROMANCE

St. Petersburg, February 13.—At a ball given by one of the leading members of the aristocracy it was discovered that the young lady in whose honor the ball was given was a sufferer from leprosy.

of St. Petersburg to a brilliant celebration of his daughter's birthday. She had just reached her eighteenth year.

Dr. Bokowitz asked her for a walk, but to her astonishment, however, her partner did not move from his seat beside her when the waltz began.

Dr. Bokowitz at once counselled her not to remain another moment in the ball room, but to retire to her room at once.

AN ACCIDENTAL CHESTERFIELD

"You can talk about the superiority of eastern courtesy over that of the 'Rowdy West,' as you people enjoy calling it," said Alkali Ike.

"I was sittin' on the box with the driver, old Whoop Sladdock, an' we were sittin' along at Whoop's usual clip."

"Driver!"
"Mom?" says Whoop, pullin' down the mules.

"Does your friend swear, too?"
"Yes, mom," says he, handin' me the lines an' gettin' down.

"Why, shorely, mom?" says Whoop lookin' mighty relieved.

"Why, ha, ha!" grinned the drummer,—when the coach gave that fearful jolt a few minutes ago my head was frightfully bumped against the roof.

"But, my good man—" says the drummer.
"Looky yore, you blanked east!" broke in Whoop, bristlin' up.

blanked tract and read every blasted word of it, or I'll ram it down your overlastin'ly condemned throat—rippity-sizzledy—blankity-blank! you!

RETURNED KLONDIKERS

From The Calgary Herald
Maurice T. Willard, of Chicago, passed through on his way to Great Slave Lake last week to investigate the recent sensational gold finds.

There were 34 in the party and today they are rich beyond the dreams of avarice. The title of this combination was the Yukon Valley Prospecting and Mining Company, and their leader was W. J. McLean.

They found themselves floating on the bosom of the Great Slave river. Here Maclean, the guide, met an old Indian acquaintance whom he had befriended many days by.
