PEACE RUMORS NOT CONFIRMED

Preparations Continue for the Despatch of Troops to South Africa for the Winter Campaign.

A summons has been issued for a British cabinet meeting today. This has started a fresh crop of peace rumors, but up to midnight the British government had no information concerning the matter. Preparations continue for the despatch of 20,000 additional troops for the winter campaign.

A large number of the officers of the third Royal Canadian, doing duty at Halifax, have volunteered for the fourth Canadian contingent.

A vote of want of confidence in the Dunsuir government was voted down on Thursday by 18 to 16.

The statement that Mr. Kruger is very seriously ill is denied.

Five of the sheriff's posse were killed, and two wounded, whilst capturing the desperado Jim Wright, at Jonesboro, Texas.

Dr. Talmage had been unconscious for 48 hours at 4 o'clock yesterday, and up to midnight there was no marked change in his condition.

The rioters at Ning Po dispersed on the arrival there of two German gunboats.

The British budget will likely be introduced on Monday. It is said that duties will be placed on flour, wheat and petroleum.

Ten battalions of English and Scotch militia have been sent to Ireland within the last month to apply the Coercion Act and suppress the United Irish League.

Governor Dockery, of Missouri, refused to open his door for a messenger boy with a telegram from the district attorney, recommending a reprieve for a negro sentenced to be hanged for murder, as the evidence showed that he may have acted in self defence. No reply to the message was received up to the hour for the hanging but 35 minutes after the drop fell the sheriff received a message from the Governor granting a reprieve of 15 days.

Lord Mount Stephen has given $30,000 to the Royal Infirmary at Aberdeen.

AROUND THE RAILWAY YARD

Personal Paragraphs Pertaining to Railway Men Picked up By the Herald Man on His Daily Rounds.

Engineer Jos. Callin was taken to the Kamloops hospital on Wednesday.

Gen. Supt. Marpole went through on his way home to Vancouver from the old country on Thursday's train.

Thos. Gillespie will represent the Revelstoke division No. 1 of the B. C. T. of A. at the labor convention at Kamloops next week.

Pte. W. Peters of the Cranbrook contingent of the C. M. R., who was among the killed at Hart's river, left his job as fireman on the Crow to enlist.

A deputation of C. P. R. agents from points on the Western division were in Winnipeg to wait on the company's officials to ask for a revision of the wage schedule. It is understood that they want their hours definitely specified and will ask for wages on the basis of so much per hour's work.

There has been a general change around of the chief officers of the C. P. R. like steamers lately. The changes up to the present are Captain W. P. Short, of the Kootenay, transferred to the Yukon service; Captain Fraser, of the Kootenay, transferred to the Kamloops; Captain A. McLennan of the Nelson to the Slokan; Captain McKinnon, first officer on the Moyie, to be captain on the Nelson.

A coroner's jury enquired last week into the death of John Warner, of London, the G. T. R. brakeman who was crushed by falling from the ladder of a moving freight car in the yards at Woodstock. The evidence showed that the top rung of the ladder pulled out and it was that which caused Warner to fall. The jury brought in a verdict censuring the railway company for negligence in allowing a car with a defective ladder to be in use, endangering the lives of its employees.

"Despite the statement of a clerk in an official office," said a C. P. R. conductor to the Toronto Telegram. "There is trouble ahead for the company if it continues to treat their conductors in the manner they have been doing. Why there is no other road in existence that would attempt to have their auditors board a train and in the presence of the passengers demand the conductors punch and tickets. The affair is of such a character that no local or general superintendent can deal with it. It must be settled at headquarters."

As the trial of the officers of the Trackmen's union, Messrs. Wilson, Stout and Lennan, had been indefinitely postponed, at the opening of the King's bench in Montreal on Monday, counsel for the accused made a motion which was granted by Justice Warteke, asking that the bondsmen in the case be released and prosecution ordered to give reasonable notice when they wished the case to come up. It is generally believed by the parties interested in the case that no further action will be taken by the prosecution. The charge was based on alleged libelous statements made against Montgomery, the committeeman who left that body soon after the strike occurred last summer and returned to work.

The Northern Pacific's "North Coast Limited" train it is said, will be put into service shortly after May 1. The new equipment will consist of 20 sleeping cars, 10 for tourist service of the most modern design, 20 first class coaches, four new dining cars and six new 70 foot baggage cars. Mahogany finish is to be used throughout in all the cars and the sleepers are among the finest on any line in America. One of the conveniences of the new sleeping cars will be increased dressing room space. Besides the new rolling stock a considerable increase is also to be made in the motive power of the company, large locomotives for the fast runs being in course of construction and will be ready for delivery before May 1.

A freight train on the Crow's Nest railway was wrecked Sunday afternoon just west of Warden. A freight train with two locomotives, west bound, ran over a cow. The first locomotive was not derailed, but the second was and also four of the freight cars, loaded with merchandise. The fireman was badly injured. The engineer caught hold of the hood of the cab as the locomotive turned over and escaped with a few slight bruises. The brakeman kept running backward as the cars left the rails and saved himself from being hurt as the rear cars were not thrown from the track. It was not until 4 o'clock on Monday morning that the wreck was cleared up so that the west bound passenger could pass. The wrecked cars were burned as they were smashed beyond further usefulness while the locomotive was on its back with its wheels in the air.

CORONER'S INVESTIGATION

Inquest into the Death of Fred. Turnross in the Hay Loft of the Farm Last Monday Night.

The inquest into the death of Brose Oscar Ferdinand Turnross was held in No. 2 fire hall on Wednesday afternoon by Dr. Cross, coroner. The following were the jury: C. F. Lindmark, F. B. Lewis, F. McCarty, R. S. Wilson, A. E. Kincaid and C. E. Shaw. The jury first went up to the Turnross farm to view the loft in which the body was found. On their return the evidence was taken.

Chas. Turnross, last saw his brother at the foot of the hill below the Turnross farm at about seven o'clock on Monday evening. At about half past nine he returned home from Gus Granat's and his mother told him to go out and hunt for Fred. He found the body hanging in the loft of the stable and taking hold of it found it was cold. He went and told his mother and they called Carlson, who was sleeping in the house and the two of them went to the barn and took him down. He fetched Dr. Carruthers and Chief Bain. Fred was accustomed sometimes to sleep in the barn and he had often found him there at night. He did not recognize the piece of rope found round his brother's neck. Fred used to take fits. The last one he took was last fall. When he first saw his brother he could not see the rope and he spoke and told him to go home and then went to take him by the hand. His head was thrown back and his chest out. His feet were on the floor. He had been acting queerly the day he died. Three or four years ago he got hung up twice in succession by his feet in swing ropes in the same loft, while playing and had to be helped out by witness. It was easy to get up into the rafters of the loft. His brother could tie pretty near any knot with a rope. Nothing unusual had happened to his brother at home for the two or three days previous to his death.

Andrew Carlson was called out of his room at Turnross' on Monday evening between half past nine and ten o'clock by Mrs. Turnross, who said that Freddie had hung himself. He went up to the loft and he heard Charlie calling to him to cut the rope. He lifted the body and took the loop off his neck and sent Charlie for Dr. McLean. Then he took the body into the house and laid it on a bed and tried to bring back life till Dr. Carruthers came, who pronounced it too late. The rope was round the boy's neck in a slip knot. The body was leaning backwards supported by the rope. The boy could have been standing upright or even kneeling down without the rope choking him. He had noticed the deceased laughing more than usual that day and the day before. Mrs. Turnross noticed it too and remarked that she thought the fits were coming back. The rope was fastened on one end to the rafters. The last time he saw deceased alive he was outside the front door of the house at about ten minutes past six. He was last in the barn at half past six and saw nothing unusual. A strange boy's cap was picked up by Mrs. Turnross outside the stable door next morning. The cap was a black Scotch cap. Fred's cap was found in the loft. Gus Granat testified to Charles Turnross having been at his place that evening.

Dr. Carruthers was called at three minutes to ten on Monday evening by Charles Turnross, who told him to come up as quick as he could as Freddie had hung himself, but he did not think he was dead. He found the boy lying on his mother's bed dead. He examined the body and told them the boy was dead. He went up into the loft with Charlie and Carlson. The lamp was poor and they did not find the boots, which were afterwards found, but they found his cap lying on the hay just in front of the rope. There were no signs of a struggle. The hay was not trampled flat and the slip knot was still on the lower end of the rope. While he was examining it, it slipped free. The three strands were tied together and the main part of the rope slipped through them. The body was of a boy of 12 years of age well grown and nourished. No marks or bruises on the body or signs of any struggle, except round the neck. There was no foot nor was the longest bitten. The vertebrae of the neck were not dislocated, and the apparent cause of death was asphyxia. The boy was his patient. He was first called in to attend him on Dec. 5th, when he had been having epileptic fits for some days. The fits were very violent. He has not had one since Dec. 7th but his intellect had been distinctly impaired by them. The boy was dead over one hour and less than three when he first saw the body.

The cap mentioned by Mrs. Carlson could not be found when witness went to look for it.

Mrs. Turnross saw the cap in front of the stable and put it in the rig. It was a new cap and clean. There are several boys who are in the habit of coming up to play with her boys. Fred was very violent when in one of his fits.

The jury, through their foreman, C. F. Lindmark, brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death by strangulation caused by hanging from a rope tied round his neck.

THE ESTHER CANTATA

A Highly Successful Performance in the Opera House Last Night for the Benefit of the Queen Victoria Hospital.

The entertainment given in the opera house last night was a highly successful affair. It was got up by the ladies of the Methodist church, who did not wish to take part in the hospital ball, as their contribution to the funds of that institution and under Mr. Jas. Taylor's direction the cantata of Esther, the Beautiful Queen, was selected and produced for the occasion. The plot of the cantata is taken from the Biblical story of Esther. The persons represented were Esther (taken by Miss Fee, soprano); Ahazuerus, E. M. Allum, bass; Haman, T. E. L. Taylor, baritone; Mordecai, H. H. Cook, tenor; Zeresli, Haman's wife, Mrs. Dent, contralto; Mordecai's sister, Miss Shepard, soprano; Prophets, Mrs. Wilkes' soprano; a Median Princess, Miss Dent, alto; a Persian Princess, Miss Fick, soprano; Scribe C. J. Wilkes, baritone; High Priest and Beggars, J. L. Johnston, bass; Herald, J. Guy Barber, tenor; Harbonah, A. V. Jews, tenor. The chorus of Persians, Jews, Guards etc., consisted of Mesdames Van Horne, R. Davis, Corley, Kilby, Rae, H. A. Brown, Downs, Nettle and Lee, Mademoiselles Diinn, Valentine, Ladder, Fick, Turnbull, Laitinen, Boltin, H. Leveque, E. Leveque and J. Leveque; Messrs. W. M. Lawrence, C. E. Shaw, C. Cao, B. Temple, W. Chambers, D. Inches, McLennan, Van Horne, E. Wilson, C. Lewis; Children's Chorus, Pearl Robinson, Lulu Patrick, May Boulay, Gertrude Dent, Mattie Calder, Maud Gray, Gertrude Lawson, Norma McNabb, Bessie Lawson, Blanche McCarty, Emma Leveque, Tannis Patrick, Alma and Elizabeth Burgett, Blanche Davis, Kathleen Fraser, Hazel Buck, Edith Cooke, Florence McRury; Orchestra, Miss Savage, pianist; first violins, R. M. Doyle and W. Walmsley; second violins Miss M. Corley and R. Armstrong; Geo. Knapp, clarinet; E. Edwards, cornet; R. Sawyer, trombone and R. S. Wilson, drums and triangle.

Among the most successful numbers were the opening chorus and the duet between the King and Haman in the first act, which concluded with a solo by the prophetess, Mrs. Wilkes, "Lo, O'er the Wicked," which was admirably rendered and received a well deserved encore. In the second act the duet and chorus, Mordecai and Esther "Go thou unto the King," deserves special mention. The quartette, "The King hath given Commandment," in the fourth act was very well sung. The chorus and triumphant march, which opens the fifth act was remarkably well rendered. It concluded with the introduction of the children's chorus, a very effective and of course immensely popular feature. Mr. J. L. Johnston rendered the song of the beggar very effectively and the duet, "Farewell, the Hour has Come," Haman and Zeresli, was deservedly encored. This was a very difficult scene, capably acted and sung. The piece was well staged and splendidly costumed. The Queen and King, Haman and Zeresli wearing most beautiful and costly dresses and the whole mise en scene with the stage crowded with gaily appressed courtiers and Persians and dark robed Jews was most effective. The characters and chorus both looked their parts and acted them with considerable skill and animation. The theatre was crowded to the roof and the HERALD bespeaks an equally good house on Monday night, when the cantata will be reproduced for the benefit of the director, Mr. Jas. Taylor to whose skillful conducting and untiring energy the success of the performance last night was so largely due. It is our opinion that after the rest of today and tomorrow the piece will go better than ever on Monday night.

Demand for Molybdenite
A demand has sprung up for molybdenite, and inquiries are being made by a London, England, firm as to the possible supply. Its great value can be appreciated when it is known that its selling price is $800 a ton. As an electrode it ranks very high, and is a good substitute for platinum in electrical work.—Mining and Electrical Review (San Francisco).

A PRO BOER BLATHER- SKITE PARSON.

There is an objectionable English parson of the Pro-Boer variety, named Fillinghame, who is going round the States making an ass of himself, which to judge by his published utterances is not a very difficult matter. At the door of this wretched windbag and other meddlesome busybodies of his calibre is distinctly to be laid all the unnecessary hardship and suffering, which has been endured by our fellow loyalists in South Africa owing to the unwarranted prolonga-tion of the war. The gore stained veldt, crimson with the blood of our brave soldiers, cries out against them and the crazy craving for notoriety which, and not any love of the Boers or peace, is the real spring of their actions.
The sufferings and ruin of the loyal South Africans, men, women and little children, the hospitals full of our sick and wounded soldiers, the daily increasing number of the graves of our brave dead, are nothing to these miserable Fillinghames, so long as the public is not suffered to forget the unimportant fact of their existence.
It is a most contemptible weakness on the part of the Imperial government to allow these creatures to perpetrate the enormous amount of mischief, which they unquestionably commit, by rendering their reasonable aid and comfort to the enemies of the Empire and encouraging them to maintain a useless struggle, without any attempt made to check or punish them.

It was hinted to this reverend wind-bag, blithering in New York, that his utterances were contrary to public opinion in his own country and he quite naturally took particular care to write himself down as an ass in every journal in the continent which prints the Associated Press despatches. His answer to the unanswerable suggestion of his interviewer was to the effect that if on his return to his own parish, which by the way is a little country village in one of the Eastern counties, he was not received with the cheers of the populace and the ringing of the church bells and if he was disciplined for his utterances by the church authorities, he would eat his hat in the Fifth Avenue hotel. Fillinghame is a blatherskite, but he is a cunning blatherskite. He knows perfectly well, what the American press and public are not at all likely to know, that the English church authorities have no power at all to discipline a clergyman simply for making an ass of himself, even if it is a treasonable ass. He also knows very well, what the American press and public does not know, that as rector of the parish he could get the bells of his church ringing all day at any time by a present of a pound to the village bellringers and that a demonstration in view of the return of the only source of free blankets, coats, soup, bottles of port and half-crowns anywhere within the limited kin of his flock would be naturally an event to be anticipated, no matter what his views on any subject on earth, about which the stolid East Anglian peasantry are the last people in the world to trouble their heads. This shuffling evasion of the point stamps the man for what he is—a mere hunter after cheap notoriety. If he was really filled with the belief that the cause of the Boers is the cause of righteousness, it would not matter to him whether his advocacy of it was contrary to English public opinion or not.

ALL SORTS AND CONDITIONS

The religious statistics of the province of British Columbia reveal some rather curious particulars. For instance it will no doubt rather astonish a great many good people to learn that there are only 331 Christians in the province.
Nevertheless that is what the census returns say. Whether there is any religious body, which contents itself with the name by which the early disciples were first called in Antioch or whether those giving themselves in under this title are merely "floaters" belonging to that fringe of the public, which takes a kind of mild religious amusement on a Sunday evening by attending first one and then another and more often none of them at all of the various churches of the different communities in a town, the HERALD is not sufficiently posted to say. There is only one Brahman but there are 10,027 Buddhists, presumably of the Chinese variety. While there is but one Liberal Christian, as distinct from the 331 Christians without any frills noticed already, there are at the same time only three people belonging to the Lord's Religion in the province.
There are eight followers of a religion called Me-mic-me, which sounds like something Indian from Nova Scotia.
There are only 22 really Orthodox and only three followers of the Golden Rule. There are two Titans around somewhere, one Reincarnationist and three Silents. Of Freethinkers we have 27, Infidels 63, No Religion 1005, Sceptics 113, Secularists 11, Agnostics 139 and Atheists 13. There are no less than 20 sects, of apparently Christian foundation by their titles, whose adherents in the province do not number 100 apiece and although counting heads in certainly no criterion of truth one cannot help being reminded of the particularly contentious Greek theologian, whom Constantine the Great advised to build a little ladder up to heaven for his own special and private use since he could not hit it off with any of his brethren. It is not very clear to any outsider wherein all these small religious bodies differ one from the other or what there can possibly be either in church government or doctrine among all the larger denominations alike, which prevents their amalgamating with some one or other of them. One would think there was variety enough to give scope for almost any shade of opinion among the half dozen or so principal bodies into which Anglo Saxon Christianity is mainly divided.

Anxiety in Australia.

Australia is entitled to know the reasons which urged Lord Kitchener to doom two or three Australian soldiers to death or imprisonment.
It is to be hoped that the reasons are good and sufficient. Even Lord Kitchener cannot afford to fly in the face of the colonial sentiment which will be outraged if the lives or liberty of these Australian officers were trifled away on any fine point of military discipline.

An army must have discipline. Under modern conditions of warfare a British army must have colonials. The extreme forms of discipline which would turn the rifles of British soldiers upon colonial officers may do something to chill the Imperial enthusiasm of Australia, and stop the supply of colonials.

It is certain that if Canadian officers or soldiers had been shot by order of Lord Kitchener there would have been keen interest in this country as to the reasons for their execution.
Australia is not less anxious for all the facts. Unless Lord Kitchener can justify his severity by something better than mere military precedent he is in for a bad half hour—Toronto

The Revelstoke Herald and Railwaymen's Journal

Is the recognized organ for all the latest mining news of North Kootenay. Particular attention is paid to securing early and reliable intelligence from the newly discovered Free Milling Gold Camps, on Fish River and from the placer and quartz mines of the Big Bend and district in the immediate vicinity of Revelstoke, such as Illecillewaet, Albert Canyon, Jordan Pass and Isaac Creek. Next season will witness a big revival of certainty throughout North Kootenay, and mining men and others desirous of gaining the earliest and most authentic news from the district will find the columns of the HERALD their best source of information.

Railway News is also a Specialty of the HERALD and articles of special interest to Railway men will also be found in its columns.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM

THE HERALD offers advantages in its total Weekly circulation and the class of readers, which it reaches, unparalleled in the district. It appears twice to any other paper once a week and is found in the homes of the wage-earning classes, the backbone of the business of the district. Businessmen want their announcements to reach the home people who have the money to take advantage of their offers and the homes and families which render it necessary for them to spend it. No other class of circulation is of any use to them. These are the kind of people who make up a big proportion of our subscribers, people with homes, families, employment and interests right at home, the people Revelstoke merchants want to get at. A space in our advertising columns, judiciously and thoroughly utilized, constitutes a Twice-A-Week letter to every home in Revelstoke, and in the Railway and Mining points, tributary to Revelstoke business.

OUR JOB PRINTING DEPARTMENT

Is the completest in the district for appliances, material and Craftsmen. Our work speaks for itself. No other office in North Kootenay can touch it, because we not only have the tools to do good work with, but we know how to use them. Call and see our Samples and you will perhaps be surprised to see the artistic and finished class of work which we can turn out. Prices graded down to suit the times.

THIS IS THE WAY THE MONEY GOES

The Growing Time for Salaries for good Civil Officials on the Intercolonial, Under the Blair Regime.

Salaries paid in the Moncton offices in 1893 amounted to $93,901.43, in 1901 the amount was $177,118.54; in offices outside of Moncton there was paid in 1890 the sum of $1,889.92, increased last year to $32,656.43. Last year there were employed in the Moncton offices (including stores) 316 persons, against 148 in 1890; while in offices outside of Moncton the number increased from six to sixty-two. Below will be found a list of officials in receipt of salaries in excess of $1,200 a year, as compared with 1890:

Moncton offices	1896	1901

"The inequalities and inconsistencies in the above list will be apparent at a glance. The new 'manager' receives $7,000 a year, while the general manager continues to eke out an existence on $6,000, the same as is paid the new traffic manager. Some of the oldest and most efficient men in the service are drawing the same salaries as in 1890, or have received very moderate increases. The traffic auditor for instance, is still getting $1,500 a year, though his office is one of the most important on the road, requiring a staff of forty clerks, while some of the new officials who do little more than walk to and from their comfortably quarters are paid $1,000 and $1,800 a year. The paymaster and cashier, who are responsible for the handling of several hundred thousand dollars a year on various parts of the line, get $1,600 a year, the same as in 1890, while the weighing inspector, not necessary at all in 1893, is paid $1,700, and the gentleman who has been acting as manager's assistant, is paid more than double as much, or $3,600 a year. These are things that can only be explained by heaven-born railwaymen such as the present minister of railways and his advisers."—Moncton Times.

STAMP MILL FOR GOLDFIELDS

The Northwest Development Syndicate Purchase a Ten Stamp Mill and Diamond Drills for Their Property.

The Northwest Development Syndicate group of claims in the celebrated Lardau district of British Columbia at the new town of Goldfields is to be immediately put under a thorough test development, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. H. G. Brock, formerly a well known mining man of the Lake Superior region, was in Seattle recently, having come to the city to contract for the necessary stamp mills and mining machinery to push the work.

"The district is immensely rich in high grade gold ore," said Mr. Brock at the Butler, "and will undoubtedly lead in the production of gold among the big camps of British Columbia. The claims on which I will immediately begin work have not been developed to any extent, but have made a wonderful showing thus far."

The machinery to be installed as a test plant will include ten stamps. All this has been purchased and will be shipped to the claims as soon as possible.

The news of a ten stamp mill going into Goldfields to treat the ore from the famous Camborne group, which is situated right adjoining the new town will be of great interest to the miners and prospectors of the Fish River free milling gold camp as well as to a large number of the citizens of Revelstoke. The Golding and Lillie groups, both free milling propositions and both owned entirely by Revelstoke people, are situated not over a mile from the location of the new stamp mill, and will receive the benefit from the stamp mill, since there is no doubt arrangements can be made to treat the ore from these properties at the mill of the Northwestern Development Co. These two groups, like the Camborne group, are adjoining the townsite of Goldfields. With the new bridge completed, the Eva hill free milling properties, including the Eva, Imperial, Oyster and many other groups on Lexington mountain are within from one to three miles of the new town. Goldfields should be a banner camp this summer.

Asbestos Trebled in Price

For some time the European asbestos was used as a substitute for the American article. But buyers are now looking for American asbestos as it is of a superior quality and very much in demand. The price of asbestos has consequently gone up and it is quoted at about $300 per ton for the best American, nearly three times as much as it was bringing last year.

Miners looking for asbestos should seek for a greyish or green serpentine carrying sometimes particles of iron. The veins are from the thickness of a thread to several inches and upward containing no iron produce the very best asbestos which brings the highest price.—Mining & Electrical Review, San Francisco.
