Shrapnel—This projectile is used against troops in all formations. It contains a bursting charge, placed either in the base or in the head—the latter is the latest pattern—just sufficient to open the shell, and a number of bullets, which are thus liberated in their flight at the proper moment, rain down over nearly an acre of ground.

SHILL FIRE. To enlighten those who are eagerly following the descriptive reports of the battles in South Africa some brief account of the varieties of artillery fire, and peculiar conditions suitable to the employment of each, may not come amiss, says the Daily Graphic.

Shell fire does not cause much damage in actual loss of life, but the moral effect is great, troops under shell fire not being able to stand the strain which the terrifying influences the fire creates.

COUNTY COURT SESSION.

The case of Thurston vs Tattersall et al has been occupying the attention of judge Forin since eleven o'clock yesterday morning and will likely continue through today's session of the court. Thurston claims to have secured the sale of the Chapleau mine, near Slocan City, for Benjamin Robertson, J. E. Tattersall, J. E. Gwillim, and F. Dick for $30,000. The property was sold to J. M. Williams, who has made a payment of $1500. Thurston as broker claims $3000 as commission on the sale. The present action is to secure the payment of $150 as commission on the $1500 payment. A payment of $8000 is to be made on the property on December 1st.

Judge Forin reserved judgment in the case of Cornelius Murphy against W. H. Brandon, wherein the former asked $150 damages for the detainer of a house at Slocan City. Murphy was attempting to move the building from the old Brandon townsite, and was prevented from doing so by a temporary injunction taken out by Brandon.

The K. of P. held an election of officers on Tuesday night, which resulted as follows: L. Scott, chancellor commander; F. J. Bradley, vice-chancellor; A. H. Clements, prelate; R. G. Joy, keeper of records and seal; A. E. Pfeiffer, master of work; J. H. Vanstone, master of the exchequer; H. A. Prosser, master of finance; J. R. Reisterer, master-at-arms. The rank of knight was conferred on A. A. Perrier.

An unofficial meeting was held yesterday afternoon between tramway engineer Hall, city engineer McCulloch, mayor Neelands, and alderman Fletcher regarding the tramway company's tracks.
