NINTH YEAR — NELSON, B. C., MONDAY, AUGUST 12, 1901 — FIVE CENTS

A BLOODTHIRSTY HEATHEN

INSTRUMENTAL IN HAVING FOUR CHINESE KILLED.

Manager's Report of Operations at the Noble Five--News Notes From Various Provincial Points.

VANCOUVER, August 11.—[Special to The Tribune.]—A Chinese gambler named Ah Mooey was last night committed for trial for the murder of four other Chinamen, because he had paid, according to good evidence, for the committing of the crime. They were the four Chinamen killed last month in a Chinese boarding house at Ladner's Landing, near Vancouver. They were hacked to death with an ax in the hands of Quong, another ignorant Chinaman, who was simply a tool of Mooey. A third Chinaman came to the police with the story yesterday, saying that he had heard Mooey and Quong discussing the plan of the murder while they laid in their beds. Mooey offered Quong $100 for killing one of the men and finally they agreed that Quong should get the full $200 if he would dispatch two or more of them into the particular department of hell to which the gambler's tong belonged. Quong killed them with a double-butted ax, cutting their heads and chests open before they could make the alarm. During all this time Mooey stood with one foot on the stairs and when the fourth man had fallen out of his bunk and tried to rush to the door, though fatally injured, Mooey had called out that there was trouble outside and they had better be going. They all rushed out of the building, Mooey to steal away in the darkness and Quong to be arrested because of the many blood stains on his hands and clothes. Quong confessed to committing the crime, but said in the examination yesterday that he had done it because it was a money-making job, and according to his system of ethics he himself had no moral responsibility. After he had finished the job Mooey had said, "That is all right." Mooey, as well as Quong, has been committed for trial and is being held on the charge of murder.

Smelting Contract Closed.

GREENWOOD, August 10.—[Special to The Tribune.]—The B. C. Copper Company of this city has just closed a contract with the B. C. mine for the treatment of 200 tons of ore per day. The ore, it is said, was formerly treated by the Trail smelter, but the Greenwood people made them a rate which got the business. Paul Johnson, the manager of the Greenwood smelter, says the company intends to have a new stack which, it is said, will be in readiness by the month of October. He will then be in a position to treat 800 tons of ore per day and says he expects to secure all the ore in the district that is offering for customs treatment. This will give Greenwood the largest smelting plant in the Dominion.

High Grade Slocan Ore

VICTORIA, August 10.—[Special to The Tribune.]—The manager of the Noble Five Mining Company, of which premier Dunsmuir is president, and ex-premier Joseph Martin is a director, reports as follows:

"During the month of July the following work has been done: In tunnel A the cross-cut we are running to cross-cut the Last Chance ledge has been run a distance of 113 3-4 feet, making a total to date of 200 feet. In Last Chance tunnel No. 3 we have drifted on the ledge 35 feet, making a total from the Last Chance end line of 151 feet. In this distance we have encountered three chutes of ore, A, B and C. We have not upraised on chutes B and C, but in the drift the maximum width of ore was 16 inches, 12 inches and 3 feet, respectively. Assays of ore taken from chute C gave from 174 ounces to 426 ounces of silver per ton, and from 11 to 17 per cent lead. We shipped during the month to the Nelson smelter 24 tons of clean ore, the net returns for which, after paying freight and treatment charges, were $1928.33, a trifle better than $80 per ton."

Non-Union Man's Grievance.

ROSSLAND, August 11.—[Special to The Tribune.]—Joseph Horn, a Pole, working at the Northport smelter, a non-union man, came up on the afternoon train on Saturday and was, on his arrival, followed along the streets here by a crowd of idle men and boys and jeered at as a scab. No attempt was made to do the man any injury. Later in the day Horn swore out a warrant against Joseph Colistro, an Italian, charging him with common assault. This case will come up before police magistrate Boultbee tomorrow. T. M. Daly will prosecute and A. H. MacNeill will defend. Horn was about town last evening and all today, but no attempt was made to molest him in any way. It is said Daly wired the attorney general for protection and received instructions to act. The matter was all over very quickly and there was no real disturbance, although the streets are full of unemployed men. This is the only complaint of the kind made since the strike commenced, a month ago. The Miner's account this morning was hysterical and greatly exaggerated.

The report of an explosion at the Northport smelter early on Saturday is confirmed. The loss will be very heavy. No one was hurt, although the non-union men were greatly frightened.

Revelstoke Jottings.

REVELSTOKE, August 10.—[Special to The Tribune.]—Jack McTaggart was brought here from Ferguson, Trout Lake district, last night, for medical treatment. He was working in an open cut at the Metropolitan mine. After firing a hole he failed to get away, and was struck by rock from the blast and hurled over a 300-foot bluff. He has a broken knee and a badly bruised body.

There is a good deal of feeling here with regard to the deficiency of the water supply. A petition has been circulated asking the council to cancel the deal with the water works company for the purchase of the plant.

The striking trackmen here are confident that considerable developments will follow the meeting of the delegation from the five railway brotherhoods with president Shaughnessy at Montreal.

Bush fires are raging all over Revelstoke district.

Victoria News Notes

VICTORIA, August 11.—Sergeant Edward George Meades of the regular army here shot himself while on duty early this morning; cause is unknown.

There was no trouble with union longshoremen upon the arrival of the steamer Umatilla this morning from San Francisco, as anticipated. The police were on the wharf, but the union men went to work as usual.

Sergeant Mitten, a veteran of the Indian and Chinese campaign and for many years chief jailer at the city lockup, died today after a long illness.

AN INTERVIEW WITH DEPEW

Objects to Being Misquoted.

LONDON, August 11.—"I am going to retire from the interviewing business permanently," said United States senator Chauncey M. Depew to a representative of the Associated Press yesterday. "I have served my full term and have generally enjoyed it, but there have been so many fictitious and erroneous reports of my sayings and speeches since I arrived in Europe this summer that I have concluded to give up the job. I have been seriously misquoted in American papers concerning the efforts of the European governments to offset American inroads into trade and manufactures. My observation of this movement leads to the conclusion that while the European governments view with alarm the increasing inroads of American products, it is impossible that they should successfully combine against them. As a United States senator I am precluded from discussing lord Kitchener's proclamation, which, undoubtedly, was the most important feature of English politics this week. It is bound to create widespread comment, appearing as it does on the day lord Milner is returning to South Africa. I presume Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain will enlighten us on the subject at Blenheim today and it would have been a pleasure to me to hear them and witness the demonstration at the duke of Marlborough's charming palace had I not thought that my presence there might be misconstrued in the United States. It is hopeless to expect European intervention. No matter how much the people sympathize with the heroic conduct of the Boers, governments are forced to determine exactly what effect intervention is going to have for the Boers and where they themselves stand when England declines their demand."

Maine Explosion Redivivus

NEW ORLEANS, August 11.—What is regarded as an attempt of a Boer sympathizer to blow up a British transport occurred shortly after midnight Friday, when there was a terrific explosion at the stock landing, where the steamer Meachinian is loading. The Meachinian is to carry mules to South Africa. The explosion shook houses and awakened people for some distance around. Most of the crew of the ship were asleep, but the explosion brought them quickly to the deck. An examination showed a large dent on the starboard side of the ship. Two plates at the water's edge had been sprung and considerable water was let into the ship. Pumps were immediately put to work and when daybreak came it was found that the vessel was in no danger of sinking and that the damage was not serious. The crew of the vessel deny that there were any explosives on board. There seems little doubt but that the explosion was from the outside and that some sort of a bomb or torpedo had been used.

Waldersee Arrives

HOMBERG, August 11.—Von Waldersee arrived this morning and was met at the railroad station by emperor William, prince Frederick William, prince Eitel Frederick and minister von Buelow. His majesty's greeting of the field marshal and officers accompanying him was most cordial. He kissed von Waldersee on the cheek. The emperor and field marshal drove together to the castle amid plaudits of the crowd. There the empress welcomed the field marshal.

Pleasure Yacht's Boiler Explodes

M'KEESPORT, Pa., August 11.—Two persons were probably fatally burned and a dozen more or less severely injured as the result of an explosion of boiler tubes on the pleasure yacht Quail in the Monongahela river near Peters' creek today. Robert Criswell and Harry Osborne, both of this place, were so badly scalded and burned that they will probably die.

MARLBOROUGH'S RECEPTION

THREE THOUSAND DELEGATES WERE PRESENT.

Addresses Made by Chamberlain and Balfour---Blenheim Thrown Open to the Guests.

LONDON, August 11.—The great Unionist celebration Saturday was favored with most pleasant weather. The occasion was the third Unionist victory in the by-elections. One hundred and twenty members of parliament were present, with some 3000 delegates from Conservative and Liberal-Unionist associations throughout the country, but the others present made a total of about 7000 persons. Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain delivered addresses after luncheon in the open air. The duchess of Marlborough entertained the guests in a huge tent. The duke of Marlborough presided. The palace was open for public inspection during the day. A feature of the entertainment was a recital upon the local organ in the long library. Both Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain were accorded a warm reception from the enthusiastic crowd as they paraded the grounds, escorted respectively by the duchess of Marlborough, who was dressed in half mourning, and by the duke of Marlborough. During the course of his remarks, after luncheon, Mr. Balfour said that the erstwhile alliance between the Conservatives and Liberal-Unionists was now an indissoluble union. A large section of the opposition was avowedly unpatriotic and the country was not so moonstruck as to confide the conduct of public affairs to those who, so far as they have uttered any clear note, had uttered it against their own country. Mr. Balfour proceeded to compare the opposition tactics to the sniping, guerilla warfare in South Africa and said both would end at no distant date. Mr. Chamberlain spoke in a similar vein. He said the alliance of the parties had resulted in building up a truly national party. The Liberal party were now only the "Rump" party. They had sunk in the pro-Boer mud so deep that not even the Liberal Imperialists could extricate them. Even the latter were not free from heresies and until they were free the Unionist party did not want their communion.

Kitchener's Reports.

LONDON, August 11.—A dispatch from lord Kitchener dated from Pretoria yesterday says: A blockhouse near Bradfort, Orange River Colony, was rushed and captured by the Boers after severe fighting the night of August 7th. Elliot has captured 70 prisoners and a large quantity of stock and wagons, which he is sending in. No details have been received.

Mail dispatches from lord Kitchener, issued yesterday in a parliamentary paper, says it is his constant endeavor to improve the fortifications along the lines of communication, thus releasing men from active service. The garrisons off the railways have mostly been withdrawn. A spirited narrative of the ejectment of general Dewet from Cape Colony concludes with the statement that the raiders undoubtedly received a number of recruits from the Colonial Dutch, an ample supply of food and timely information. Lord Kitchener received certain information that Dewet intended to attack Cape Town, while general Botha, as soon as he heard that the concentration in Cape Colony was effected, was to enter Natal with 5000 picked horsemen and make for Durban.

Fighting Bob Reprimanded.

WASHINGTON, August 11.—The navy department has reprimanded rear admiral Robley D. Evans, acting upon the complaint made by the former secretary of the navy, Chandler, for criticism of the latter in admiral Evans' book, "A Sailor's Log." The letter of reprimand was sent to the rear admiral yesterday. It refers to his act as reprehensible and censures admiral vans for "this breach of the obligation imposed upon you as an officer of the navy of the United States." Senator Chandler has been furnished a copy of the reprimand.

Lives Without a Stomach.

CHICAGO, August 11.—Carl Kruger, the man without a stomach is doing better than many men with stomachs. Mr. Kruger's stomach was taken out in an eighty-minute surgical operation on April 20th and since then his health has improved steadily. Previously he had been starving with cancer of the stomach. From 96 pounds he has come to weigh close to 100 pounds, and he is still gaining. For a long time after the operation Mr. Kruger's board was nothing a week, for makers of patent food preparations furnished all he could use. Within four weeks after the removal of his stomach he was able to go to work. He now spends much of his time working in his garden. Yesterday he walked three miles and felt no more exhausted than the ordinary man. In talking of his own case, Mr. Kruger said:

"I feel as well as any man can and better than I have felt for years. For a long time before the operation I could not sleep without dreaming and waking at frequent intervals. Now as soon as I lie down I fall asleep and sleep soundly. My food does not trouble me now. I simply eat and that is all there is to it. I cannot tell whether I have a stomach or not. It is just as if the stomach were there. At first I had to eat every two hours, so that I had seven or eight meals a day. Now I eat only three meals a day, and at the usual times with my family. For breakfast I drink coffee and eat white bread and butter. My noon meal is about the same, except that I sometimes eat a potato. At night I sometimes drink tea. I always eat white bread and butter and potatoes for supper." In commenting on the case Dr. Eads says: "The entire stomach was removed. That Kruger's present diet agrees with him there can be no doubt. It is a strong refutation of the old teaching of physiology that the stomach digests one kind of food and the intestines another. The case is also a good argument for vegetarians."

A Gigantic Combination.

Last week the firm of McInnes & Co., with meat markets in all the leading towns of Southeast Kootenay and also at Macleod, Alberta, became amalgamated with P. Burns & Co. The two firms have been operating together heretofore, with Mr. McInnes in charge of the business in Southeast Kootenay. In future the entire business will be carried on under the name of P. Burns & Co., and directed from Nelson. Mr. McInnes will look after cattle purchasing and other outside work in East Kootenay. P. Burns & Co. from their Nelson office manage markets at Nelson, Kaslo, Ymir, Sandon, Silverton, Eholt, Revelstoke, New Denver, Cascade, Greenwood, Trail, Grand Forks, Midway, Phoenix, Slocan City, Rossland, Cranbrook, Moyie and Fernie in British Columbia, and Macleod in Alberta.

YACHTS REACH SANDY HOOK

CUP CHALLENGER MAKES A SUCCESSFUL VOYAGE.

Beats the Time of Her Namesake by a Day---Trip Was Made in Less Than Fourteen Days.

NEW YORK, August 11.—The yacht Erin with the Shamrock II in tow was off Sandy Hook lightship at 11:39 p. m. The Erin has put out one of the lights, the towing light. It means that she has dropped the tow. Both yachts anchored outside the bar at 11:48 p. m. As the yachts came to anchor the Erin burned sir Thomas Lipton's private night signal, a star green and red, which was immediately answered from the Sandy Hook marine station. It is thought probable the yachts will remain outside the bar until daylight.

SANDY HOOK, N. Y., August 11.—Sir Thomas Lipton's second challenger for the America's cup, Shamrock II, in tow of her consort, the big steam yacht Erin, arrived off Sandy Hook lightship shortly after 11 o'clock tonight and anchored for the night just inside the lightship half an hour later. A newspaper tug and the tugboat James R. Lawrence, with David Barrick, sir Thomas' personal representative in this country, aboard, has been cruising off Sandy Hook for two days awaiting the appearance of the foreign cup hunter. When off the lightship the Erin turned her signals, green and red with green star, and the tugs ran alongside. Greetings on both sides were hearty, but beyond saying that the yacht had encountered fine weather, neither captain Matthews of the Erin nor captain Sycamore of the challenger would give details of the voyage. They regarded it as a fine performance, as was evident by captain Matthews' ejaculation of surprise when informed that the tugs had been on the outlook for her for two days. "Give her a chance," he shouted. As a matter of fact the actual time of the Shamrock II is less than 14 days, counting her stop of one day at St. Michaels, Azores, a day better than the time of the old Shamrock, which was far and away better than that of any former challengers.

CRISPI DIES AT NAPLES

And Italy Mourns a Statesman.

NAPLES, August 11.—Signor Crispi died at 7:45 o'clock this evening. He was surrounded by the members of his family and several intimate friends. The news was immediately telegraphed to king Victor Emmanuel and queen Helen. The evening papers assert that the body will be conveyed by steamer to Palermo, where the municipality will arrange for a great public funeral. It is rumored that signor Crispi will authorize a prominent Italian to examine his papers and to publish his memoirs.

ROME, August 11.—In consequence of the low condition of signor Crispi today, the injection of stimulants and the administration of oxygen were stopped, the physicians recognizing that the end was near. He lay insensible and he was virtually dead for hours before the physicians certified that life was extinct. Some indignation was expressed when the public learned that the details of the funeral had been arranged before death came. It is rumored that the affairs of the deceased are in the greatest confusion and that signora Crispi will have to depend solely upon the proceeds of the sales of the memoirs. The body will be embalmed and will lie in state for three days in the drawing room at Naples.

CACHED GOLD IN THE BAY

WINTERS TELLS HOW HE ROBBED SELBY COMPANY.

Did the Job Single Handed and Had Worked Two or Three Months on the Tunnel to the Vault.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 11.—Jack Winters, who was arrested for the Selby smelting works robbery, has confessed the crime, and so far $130,000 worth of bullion has been recovered from the bay, where he had sunk it. For three days the detectives have tried all sorts of intimidation to make Winters confess, but their threats apparently had no effect upon him. Finally he asked to see superintendent Ropp of the works, who, he said, was the only friend he had, In his conversation with Ropp Winters' manner indicated that he knew where the gold had been hidden. Ropp told him that they had a strong case against him and that he would be sent to prison for 30 years. He said:

"You will be an old man when you get out and it will do you no good to hide the gold. We know it is hidden in the water near the works and we will search every inch. You may be sure that the gold will be found before you get out of prison."

Winters finally weakened and told Ropp that he had taken the gold, and would take him to the spot where it was hidden. The criminal, in company with superintendent Ropp and a force of detectives, left on a tug last night for Crockett. There they waited all night for the low tide. Winters pointed out the place at the end of the railroad wharf, behind the coal bunkers, at the beginning of the Vallejo ferry slip. At that point at low tide the mud is about four feet deep, covered by a foot of water. When the tug first reached Crockett Winters pointed out the spot in the water where he said he had thrown the gold. Superintendent Ropp marked the place on the wharf and the tug steamed away to wait for low tide. This morning Winters himself got into the mud and water up to his neck and for an hour and a half groped for the missing bullion. Up to 10 o'clock $110,000 worth had been recovered. This includes the four bars of fine gold. Winters had put some of the bars in bags. He said that one of the bags had broken and some small bars had dropped out. It is now only a question of careful search to find the rest of the $280,000. Winters claims that he did the job all alone. He says that he made 14 trips from the vault to the wharf from which he dropped the gold. The smelter officials, however, are positive that he received assistance from some one. The detectives think that his story that he did it all himself is correct. The tug with the detectives and the prisoner, Winters, on board has returned to the city. Winters, when he had made up his mind to tell all he knew about the crime, was exceedingly willing to give all the information that was necessary for the recovery of the bullion. He practically assumed charge of the operations and led captain Seymour and superintendent Ropp to the dock. He acted more like one of the detectives employed than as a prisoner. As soon as he arrived at the water's edge he called the superintendent to his side and said: "Now watch where I am going to show. Be careful that you get the locations right." Stooping, he picked up three stones and pacing forward he tossed one of them into the water. It fell to the south of the spot at which the prisoner stood. Another stone fell to the east and the third was thrown directly in front of Winters. "That," said the prisoner, "will mark the water boundary of the place where your gold is hidden." Stepping to the left, Winters drew a nail from his pocket and asked for a hammer. He then paced a few yards to the right and drove another nail in the timber. "The gold," he continued, "will be between these two nails, somewhere in line with the stones I just tossed into the water." A small boat was secured and into it sheriff Veale, detective Kimball of the Pinkerton agency and two laborers were loaded. Winters assisted in the search for the bricks. He talked glibly all the while. The deep mud finally put a stop to operations, and it was decided to build a cofferdam before trying to recover the rest of the treasure.

Winters told the officers that he planned the robbery long ago with minute detail. He had been two or three months on the work on his little tunnel. It had taken two nights' labor to cut through the brick wall of the smelter. Most of the boring in the bottom of the vaults had been done on the night when the gold was taken. He carried the plunder, which was heavy, from the vault to the water and deposited it where the water was from three to six feet deep at low tide. The distance from the vault to this cache was about a quarter of a mile and he made 14 round trips. He was at work four hours on Monday night. Four small bars of refined gold he concealed among the stones of the breakwater, just at the further mouth of the railroad tunnel. His purpose had been to use this gold for present needs. Winters on his last trip had perceived that dawn was breaking. Not daring to complete the trip, he laid on the shore the two bricks which were found Tuesday morning at the point where the robbers' boat was supposed to have landed. The trail of red pepper ending at that point had been a blind.

In view of the fact that promises of clemency were made Winters in consideration of his unearthing the gold, it is thought that his punishment will be light. Detective Gibson is quoted as saying that it was promised Winters by president Ralston of the Selby Smelting Works that he should not only not be prosecuted, but should receive $25,000. "Winters cannot be prosecuted," said detective Gibson, "for there is no evidence against him. All that has been drawn from him was secured by the detectives under promises that it would not be used against him. Under such circumstances it would be extremely difficult to secure a conviction."

Bomb Exploded in a Church.

PARIS, August 11.—A bomb exploded this afternoon under the altar of the Church of St. Nizier at Troyes, doing considerable damage to the XIII century windows, but not injuring any of the hundred children who, together with a priest, were in the sacred edifice at the time. A Spaniard has been arrested on suspicion of being the author of the outrage.

There Are Others Besides Wells.

There is much to be desired in the way the lands and works department is being run. It is not flattering to the management of Hon. Mr. Wells that men who have been working on trails and roads have to wait several weeks for their money simply because he happens to be away from his office in Victoria on private business. If he can't attend to his job properly, there are others who can.—Trout Lake Topic.

The thermometer in many parts of the country registers 43 centgrade in the shade. The vineyards in whole districts have been shriveled up by the sirocco and ruined to the very roots, as though set on fire. The air in the province of Syracuse is barely respirable and the sea water is so warm that bathing has been abandoned. The people have been forced to sleep in the open air.

Corcoran Case Not Up.

BOISE, Idaho, August 10.—Today was the time set by the board of pardons to pass on the application for pardon of Paul Corcoran, convicted of murder in the second degree for participating in the murder of James Cheney during the Coeur d'Alene riot in April in 1899. The board did not take up that matter or any of the others set for today, but took an adjournment until Monday. Thomas Haney, ex-sheriff of Shoshone county, is here looking after the matter for Corcoran and senator Heitfield has been here for some days, supposedly on the same business. It appears that secretary of state Bassett is for granting the pardon, that attorney-general Martin is against and that governor Hull is noncommital.

LONG BEACH, Cal., August 11.—Elsie and Imogene Wallace, two sisters, aged respectively 16 and 18 years, and Cora Wallace, their cousin, aged 19 were drowned while in bathing at Asbury park, about a mile from Long Beach, at 11 o'clock this morning. Fred Wilkinson and Harry Smith of Los Angeles were in bathing also. Wilson was the only member of the party who could swim. A strong undertow was running and swept the party off their feet. The girls were carried beyond reach and drowned. Smith also had a narrow escape. Wilson managed to bring him ashore in an unconscious condition. The drowned girls were all residents of Los Angeles.

REQUIEM SERVICES HELD

OVER THE REMAINS OF THE LATE EMPRESS FREDERICK.

Cronberg Crowded With English People in Deep Mourning---Royal Relatives Round the Coffin.

CRONBERG, August 11.—People flocked into Cronberg from an early hour today to see the august personages who would attend the requiem services over the remains of the dowager empress Frederick. Throughout the night and again today the officers of the regiment of which the deceased was honorary colonel had stood guard over the coffin. At 2:30 p. m. the Reghit regiment formed on the street and the band of the Beckenheim Hussars took its stand opposite the church. Every window, balcony and housetop was filled with people awaiting the arrival of the imperial procession. Baron Reischach, court marshal of the dowager empress, superintended the arrangements. He looked after the coffin, which was covered with wreaths. On either side of the coffin were four officers holding the standards of the empire of Prussia and of the deceased. Between the coffin were her officials bearing drawn swords.

The congregation included the duke of Connaught, the duke of Cambridge and several members of British royalty, count von Buelow, count von Waldersee, Dr. Spiethagen and general von Lindequist.

At 4 o'clock the roll of muffled drums announced the arrival of the cortege and king Edward, who were driven together from Homberg. The emperor, wearing the black uniform of the empress' own guards, arrived with the king in the blue uniform of king Edward's home guard. Princess Victoria, with crown prince Frederick William, and a number of followers came next, while grouped around the chancel stood the other royal personages mentioned, together with prince Adelbert of Prussia, prince and princess Schaumburg Lippe, the hereditary prince of Saxe-Meingen, the prince and princess Charles of Hesse, the grand duke of Baden, the crown prince and princess of Greece with their children and the prince of Reuse, together with the suites of all. Baron von Reischaiche stood at the right and count von Seikendorff, who was the grand chamberlain of the deceased, at the left of the coffin. As the organ played the funeral march, Dr. Dyrander advanced to the head of the coffin. The choir sang, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," and Dr. Dyrander read a specially written prayer, followed by the words of the burial service, "Dust to dust, ashes to ashes." The choir then sang the anthem, "The Spirit Sayeth They Rest From Their Labors." Then followed the magnificent hymn, "Wenn Ich Einmal Soll Scheiden," and a beautiful rendering of "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death." As the last strains died away, the king and queen Alexandra advanced and laid a wreath upon the coffin. The king remained standing for a few moments alone beside the coffin and then turned and left the church, which slowly emptied.

The service owed much of its impressiveness to the historical associations recalled by the medieval edifice in which it was held.

CRONBERG, August 11.—Vast crowds of people are arriving here, the hotels are overflowing and the town is overrun with English people in deep mourning. After the funeral at Potsdam, king Edward will return to Homberg for a course of waters, living at his accustomed hotel.

The coffin of the dowager empress is of English style with flat cover, not German pyramidal style. The deceased designated the rosettes ornamenting it over and also designed the coffin. The train to bring the funeral party to Potsdam has been prepared at Frankfort. The car which will carry the coffin is trimmed with English mourning colors, black and white, and richly ornamented.

Inroads by the Americans.

NEW YORK, August 11.—Among the passengers who arrived from Europe on the Hamburg-American liner Auguste Victoria was Henry C. Payne, ex-chairman of the Republican national committee.

Mr. Payne said it was impossible for an American in Europe not to be impressed with the strides made by American manufactures. Particularly in Austria-Hungary and Germany, he said, were the people apprehensive of the inroads America was making in their trade. A few years ago, he said, Austria was sending shoes to America, while now there was in operation in Vienna an American shoe store, where only American made shoes were sold. The Germans, Mr. Payne said, are much impressed with the way Americans do business, and are sending their representatives to this country to get pointers.

WILLEMSTAD, Curocoa, August 11.—The Colombian minister and all the members of the Colombian legation will leave Caracas tomorrow for a temporary absence. There has been no rupture of the diplomatic relations, however, between Colombia and Venezuela. William V. Russell, the United States charge d'affaires, will take care of Colombian interests.

CLEAR OUT

This week we are making clearance sales of a few special lines of goods. We are offering BABY CARRIAGES AND GO-CARTS at exceptionally low prices to clear. This is a line of goods that we do not intend to replace, so we have cut the regular prices in half; but even at that we do not stick, because we want the room they occupy. We also have some choice literature, just the thing for summer reading, light, breezy and refreshing. A few 50 cent numbers are offered at 10 cents to clear out. We find our store wretchedly small for the large stock we carry. That is why we have to make these sacrifices.

The Tribune

Display advertisements run regularly will be changed as often as required and will be inserted in the Daily Tribune for $4 per inch per month; if inserted for less than a month, 25 cents per inch each insertion.

The Greenwood Times says that the 2 per cent tax on the output of the mines means a 20 per cent tax on the net profits of some of the low-grade Boundary district ores—a tax that would not be tolerated or paid on any other industry. Such expressions of opinion disgust reasonable-thinking men. How many industrial and business ventures in this province, in the way of farming and lumbering and printing and merchandising, can show a profit? Yet all, without a single exception, are required to pay taxes. The Tribune will venture the assertion that the Greenwood Times is regularly assessed for taxation, yet the Times has not declared very many dividends. How many farmers in British Columbia are making net profits? Yet every one of them is required to pay taxes. How many of the sawmills operated in the province are operated at a profit? Yet every one of them are not only required to pay direct taxes on their real estate, but a royalty, as well, on the lumber they manufacture. It is safe to say that 25 per cent of the men engaged in merchandising are not making a dollar, but they are all required to pay taxes on their merchandise. Is it not about time to quit talking about the inability of our mines to pay taxes? If there are mines in the Boundary district that are being worked at a loss, why advertise the fact? A mine that is unable to pay a tax of two cents a ton on its output had better remain unworked until such time as it can be worked at a profit.

The New Westminster Columbian rushes to defend a man who has not been attacked. It says that premier Dunsmuir has not at his back a servile voting machine. No, but he has as advisers two or three as servile men as ever held office, and if he wishes to remain what the Columbian says he is, that is, "a leader of unquestioned business ability, a man of the highest "integrity and purest honor, broad-"minded, progressive, and loyal to the "core to the interests of British Columbia," he will have to surround himself with heads of departments who are men of unquestioned business ability, men of the highest integrity and purest honor, men broadminded, progressive, and loyal to the core to the interests of British Columbia. Premier Dunsmuir has no use for toadies and less use for servile flatterers.

There is one mining company operating in Kootenay whose directors congratulate the company's shareholders on the present condition of their mine and treasury. The name of the company is the Rambler-Cariboo of Kaslo. The company's president lives in Tacoma, Washington, and one of its directors lives in St. Catherines, Ontario; none of them live in the Old Country. The company recently declared dividend No. 5, payable on the 30th of this month, and the directors assure the shareholders that they may expect dividends every two months hereafter. The deepest workings on the mine is 700 feet, and the smelter returns on the last 50 carloads of ore shipped gave values of 123 ounces silver and 45 per cent lead. The mines of the company are situate on the Kaslo river slope of Slocan district.

The latest advices from the Coast are that Helmcken of Victoria, and not Green of Kaslo, is to be taken into the Dunsmuir cabinet when hon. J. H. Turner resigns as finance minister. Helmcken, at the last session of the legislature, offered a resolution of want-of-confidence in the government, but was too cowardly to press it to a vote. He is a V. V. & E. man, and has introduced as many buncombe resolutions in the house as Smith Curtis has moved meaningless amendments.

The Rossland Miner has had a fit of hysterics, all because the premises of the War Eagle Mining Company were legally searched for arms said to be unlawfully stored thereon. What a shame for anyone to suspect that War Eagle Kirby and his guileless partner, Le Roi McDonald, could do wrong! These two men can have special constables sworn in at will, can store arms on the premises under their control, in fact, can do anything they wish except operate mines successfully, and no one, not even the constituted authorities, dare lift a finger without having the mud batteries of the Rossland Miner turned on them at short range. What a blessing it is to live in a free country!

The honorable J. D. Prentice, provincial secretary and minister of education, who is a sort of fifth-wheel in the Dunsmuir government, is at Rossland working himself to death trying to convince the people of that town that they should cheerfully contribute a portion of the money required for the erection of public school buildings.

The Outcrop, a newspaper published at Peterboro, in East Kootenay, mentions hon. W. C. Wells, the only Liberal in the Dunsmuir government, as a coming premier of British Columbia, and the motion is seconded by the Revelstoke Mail. It is safe to say Wells will never be heard of as a political entity once premier Dunsmuir casts him adrift.

Will the tax-evading newspapers give the names of the mine owners and mining companies that have been driven out of business through the imposition of the mineral tax? For very one so named, The Tribune will name ten that have collapsed through mismanagement and downright dishonesty.

The Victoria Colonist says it is not the personal organ of premier Dunsmuir. Well, the chances are, if James Dunsmuir wanted an article printed in the Colonist it would be printed, notwithstanding any objections that might be made by editor Lugrin. What James says goes when he wants it to go.

Give It a Trial in British Columbia.

New Zealand, the only country which has a compulsory arbitration law, is the only country in which for five years, with one or two insignificant exceptions, there has been no strike or lockout in the world of organized labor. The New Zealand experiment answers every test which can be applied to prove the claim of a new institution to be a permanent and veritable addition to the world's social inventions. Practically it does what it undertook to do—it ushers in industrial peace. Philosophically, it is an extension to a new field—that of industrial anarchy—of an old institution—that of the law—by which social peace has been created in the other territories of disorder. Every day since its introduction the law has struck its roots deeper into the life of the New Zealand people, and it further approves itself by producing not only what was expected of it, but many new and almost equally important fruits, such as checking cut-throat competition between business men and putting an end to trade dishonesty. Another feature of the New Zealand law which commends itself to the philosophical student of institutions is that its appearance came in the direct line of evolutionary development. Other communities, notably Massachusetts, had carried arbitration up to the Rubicon of compulsion. New Zealand took the next step.

ELECTRIC HOISTS WORKING

Successfully on the Comstock.

Electric hoists are not uncommon in ne mining camps in the United States, nd they are now successfully working n some of the mines on the Great Comock lode at Virgina, Nevada, where y many of the miners in British Columia had their first experience underound. As there is one power plant lready installed near Nelson, which ransmits power to Rossland, a disance of forty miles, and another plant process of installation at Cascade, hich will transmit power to the mines Phoenix and other mining camps in he Boundary country, the following arcle, written by Leon M. Hall and printd in the New York Engineering and ining Journal, may be of interest to ining men who read The Tribune:

With the advent of electricity on the omstock, it became necessary to take o the problem of hoisting from conderable depths by means of electrical nergy and after much research and a orough investigation of the then exting electrical hoisting machinery, it as evident that in order to meet our onditions of service and power someing must be had radically different om the usual run of such machinery. he writer then, after discussing the atter with the Risdon Iron Works of an Francisco, decided on the system scribed in this article, the ultimate reult being the development, installation nd successful operation of a continuous ope electric hoist, driven by means of variable speed, three-phase induction otor.

The power of the Comstock is developd on the Truckee river at a point near loriston, 33 miles from the mines in torey county, Nevada. The generating tation is equipped with a 2-750 Kw., phase, 60 cycle, Westinghouse generators and 6-300 Kw. oil-cooled transormers. McCormic turbines are used o drive the generators and a close regulation is secured by means of Lombard overnors. At the station the potential s raised from 400 volts to 24,000 volts, t which pressure it is transmitted over a double circuit of No. 4 hard drawn opper wire. At the sub-station in Virginia City the potential is reduced to 2300 volts and in this form is distributed to the various mining companies. In the case of each hoist but one, namely, that at the C. & C. shaft, it is again reduced to about 450 volts.

The power is purchased of the Truckee River General Electric Company upon a continuous rate basis, the amount being fixed by a peak load of two minutes' duration. Under these conditions, it has therefore been the endeavor of the mining companies to secure a hoist that will operate at the highest possible efficiency and at the same time effect the regulation of the general system to as slight a degree as is consistent with good service.

To meet the condition of high efficiency, it is evident that the motor should operate continuously at or near its full load capacity and be designed especially for the work it has to perform. For a continuous full load condition, the work must of necessity be constant at all points in the lift and the nearest possible approach to this was secured by the adoption of the continuous rope or balanced system, where the load is reduced to the weight of the rock alone. Then to secure the necessary variation in speed an induction motor with a non-induction resistance in both primary and secondary was developed, the resistance being varied by the introduction of a modified form of the ordinary street car controller. With an equipment of this kind the cages are started slowly and the dip in line voltage is comparatively slight, being about 7 per cent at starting. By running on the second notch of the controller one-third of the maximum speed may be maintained for the full length of the shaft.

The hoist itself consists essentially of a main driving drum to secure the necessary friction for lifting. From the main driving drum, the rope is carried over the head sheave, down one compartment, under a movable tail sheave, back to the second compartment over a second head sheave and on to the driving drum. One cage is inserted between the ends of the cable and the other fastened by means of heavy iron clamps, one above and one below the cage in the adjacent compartment. This simple arrangement enables us to vary the relative positions of the cages at pleasure and also permits us to use one cage in a single compartment without reference to the other.

The hoist is necessarily a geared machine, the motor speed being reduced by the introduction of cut gearing. To the main drum is attached a brake ring upon which is operated a heavy post brake. This brake is set automatically by means of a heavy weight and is released by hydraulic pressure. In the case of the Yellow Jacket and Belcher, there are two hoists side by side, both being operated by one motor. One of these is intended for the vertical shaft and the other for the incline, which leaves the vertical at the point where the vein interscets it. Double deck cages are used in each compartment of the vertical shafts and a two-ton self-dumping giraffe in each compartment of the inclines.

The hoists have been erected in the most substantial manner upon concrete foundations and there is practically no vibration and very little noise. The following table will give complete data upon each of the four installations:

In each of the foregoing the continuous rope or balanced system has been adopted and the actual load lifted mounts to the weight of the rock alone, plus the friction losses. The load is constant at all points in the lift, and the strain upon the mechanism equalized at all times except when starting and stopping.

The Yellow Jacket hoist was a success from the start and was operated for more than a month with a single cage in one compartment. This is the heaviest test to which the hoist can be subjected and under these conditions the performance is as near perfection as any hoist I have ever seen. Tests were made during the time and the following are the results: Weight of cage, 1200 lbs.; car, 850 lbs.; rock, 1600 lbs.; total weight lifted, 3650 lbs. Other conditions were: Maximum rope speed, 600 ft. per minute; length of vertical lift, 1175 ft.; time of hoisting, 2 min. 10 sec. from the moment the load was started until cage was landed on chairs at the surface; time to accelarate load, 8 seconds; power required as per wattmeter readings was 88.40 H. P.; theoretical power required, 66.40 H. P. Efficiency of system is therefore about 75 per cent and this includes motor deficiency and all friction losses from secondary of transformers.

Secondary voltage was 525 volts before starting and the running voltage slightly over 500. The maximum current per phase at starting was 180 amperes and 85 amperes when operating at full load. A reading was also taken while lifting the empty cage at 600 ft. per minute and the wattmeter showed 48 H. P.

It will therefore be seen that the results obtained are remarkably good and no trouble should be experienced with a hoist of this character upon any well regulated plant.

It is believed the successful operation of this hoist is a decided advance in mine hoisting—not alone in the high efficiency secured, but also in the large capacity as compared with the size of the motor in use. Of course, there are cases to which this system is not adapted, but wherever it is applicable it is certainly worthy of serious consideration where economical operation is a feature of the development.

All the hoists are built so that the speed can be doubled using two motors instead of one. This would give twice the capacity named in the table.

A Busy Week in Parliament.

LONDON, August 11.—It is still doubtful if parliament will be able to prorogue August 17, but the legislators are working hard with this object in view. Theoretically the house of commons ends its day's business at midnight, but the 12 o'clock rule has been suspended and the past week the house worked till 5 or 6 in the morning in order to get through with the ministerial program. In consequence it has been a most ill-tempered assembly. Each hour was marked by asperities, which is quite unusual. T. P. O'Connor says the late hours were responsible for this. Anybody acquainted with members of parliament can tell at a glance whether they had been up the night before. The hair of the members, in that case, is disheveled, their cheeks are pale and there is a certain hysterical acrid ring in their voices. Many were lying fast asleep at 5 in the morning. Indeed, everybody's temper gives way after these long sittings. The violent scenes the past week were also partly due to the excessive heat.

The small boys who go bathing in the vicinity of the Honeyman foundry are giving the local telephone company no end of trouble. At this point the company has a cable strung for bringing over the wires from the other side, but the small boys discovered it and used it for the purpose of a tug of war with the result that the telephone service with the other side of the lake has been seriously disarranged.

R. F. Green, M. P.P., of Kaslo, has been in the city for several days. Mr. Green came down on business with the department of lands and works, but was summoned home by telegram before he could have it transacted. If he came down to negotiate for a portfolio it would seem to have been with as little success, for all the cabinet ministers are still doing business at the old stand.—Victoria Times.

The proceeds of the ball which is to be given in the park tomorrow evening will be used to defray the cost of the new shell which the club will be required to purchase for the regatta to be held here next summer. This shell will cost something like $500 which, however, will be but a small item in the expense bill which the local club will have to shoulder in connection with the regatta. The best of music will be furnished for the dance Tuesday evening.

Captain Gifford of the Silver King mine was in Nelson yesterday. He has the new school building at the mine well under way and is anxious to see what kind of a school marm the educational department will send him. He said that it is only fair that the applicants for the position should understand that the new school will afford excellent matrimonial possibilities. It is no place for an old maid with store teeth. There are three or four good catches at the mine and the lucky school marm stands to get not only a husband but a comfortable house as well, as the management will undertake to provide the latter in the advent of the school marm makes a benedict out of its storekeeper of bookkeeper.

The C. P. R. officials report that the striking trackmen on the Columbia & Kootenay branch are following the example of the men on the Rossland and Columbia & Western branches and are going back to work. It is reported that the greater number of the trackmen on the C. & K. were at work on Saturday and within the week it is expected that all the places on this branch as well as those on the Nakusp & Slocan will be filled. The company claims to have more men than it requires, but an effort is being made wherever practicable to get the old men back. That, it is said, will be more difficult on the Nakusp & Slocan than on any of the other branches as many of the track foremen on this branch have sought work elsewhere. It is said that the end of the week will see the strike lifted from all the branch lines operated from Nelson.

C. W. McAnn of Kaslo was in Nelson yesterday. He says that it is generally understood throughout the Slocan that R. F. Green is to be taken into the Dunsmuir cabinet. Mr. McAnn said there was very little difference of opinion as to Mr. Green's chance of re-election in the event of his again soliciting the suffrage of the people. The strongest candidate mentioned as an opponent to the present member is Chris Foley, the labor leader, and while it is generally admitted that Foley would make a good race, it is by no means certain that he would consent to run, as the Slocan is like all other districts in that there is a very strong feeling against carpet-baggers. In the event of another contest it is predicted that Green will show a wonderful growth in his following in the city of Kaslo.

Green Hands Make a Mess of It.

The Rossland World of Saturday has the following as a special telegram from Northport: "About 1 o'clock this morning the smelter management, which had been trying to start another furnace in order to attempt to produce a higher grade of matte than has been obtained since the lockout, attempted to tap the second furnace. Owing to the unskilled work of the green employees, the entire molten contents of the furnace was emptied on the floor of the smelter. The fiery stream ran across the floor of the smelter and into the ditch which runs alongside the settling tank. On reaching the water the molten mass began to escape. The settling tank containing tons of matte valued at about $3000 was blown to atoms and the contents of the tank was precipitated into the ditch, also exploding, the stream of boiling metal flowing into the water ditch, causing a continuous series of explosions for some time. At each explosion a great mass of flame and fiery metal was hurled high in the air. All the employees, both those on shift and those at sleep in the bunk house on hearing the explosion and seeing the flames in the sky, ignorant of the cause, and believing their end had come, ran for their lives into the hills, those from the bunk house leaving in their night clothes. They have been venturing back since in small bands, but many have not been heard from, although their clothes and possessions are left behind.

Lardeau Coming to the Front.

The following are the ore shipments made up to date from the Lardeau district. The figures are approximately correct, says the Trout Lake Topic, except those of the Nettie L., which have to a certain extent been guessed at. They are, however, well within the mark:

	Tons.	Value.
Silver Cup	1020	$150,960
Nettie L.	470	58,750
Triune	92	23,751
Cromwell	7	793
St. Elmo	0	510
Ethel	17	1,596
Broadview	26	1,664
Great Northern	28	1,344
Lade Group	6	1,320
Total	1672	$225,689

Was Merely a Family Jar.

The Rossland Miner tried to make it appear that there would be a strike at the Granby company's mines at Phoenix, and the following is what the Phoenix Pioneer says of the matter: "Last week there was a little misunderstanding between some of the carpenters employed by the Granby company and William Yolen Williams, the popular superintendent, in regard to repairing a bridge on the C. P. R. for the purpose of keeping up the ore shipments from this camp uninterruptedly. This week Mr. Williams met those interested in the matter, and after due consideration by both sides, an adjustment was arrived at that was satisfactory to all. While the greater part of the carpenter work to be done till the new buildings go up later in the year is already finished, Mr. Williams has put several carpenters at work, and will put on more as needed. Those that conferred with Mr. Williams are not slow to appreciate the consideration which he showed them. On his part Mr. Williams says that the company is not looking for trouble, but is in the business of mining, and wishes to get along amicably with its employees. As he puts it, it was merely a little "family jar," which is now over. Probably no mining superintendent in Kootenay or Yale is more popular with his employees than is Mr. Williams."

Duncan United Mines.

The Duncan United Mines, Limited, is the name of the company which has been registered in London to take over the business of the Duncan Mines, Limited. The capital of the new company is £300,000 in shares of £1 each. Objects: To acquire gold, silver and other mines, mining rights and metalliferous land in British Columbia or elsewhere; to take over the business of the Duncan Mines, Limited, (in liquidation); to adopt an agreement with the said old company, and to carry on the business of miners, explorers, metallurgists, financiers, iron founders, engineers, wood workers, sawyers, farmers, shipbuilders, ship-owners, etc. No initial public issue. The number of directors is not to be less than three nor more than six; the subscribers are to appoint the first. Qualification, £250. Remuneration, £1000 per annum and a share in the profits, divisible. Registered offices, 6 Great Winchester street, E. C.

Trot Out Your Candidate.

The Victoria Post, which is the official organ in Victoria of the V. V. & E. crowd and the semi-official organ of the chief commissioner of lands and works, says that it is not hoeing the same furrow as the Rossland Miner and the Nelson Miner, but at the same time it would like to bring about the retirement of John Houston from the legislature. It is of opinion that Houston would never know he started in the race if his opponent stood for: (1) Redistribution; (2) Competition in railways; (3) Fiscal reform; and, in addition, was right-minded in the matters of Compulsory Arbitration and Oriental Immigration. Trot out the candidate, and you can have a chance to lose all the V. V. & E. and Wells money that you ever earned.

Debentures Not Easily Sold.

Apparently Canadian municipal debentures are somewhat of a drug on the market, judging from the tenders received by the city of Winnipeg. Out of $900,000 4 per cent debentures offered by the city, only one-third, or $300,000, have been placed. This amount was alloted in two portions to Montreal firms, at the price of $99 and $98.10 respectively. It is quite easy to understand that owing to the vast expansion of Canadian trade local firms can place their money to better advantage than in 4 per cent debentures. In view of the solidity of the guarantee offered by such a city as Winnipeg, one would almist fancy that insurance companies in this country might have been glad of the investment had it been brought to their notice.—London (England) Mining Review.
