NINTH YEAR — NELSON, B. C., MONDAY, AUGUST 5, 1901 — FIVE CENTS

NELSON AT LAST A WINNER

VICTORY PERCHES ON HER BANNER IN A CRICKET GAME.

The Hoodo Lifted and a Rossland Team Easily Vanquished in an Interesting Game.

The cricket match on Saturday between the Rossland and Nelson elevens resulted in an easy victory for the Nelson team, and as it is about the only victory which has come to Nelson in the sporting world this season, it is doubly welcome. The game was witnessed by a good company of spectators, and it is only fair to presume that if the local cricketers would show themselves a little oftener a nearer approach to general interest would be taken in the game and the matches of the team would in a measure be followed by the people of the city as events in which the city and not the club merely had an interest.

The Nelson team won the toss and elected to bat, Sargeaunt and Booth being sent in to face the bowling of Hodges and Sykes. Sargeaunt was quickly disposed of for three and was followed by Stocks. The latter had a short life, being retired by a brilliant catch by Seatle after he had contributed two runs. Wilson then joined Booth, but the latter was retired a few minutes after by a very fine ball from Hodges. Atkinson, who came after Booth, was quickly retired and the score stood 4 wickets for 45 runs, of which 20 had been contributed by Wilson by clean driving. Hay followed Atkinson and was bowled on the first ball, making room for Forbes. Forbes and Wilson then made quite a stand and carried the score to 64, when Wilson was caught and bowled by Hodges for a well-played 33. Wilson's score included one hit to the mattress factory and three fours right to the fence. Elliot then came in, but was apparently never at home, being retired for three runs. Forde then joined Forbes, but the latter was retired a few minutes later on a miss hit. Wetmore then came in only to be bowled on the first ball. He was followed by Criddle, the last Nelson man, who, after a few valiant hits, was bowled by a full pitch. This closed the Nelson innings with a score of 80, and outside of Wilson's score, who was the only man to get into double figures, and Forbes, who played very good cricket, the batting called for no comment. Hodges' bowling was very good throughout the innings, taking seven wickets for 24 runs.

The Rossland men went in for their innings after lunch with Forbes and Wilson doing the bowling for Nelson. From the start it was evident that the Nelson trundlers had the Rossland men at their mercy, as they were both well on the wicket, and only 19 runs were scored throughout the innings, of which 13 were from the bat. Forbes took four wickets for six runs and Wilson five wickets for seven. They were only required to bowl 13 overs, of which six were maidens.

Nelson opened its second innings with Forbes and Atkinson facing the bowling of Hodges and Morrish. It was soon seen that Hodges was tired from his previous exertions and the first two Nelson men carried the score to 15 before Atkinson was caught. Stocks who followed, was soon retired by a well-thrown ball by Seatle after he had contributed three to the score. Sargeaunt then went in and was bowled by the first ball. Booth then joined Forde, but the latter soon gave place to Wilson. Booth retired shortly after for a well-played nine, the score then standing 32 for 5 wickets. Forbes then came in and he and Wilson carried the score to 58, when the former was bowled by Morrish in attempting to slog. Wetmore, who followed Forbes, was bowled on the first ball, making a brace, and leaving the score 58 for 7 wickets. Criddle then joined Wilson and slogged at every ball that offered getting 10 runs before he was bowled by Morrish. Elliot replaced Criddle and then was seen some magnificent free hitting on Wilson's part, and he and Elliott carried the score from 78 to 185 before they were parted by Wilson being caught at the cover, Elliot being not out for 20. Wilson's performance at the bat in this innings was a very good display of hitting, his "on drives" being remarkably fine. His score included four hits over the fence and 15 "fours." He was missed four times, but this does not detract from the merit of his performance, which was certainly the best ever seen in Nelson. During this innings Morrish bowled verw well. He took eight wickets for 102 runs during the two innings.

When the Rossland men went in for their second innings they had to face a score of 246 to 19. Mackenzie and Hodges were sent in to open the innings. The former was foolishly run out and gave way to Seatle. This couple made quite a stand and carried the score to 33 before the partnership was dissolved by Seatle being bowled by Forbes for a well-played nine. Rolt followed Seatle and another Rossland wicket fell for one run. Gordon followed Rolt and he and Hodges carried the score to 45, when Gordon was bowled by Wetmore, bringing in Renwick. Hodges continued to hit freely and he and Renwick had lifted the scores to 59, when the latter was run out through over eagerness. Morrish then came in, only to be retired in the next over, making room for Sykes. Rossland then lost Hodges, who was put out on the catch of the day, which was made by Elliot, who surpassed his feat of last season. This sealed the Rossland men's fate, as the innings closed with an addition of but four runs, leaving the Nelson team ahead 176 runs on the two innings.

The result of the day's play showed that several of the Rossland men were comparative strangers to the game, but the Rossland men are good sportsmen and they determined to make the best showing they could with the talent available. Of the visitors Hodges displayed his acknowledged ability as a batsman as well as a bowler. Rolt was very unfortunate in that he was retired for a single, as he is regarded as a very dangerous man and a hard hitter, and when set very difficult to get rid of. W. Seatle, who played with the Rossland eleven, proved himself a very able substitute. In fact, the Rossland men are prepared to concede that they are uniformly fortunate in their Nelson substitutes.

Of the Nelson team it may be said that their fielding was very fair, and the three Nelson trundlers bowled to great advantage, Wetmore's 5 wickets for 35 runs being particularly welcome in the second innings. J. Laing Stocks surprised everyone as a wicket keep, although he himself declares that he is out of date.

It is to be hoped that the next person who takes over the captaincy of the Nelson team in the place of Mr. Forbes, who is about to leave for China, will see to it that the Rossland matches are not dropped. There is also every likelihood that matches could be arranged with the Greenwood team, and in this way interest in the game could be maintained.

HASTENING TO SICK BED

Of Empress Frederick.

HAMBURG, August 4.—Crown prince Frederick William, prince Eitel-Frederick and prince August William arrived at Cronberg, where the dowager empress Frederick is lying dangerously ill, at a late hour tonight. Other royal personages who have arrived are prince Adolf of Sithaumbeig-Lippe, prince and princess Friedrich Carl of Hesse and the crown prince and princess of Greece. The following bulletin concerning the condition of the illustrious patient was issued during the afternoon: "The external disease from which her majesty is suffering and, which for years has been slowly increasing has in the course of the last few weeks extended to the internal organs. Her majesty's strength is diminishing rapidly owing to inability to take sufficient nourishment. She is conscious and at the present without pain." Emperor William has not yet arrived at Cronberg. He is expected there at 3 a. m. tomorrow. Professor Renevers, the specialist, wired his majesty to come in all hasts.

LONDON, August 4.—King Edward, who has been staying at Cowes, has arranged to leave Portsmouth at 3 a. m. tomorrow by special train which is due to arrive in London at 5 a. m. He will proceed immediately from London by special train and boat via Flushing to the bedside of his sister. It is not yet known whether queen Alexandra will accompany him. The duke of Cambridge is already in Cronberg.

LONDON, August 5, 6:20 a. m.—King Edward has postponed his departure from Portsmouth for Cronberg until 3 p. m.

THE EMPRESS FREDERICK

HER CONDITION IS CONSIDERED PRECARIOUS.

Kaiser's Program Has Been Changed as a Result--Ford's Weekly Continental Gossip.

NEW YORK, August 4.—In a dispatch from London, I. N. Ford, correspondent of the New York Tribune, says: Empress Frederick's condition is evidently precarious and her end cannot be deferred many days. The German emperor would not have charged the crown prince with the duty of representing him at the festivities in Hamburg on the arrival of count von Waldersee if there had not been an alarming change in his mother's condition. The reception to von Waldersee would have offered to the monarch, who understands the art of stage management, a remarkable opportunity for commanding the attention of Europe, and nothing short of compulsion would have deprived him of the advantage of a dramatic situation. These inferences are confirmed by information from those in touch with the court here that the empress, like her mother before her, has wished to have her condition pass as far as possible without observation and that she has steadily been losing strength with the progress of her trouble. The bad news has been kept back for a week, as was done when queen Victoria was at Osborne after her first stroke of paralysis, and public announcements made when the situation had become serious. Queen Victoria's last days were darkened by the knowledge that the empress' malady had been pronounced cancerous, and she insisted upon having detailed reports of the medical examination and was unable to dismiss the subject from her mind. The king and queen may be summoned any day to Cronberg. The king's recent exclamation that scientific experts ought to discover some method of curing cancer is explained by his grief over his sister's struggle for life and his brother-in-law's death from the same disease. There have been rumors that the king himself was in dread of an attack of the same malady and had appointed a German specialist to keep watch over his throat, but these may be dismissed as morbid fancies of court attendants. The king has a German physician, but his health is better than it has been for a long period.

BOERS ON PORTUGUESE SOIL.

The mystery respecting the passage of a Boer commando into Portuguese territory is not fully cleared up. The section where the Boers are now making a desperate stand is a large quadrilateral of mountainous country stretching from De Aar to Stromberg and Beaufort west to Queenstown. They are divided into small roving detachments, which are alternately massed and dispersed. The section of Cape Colony exposed to the raids of these bands of Cape rebels and Boers is equal to about half the area of the Orange River Colony. In the clearance of these mountains general French is finding an undertaking of exceptional difficulty, when the rebels are aided by their former neighbors and know every foot of the ground.

CHAMBERLAIN'S NERVE.

Whatever may be said about the moralities of reprisals on ruffianism there is a sense of relief in having a strong man at the front with the courage required for speaking plainly. British politics has reached a stage of flabbiness where the functions of the opposition are paralyzed by faction feuds and intrigues and the ministers lack the energy needed for pulling themselves together and winding up the session with dignity and strength. Suddenly there is leadership by a statesman who takes a serious view of a war employing more than two hundred thousand British soldiers for two years and who knows his own mind. Mr. Chamberlain's speech last night came like a strong gale after a stagnant calm. It created a great uproar among the Irish members and intense excitement in the house, and when the last word was spoken it was known that the government had decided upon a policy of reprisal in answer to commandant Kritzinger's challenge. It would not be an eye for an eye, or a tooth for a tooth, but all Boers shooting wounded soldiers or killing natives in the service of the British would be court-martialed and sentenced to death. Mr. Chamberlain did not flinch from the start to the finish. He declared that houses which sheltered those concerned in outrages were to be burned; that the policy of devastating the enemy's country was a natural operation of war; that concentration camps had been humanely designed and administered in spite of terrible mortality; that the guerilla war entered into a campaign of brigandage and outrage; that mistaken leniency was the policy of the past, and that atrocities and crimes against the law of civilized warfare would be severely dealt with. Mr. Chamberlain was terribly in earnest and represented the common sense of the middle classes of England, now as always the real stronghold of political power, when he contended that the time for illusions and sentiment had passed, and that a war with irresponsible brigands and marauders must be brought to an end in a business-like way. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman enacted the part of a captain facing both ways for the Liberal factions and sir Edward Grey was rewarded for the courage of his convictions by flouts and insults from the irreconcilables on the Nationalist side. Commandant Kritzinger has confounded the pro-Boer partisans here just as Mr. Kruger succeeded in doing two years ago, when he issued his ultimatum. Whether the British were right or wrong in ordering the punishment of notorious Cape rebels, the slaughter of wounded soldiers and captured blacks was not a policy which the most infatuated Radical could condone. There cannot be clemency to murderers even in time of war.

NAVAL MANEUVERS.

Accounts of the sham warfare conducted by the fleets are confusing and long dispatches describing complex maneuvers are dull reading. Possibly Mr. Kipling, who is afloat, may succeed finally in exciting enthusiasm for this costly naval practice. At present the main thing proved seems to be that luck is more important than naval strategy in determining the fortunes of war. The fleet standing for home defenses was prevented by fog from detaining the hostile fleet on its way to the Sicily islands, and it has been baffled by fortune at every turn. It had the worst of the cruiser action, yet was able to raise the blockade of Alderney. It is difficult to strike a balance between the performances of the admirals and decide which has proved the smarter tactician and this seems to be the chief object of naval maneuvers. There are a good many sceptics who question the utility of sham battles at sea and class them with the Aldershot reviews as poor training for actual war. Comment is often heard that the Americans, when the war with Spain came on, profited by their constant target practice and knew how to handle the big guns and that the same kind of expert training in shooting to hit would be more valuable than tactical maneuvers, which can never be on the same level as in war. The battle of Colenso was lost to Aldershot, and the croakers suggest that a future Trafalgar cannot be won by maneuvers under imaginary conditions.

WILL INSPECT PROPERTIES

IN THE WHITE GROUSE MINING DISTRICT.

San Francisco Men Who Have the Fisher and Harris Group Bonded En Route to the Claims.

James D. Byrnes and Phil Corcoran of San Francisco, who have been stopping at the Hume for the past two days, left last evening for the White Grouse district. Mr. Byrnes, who is state senator for California, is one of the most prominent members of the company which has the bond upon the Harris and Fisher groups of claims in the White Grouse district. Mr. Cochrane, who accompanies him, is the man who secured the bond upon the groups for the company. They are going to look over the properties and will then see what can be done toward reconciling the contending factions among the owners of the property which are represented in the litigation which has been started under the suit of Harris vs. Fisher. If this matter can be arranged satisfactorily work upon the property will be started, as the company holding the bond upon the property has ample funds available for development purposes, but it does not intend to buy into a law suit. The bond upon this property has been hung up for more than a year, to the detriment of the entire district. There has not been very much work done upon the property, and the entire section is in a measure awaiting the development of the Harris and Fisher groups.

Senator Byrnes, who is a man of some 74 years of age, has but recently returned from a trip to New York, where he became interested in the manufacture of a new explosive, which has been named electrite. This, it is expected, will altogether supplant the dynamite and giant powders now used in mining. From experiments which have been made with it, it is pronounced to be very superior to both of these explosives, in that it not only has a third greater power but that it is smokeless and gives forth no gases or fumes. It is said to be a vegetable preparation and is the result of elaborate experiments extended over a period of two years. It is said to be entirely harmless in that it will not freeze, nor will it explode without the aid of a certain cap. A powerful company has been formed for the purpose of putting the powder, or whatever it might more properly be called, upon the market. The chief manufactory for the United States will be in the vicinity of Niagara Falls, New York. Senator Byrnes has an arrangement with the present company for the manufacturing of the preparation for the Dominion of Canada and is now considering the best method of meeting the demand which the introduction of the article upon the market is expected to create. P. J. Russell will be the local agent for the Canadian makers, and in the course of a few days will have samples of the product on hand so that those who desire can test its worth. It is said that the new article can be manufactured so cheaply that it has nothing to fear from any competition which the makers of the old line explosives may be expected to put up.

It sometimes happens that a woman's hair is a bit of fiction founded on fact.

The yield of English and Scotch potatoes will be fully up to the average, while Ireland promises the best yield since 1895, which was a grand year.

BECOMING LESS FRIENDLY

Chinese Again Showing Their Teeth

PEKIN, August 4.—American and European residents assert that the demeanor of the Pekin populace is constantly becoming more unfriendly and that if the allied troops depart the Chinese will resume their old habit of jostling and cursing foreigners in the streets. The legation defenses are now approaching completion. Generally speaking, they consist of brick walls from 15 to 20 feet high and from three to four thick, loopholed for rifles. The ministers of the powers ignored the plan for a uniform system of defense submitted by the general and consequently the governments are working independently. It is the policy of the ministers to avoid conspicuous works of defense, lest those should prove an irritant, provoking instead of preventing hostilities. Most of the engineers have recommended stronger defense than the ministers will sanction. Major Robertson of the Ninth infantry, who commands the United States legation guard, has written to Mr. Rockhill to protest against what he calls "the defenseless position of our legation," representing that it is exposed to attack on four sides. Mr. Rockhill has replied that it is not intended to maintain a fortress, but merely a wall for protection against unexpected mob violence. The wall is made of brick out of deference to Chinese pride. The French and Italians still remain here. The non-fulfillment of the agreement to evacuate public places in a fortnight causes some inconvenience to the military authorities. Only the German barracks have been completed. The French barracks have hardly been begun. The troops are grumbling over being compelled to give up comfortable quarters and to find temporary camps.

WILL BE A FIGHT TO FINISH

CONFERENCES OF THE STEEL MEN PROVE RESULTLESS.

President Shaffer Says He Is Ready for the Fray--San Francisco's Labor Trouble.

NEW YORK, August 4.—The full executive committee of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers arrived here Saturday morning. They were to hold a conference with J. P. Morgan, president C. M. Schwab of the United States Steel Corporation and other officials of the big trust during the day.

The steel conference held yesterday failed to arrive at an agreement. The proposals of J. P. Morgan through president Shaffer and secretary Williams of the Amalgamated Association one week ago are still open, but the strikers' representatives showed no inclination to accept them. The representatives of the strikers left the conference at which they have failed to agree with the announcement that they would go into secret session themselves later in the afternoon. It was admitted that there might be action at that meeting which would change the situation.

NEW YORK, August 4.—After the labor men went into session it was given out by one of their number that the proposition made by the United States Steel Corporation would not be accepted and that there would be no further conferences between the corporation and the Amalgamated Association unless it should be asked for by the former. It was also said that the Amalgamated Association representatives probably would leave for Pittsburg tomorrow morning.

PITTSBURG August 4.—It is now a fight to the bitter finish between the great billion dollar trusts and organized labor. Mr. Shaffer says that he is ready by every peaceable means within his power to win a victory. No quarter is to be given and none will be requested. The entire management of the strike has been placed in the hands of president Shaffer. He has absolute power to call out every man who is connected with the organization and he intends to do it. He is satisfied with the progress of the fight to date. He finds that none of his battle lines have been broken. The promise is made by Mr. Shaffer that the trust will find that the Amalgamated Association has strong roots in many of its mills.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 4.—Mayor Phelan's efforts to effect an amicable settlement of labor troubles in this city have not yet been productive of any definite result. At the mayor's request, the City Front Federation has agreed to let the existing conditions remain unchanged for a short time, to give him time to secure a final settlement of terms of compromise from the Employers' Association. The labor council has given its executive power to call out whatever unions it may deem necessary if the strike is not ended by tonight. The council has manifested a disposition to inaugurate a war of retaliation against the employers who persist in an attitude of hostility toward the unions. The Longshoremen's Union has appointed 50 extra pickets and adopted resolutions censuring all persons who have engaged in quarrels with non-union men or the police during the strike and calling upon all union men to do all in their power to preserve the peace.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 4.—Whether the local labor trouble is to be terminated or whether it is to be extended to other scenes and possibly to other coast cities will probably be determined tomorrow afternoon. The managers of the Employers' Association are to meet then and to decide on their final position. Only two vessels left port today, the steamer Conemaugh for Alaska and the steamer Santa Rosa for Southern California.

Mountain Climbers.

BANFF, N. W. T., August 4.—Mount Assiniboia, the Matterhorn of the Canadian Rockies, after seven attempts in as many seasons, is still uncovered. Walter D. Wilcox of Washington, D. C., and Henry G. Bryant, ex-president of the Geographical Society of Philadelphia, accompanied by two Canadian Pacific Swiss guides, were defeated in an attempt to reach its summit, although an altitude of 11,125 feet was attained. This is a much higher point than has previously been reached. Frenz the chief Swiss guide, says that Mount Sir Donald, the highest of the Selkirk peaks, is a morning walk compared to Mount Assisibola. Professor Fay of Tufts College, Boston, and Messrs. Scattegood and Oltram of Philadelphia, accompanied by Swiss guides, succeeded in making the first ascent of Mount Vaux and Chancellor peak, but were defeated on Mount Goodsir. Messrs. Charles Thompson of Dallas, Texas, C. W. Weed of New York and W. Little of Brunswick, Maine, with Swiss guides, failed to reach the summit of Mount Hungable, which the guides claim will prove another Assiniboia. The ascent of Mount Sir Donald was most successfully made yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Berne of Kent, England, Mrs. Berne being the first lady who has reached the summit.

BAKER STREET, NELSON, B. C.

The Tribune

Display advertisements run regularly will be changed as often as required and will be inserted in the Daily Tribune for $4 per inch per month; if inserted for less than a month, 25 cents per inch each insertion.

The Victoria Colonist gave David B. Bogle, the only magazine writer in the province, a free hand to write a reply to the Mine Owners' Association Memorial. It is needless to say the Reply logically demolishes the Memorial.

With the Le Roi Gold Mining Company as owner of the Rossland Miner and the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company as owner of the Nelson Miner, what show has any of the other daily newspapers in Kootenay for an existence? A gold mining company and a coal mining company, both with millions of capital, can pour a few hundreds a month down newspaper ratholes and never skip a dividend by so doing.

R. F. Green, M. P. P., of Kaslo, is at the Coast, and it is presumed that when he returns he will be minister of mines and an election will be on. It is said that he is to have opposition; that William MacAdams of the Sandon Paystreak or Chris Foley of Rossland will make the race against him. Foley would, undoubtedly, be a strong candidate, were he a resident of the riding; but MacAdams would only be wasting his time and money if he entered the race.

Legal recognition of Organized Labor and Compulsory Arbitration are all the planks that a good candidate needs to have to win an election in any constituency in Kootenay. The one if carried into effect would give Labor Unions the same status as incorporated companies; the other would put an end to strikes, a condition that causes more money loss and more hardship to communities than crop-failures-and-the-presence-of "horses" in ore bodies.

On Wednesday of this week Bernard McDonald will either be sustained or dismissed by the directors of the companies owning the Le Roi and other mines at Rossland. As the money with which the Le Roi mine is operated is the aggregate savings of the workingmen of Canada, it is to be hoped that the workingmen of Rossland will have the satisfaction, on Thursday next, of hearing that Bernard McDonald is looking for a job.

The Spokane Spokesman-Review says "the Canadians are evidently asquainted "ed with something besides cricket and "lacrosse. The Toronto baseball club "leads in the Eastern League race." The editor of the Review must be a kid. Why away back in the sixties, when the famous Red Stocking baseball team of Cincinnati were educating the people of the States in the fine points of baseball and defeating every team they played against, the Maple Leafs of Guelph, Ontario, were doing the same thing in Canada. Baseball is as much of a national game in Canada as it is in the United States; but Canadians are athletic sports and take an interest in more games than one.

Advises Them to Disband.

David B. Bogle says the Memorial of the Mine Owners' Association is not a complaint against legitimate grievances nor an appeal for necessary reforms, but an indictment against the province. It is based upon a supposed condition of affairs which does not really exist and buttressed by an ex parte and disingenuous citation of circumstances which are distorted from their true meaning and unfairly applied in their real bearing. The memorial is weak, inaccurate, disingenuous and fatuously impolitic. It is apparently designed to lower the credit and sully the reputation of the province among outsiders who are unable to discriminate between the truth and falsity of the statements which it contains and apt, through ignorance, to accept without question the inferences which it draws. It has unfortunately been indorsed by an association containing men eminent in the profession and practice of mining who have doubtless accepted the general principle of making a complaint about matters wherein legislation might improve the conditions under which they work, but who have not taken the trouble to investigate the statements contained in this Memorial, nor to consider its actual effect. It would be decidedly to the advantage of the province and to that of their own reputations, if gentlemen in that position were to withdraw from an association which has destroyed its reputation and prostituted its representative position, which remains an instrument of evil with no longer the possibility of accomplishing any good.

CATCH FISH

Nothing is so disappointing to the angler as to return home after a day's fishing with an empty creel. You may make elaborate preparations and take apparently everything that is necessary, rod, line, reel, casts, flies, troll, bait, net and gaff, but unless they are made of the right stuff it is money thrown away. Vexation and often profanity follows. We are careful in the selection of our fishing tackle and know something about it, too. If you buy your fishing tackle off us you will CATCH FISH, but, if you don't, well perhaps you might get a sucker.

Kaslo's Pride.

Kaslo has every reason to be proud of her flower gardens. For the size of the town there are more flowers grown here than in any other town in British Columbia. Everybody seems to make a great effort to have their grounds appear as beautiful as possible. With the application of a little water the soil around Kaslo will grow almost anything. Apples, plums, peaches, cherries and all small fruits appear to grow easily. Although there are a number of fruit-trees-in-town-which-are-bearing heavily, there is not as many as might be, considering the ease with which they are grown.—Kaslo Kootenaian.

Victim of Italian Brigands.

Italian railroads seem destined to maintain their reputation for insecurity, and those who travel on them are just as much in danger of brigands as were the tourists who in times gone by were wont when traveling by post chaise and by stage coach to be held up on the banditti-infested high roads of the Italian peninsula. The latest victim of these Italian railroad brigands is the duchess Sophia of Bavaria, married to count Hans Torring, daughter of that duke Charles Theodore of Bavaria, who is so famous as an oculist, and who is the eldest brother of the late empress of Austria. While traveling the other day on the line between Milan and Genoa she and her maid were suddenly seized, bound, gagged and blindfolded by three well-dressed fellow occupants of the compartment and robbed of all the valuable jewelry the duchess had with her. The crime was not discovered until the train was on the point of reaching Milan, and in spite of every effort, no trace has been found of the robbers. Duchess Sophia, whose sister is married to prince Albert, the heir apparent to the crown of Belgium, and her third sister to the heir presumptive to the throne of Bavaria, is a very attractive young woman, who until her marriage used to assist her father in his operations and in nursing his patients. Her husband, count Torring, is the chief of one of those mediatized and formerly reigning families who at one time exercised sovereign sway over the petty states of Germany, and who retain a number of royal prerogatives including that of meeting on a footing of equality with the reigning houses of Europe.

William's Plans.

BERLIN, August 4.—In consequence of unsatisfactory intelligence regarding the condition of the dowager empress Frederick, emperor William has abandoned his intention of attending the festivities at Embden, Cuxhaven, Hamburg and Wilhelmshaven. His majesty will probably be represented by the crown prince Frederick William. Emperor William has telegraphed from Bergen, Norway, to the senate here announcing the abandonment of his proposed visit to Hamburg, on account of the news regarding his mother's condition, adding that he has charged the crown prince to represent him at the reception to field marshal count von Waldersee, on his return from China, and thanking Hamburg for the extensive preparations made by the city, which has always been foremost in demonstrating German patriotism.

Angry at the Duke.

LONDON, August 4.—In great contrast with the favorable comments elicited here by the contribution of £5000 to the queen Victoria memorial fund by the delegates of the New York Chamber of Commerce who recently visited London, is the anger which the duke of Orleans' contribution of £100 has been received. The St. James Gazette terms the duke's action "astounding impudence," and in common with the Daily Chronicle urges the lord mayor to return the contribution on account of the part which the duke of Orleans took in the caricatures of queen Victoria which appeared in the Paris newspapers. The same paper says the New Yorkers' gift "emphasizes in a dignified and graceful manner the feeling which we feel sure is general in the United States."

Mesdames Kruger and Steyn Paid.

NEW YORK, August 4.—General Baden-Powell asserts that Mrs. Kruger after president Kruger left South Africa for Europe until her death had been in receipt of £20 a month from the British government and that she also had the free use of a government carriage and government horses. The dispatch from London to the Journal and Advertiser containing this statement goes on: "The Mafeking hero also states that Mrs. Steyn, wife of president Steyn, of the late Orange Free State, was paid £100 a month by the government and likewise had the use of a carriage and horses." This latter statement is said to be confirmed by a letter from Mrs. Steyn to a niece in Scotland, in which she wrote: "I never lived so good in my life."

REPORT IS SATISFACTORY

ANNUAL MEETING OF LONDON & B. C. GOLDFIELDS.

Has the Best Showing of Any British Company Operating in the Province of British Columbia.

The report which the directors of the London and British Columbia Goldfields presented to their shareholders at their last annual meeting comprises much more pleasant reading than most of the reports which find their way to the people who put up the cash for the development of mining properties acquired in this province by British companies. The subject matter of the report is contained in the following:

THE YMIR MINES.

One of the company's principal assets is still represented by shares in this company, the enhanced value of which is fully demonstrated by that company's improved position and the large profits now being made from month to month. During 1900 extra stamps and other machinery have been installed, whereby the revenue earning capacity of the mine has been more than doubled. The cost of this machinery, etc., was entirely met out of the profits of that year. Ore reserves have been blocked out for a depth of about 400 feet, and the vein sunk on for a further depth of 200 feet or more, where it was found to carry similar widths and values to that above.

A tunnel is also being driven for the purpose of working the mine at a depth of 1000 feet below the surface, and is expected to be completed by the end of this year.

The present operating profits amount to about £5000 per month.

Practical bulk experiments have also taken place proving the suitability of cyanide to the treatment of the tailings, from which a further monthly profit of nearly £1500 is expected.

The London and British Columbia Goldfields Company's share-holding in this company is a considerable one, forming a valuable asset which the directors are anxious to, as far as possible, retain.

THE WHITEWATER MINES.

The London and British Columbia Goldfields Company's share interest in this mine remains practically the same as at the end of 1899.

The miners' strike did not terminate until February, 1900, and as some difficulty was then experienced in getting a suitable labor force together, it was not until somewhat later that the mine was able to resume shipments, which, however, were again suspended at the end of last year owing to the action of the American Smelter Combination in refusing to renew their contracts for dealing with the silver lead ores in the district.

This latter circumstance was unfortunate, occurring as it did just at the time when the mine had commenced to pay dividends, which, from the appearance of the developments then being carried out, gave every promise of continuance.

From these and more recent developments our engineers report the mine as looking far better than it has done for a long period previously.

Under these latter circumstances, and in view of the assistance recently granted to the local silver lead smelters by the Canadian government, your directors look forward to an early settlement of the question and a resumption of shipments which it is believed would soon put the company again in a dividend-paying position.

THE ENTERPRISE (B. C.) MINES.

At this mine also the miners' strike prevented work from being carried on until about the end of February, 1900, when a sufficient labor force was procured and mining operations were commenced as soon as possible.

These operations soon revealed the fact that it was not practicable to handle and separate the ore by means of hand sorting without undue expense and considerable loss and consequently steps were taken for the erection of a suitable concentrator for the mechanical treatment of the ore, pending which only small shipments have been made and work principally confined to the further development of the mine.

These developments have been satisfactory in largely adding to the ore reserves previously opened up.

The shares held by the London and British Columbia Goldfields Company in this company remain practically the same as when last reported.

THE RUTH MINES.

It will be remembered that the principal vein on this property which in the early history of the mine produced such large quantities of rich ore was cut off by a huge fault, and appeared to be lost altogether. A considerable amount of development work has since been carried out for the double purpose of again finding the vein, and in looking for others, with the result that two strong veins of high grade have recently been opened up, which, it is believed, will entirely restore the company's original position, and greatly enhance the value of the interest held by the London and British Columbia Goldfields Company, which remains the same as when last reported.

The Kettle River Power Company has been formed to carry out and develop the concession of the provincial Cascade Company for utilizing the Cascade falls of the Kettle river for the purpose of generating and supplying electricity for power to the towns, mines, smelters and other undertakings within a radius of 40 miles of Grand Forks city. Within this area are contained the Rossland and Boundary districts, already the most important mining districts of British Columbia.

The advancement of the Boundary district has recently been so appreciable that it is confidently expected that that district alone will require more power than the Kettle river power undertaking will be able to supply when developed to its full capacity.

Owing to causes over which your administration could have no control, it became quite impossible during the last year to realize the company's share assets except at a large sacrifice, which your directors did not feel it would be to the interests of the company to do, and consequently the cash profit on shares sold amounted to only £9517 19s. 9d., which, after meeting general administration and other expenditure, gave a net balance of £3012 19s. 10d.

The policy adopted by the Ymir company in putting its large profits into the mine instead of distributing same as dividends also had an unfavorable effect upon the profit and loss account herewith presented, as otherwise by its large holding the London and British Columbia Goldfields Company would have been entitled to some £12,000 from that source alone, which, with the balance of £3012 19s. 10d., would have been sufficient for a 10 per cent cash dividend on the capital of the London and British Columbia Goldfields Company.

The mining claims and options which appear at £6766 11s. 10d. are taken at their actual cost, notwithstanding that included in these are the Alma claims adjoining the Ymir.

Having regard to these valuations, and to the fact that the company's very large interest in the Kettle River Power Company also appears at the actual amount expended upon it, the directors think the shareholders will agree that they have dealt with the valuation of assets on a very conservative basis, the benefit of which policy will be felt at an early date.

GOSSIP OF THE CONTINENT

Max O'Rell in New York Journal.

The deep mourning period for the late queen Victoria is over and half mourning will continue for six months.

The German emperor is growing a beard again and allowing his mustache to droop, instead of aiming at his eyes. As the face of a monarch belongs to history, busts will have to be made a la Janus, a double face, back to back, one with a beard and one without, so that posterity may know how William II looked. Happy German people, who have not to be concerned about more sensational news than that!

The tuberculosis congress over, the members will be received by king Edward. Dr. Brouardel, the great French specialist, declares that spitting in the streets sets free the dangerous germs of consumption. This made such an impression that parliament will pass a law to prohibit spitting if police notices are not effective. The cuspidor is a source of great danger to the community. Americans will hear this and take it to heart.

General French, the best cavalry leader and most useful English officer serving in South Africa, was lately sent from the Transvaal to the Cape. What Englishmen do not know or even realize is that the rebellion in Cape Colony is assuming most alarming proportions, and the hanging of rebels will only have on their friends the effect which the burning of farms had on the Boers—make them desperate, increase their numbers and their activity. Things look really bad. I am assured that the king is sick of the whole thing, and well he may be!

Kubelik, the marvelous young violinist that Charles Frohman has engaged for the next season at $1000 for a performance, says English women make him nervous. He wishes they were more dignified. He has been mobbed by enthusiastic females, like Paderewski; he has been adored and hates it. American ladies, please note. Personally, I have always maintained that the so-much vaunted modesty of Anglo-Saxon women is much exaggerated. So think all the stars of the operatic stage and concert platform, who, when they return home to France or Italy boast of successes which have nothing to do with their art, and which ought to put English and American women on their guard and make them very careful in their dealings with them.

The Boers declare they can hold out another year, and everybody believes it. Another year of war means $600,000,000 added to the burden of England, and it means all the possibilities of the year in the way of foreign complications. Who knows what may happen before July, 1902? The Morocco and Newfoundland questions may at any moment bring the English face to face with France; the Nicaragua and Alaska questions are full of perilous possibilities; those who know India best are most anxious as to the trend of affairs in that part of the world. These clouds may pass away, as many another has passed away—and they may not. The Boer leaders see them, and they are cheered by them, for they rightly hold that, with another war upon her hands, Great Britain would have to loosen her grip upon the two South African republics, and perhaps even let them go.

The famous mammoth "uniced" in Siberia is on its way to St. Petersburg. Its size is more than three times that of a full grown elephant. Its hair, skin and flesh are absolutely preserved, and there are remains of undigested food in its stomach. This is a wonderful find, as the mammoth must have lived five or six thousand years ago. Of course there are still existing today restaurants that supply food which would take longer than that to digest. It was not so many months ago that a sarcophagus, with a Rameses in it, was discovered in some excavation made in the neighborhood of Memphis, Egypt (not Tennessee). In the sarcophagus was found some bread in an almost perfect state of preservation. People who wondered at it evidently never had tasted the sandwiches that are dispensed in English railroad depots.

Professor Gerhardt, a famous Berlin physician, has delivered a very interesting lecture on the duration of life. He stated that far fewer persons lose their health through overwork than from the enjoyment of the good things of life. He might have mentioned Gladstone and Littre, undoubtedly the two men who worked most hard in life. They died at 88 and 90. Of all followers who learned professions, he says, the evangelical clergyman has the greatest prospect of long life. He advocates early marriage, and a strict time table. Alcohol and tobacco are poisons and calculated to shorten life; their very moderate use, however, has no serious effects. Affluence, with plenty of work, is excellent, but affluence combined with ease curtails life. The lecturer concluded by saying that the greatest aids to the attainment of old age are moderation in all things and plenty of occupation. He should have added, and an amiable philosophy and a happy disposition.

Dr. Aromstrong is a bee fancier, and on Saturday had all the small boys in town searching for a hive that had swarmed and went astray. One hive has swarmed seven times since May 1st and the doctor claims he has 200 pounds of honey in sight. He presented the agricultural editor of The Tribune with some of the honey, and that scientific gentleman pronounces it the best that he has ever tasted.

Tony Leyden, who made his escape from the Nelson jail last week, is still at large and the police have about given up all hopes of recapturing him. There is now just the odd chance that he may be taken along some of the trails in the vicinity of Trail or Rossland, but this is about the last chance the police have. Should Leyden get across the boundary he will be safe, as the offence for which he was serving time is not an extraditable one.

Alexander Swanson died at his residence in this city yesterday. The deceased was a miner and was employed by A. H. Kelly as foreman at the May and Jennie property before it was taken over by the Fluetot syndicate. He had been ailing for about a year and recently took a trip to California for his health. He returned about two months ago convinced that his days were about numbered and quietly waited for the end, which came yesterday. His funeral will take place this afternoon from the undertaking parlors of J. G. Bunyan & Comapny.

A. E. Rand of New Westminster, who is at present stopping at the Phair, does not take kindly to the attempt which is being made by a certain portion of the press to make him wealthy by reason of the reported oil discoveries at Grand Forks. Mr. Rand says that the reports are correct in so far as they state that he is interested in the work which is now going on for the discovery of oil, but so far the oil has not been discovered nor does he expect to come upon oil for some time, although he has seen it in print that he has a well flowing already. In conversation with a Tribune representative last evening Mr. Rand stated that so far nothing had been attempted beyond the sinking of a prospect hole. This was now down something over 100 feet, but it had not yet struck solid rock and he had no means of knowing whether he should expect oil at 500 feet or at 1000 feet. One thing he was sure of and that was that there were all the indications of oil on the ground and he proposed to prospect the ground thoroughly in the hope of striking it.

FROM THE SLOCAN ALL THE Mining News Is Encouraging.

The Sandon Paystreak of Saturday says that operations have been resumed at the Whitewater mine and yesterday a gang of ten men was put on fixing the road and 22 started to work in the mine, besides a small force in the mill. By tomorrow the force will be complete with 50 men on the payroll at the mine, mill and dumps. This force will operate the mine and mill for one shift. There is nothing definite as to when another shift will be put on. Dan McKinnon will manage the mill. It is reported that the Whitewater has contracted for its whole output with the Trail smelter. Already 600 tons of concentrates have been shipped from the ore stacked at the K. & S. sidetrack. Manager Wheeler was in town yesterday and stated that there was no necessity for any more men going to Whitewater as he is giving the old men the preference and there are already several men there from Rossland.

The Minnesota mill commenced to grind yesterday on rock from the dumps at the Ivanhoe mine. P. J. Hickey stated yesterday that as soon as some slight repairs to the tramway were completed the payroll would be increased to 30 or 35 men and the mill run steady on ore from the dumps. At present there are about 25 men working at the mine and mill. There are 500 tons of rock in the feed bins at the mill. The tram will be working full swing by tomorrow.

For the month of July the following named mines shipped 1000 tons of ore, namely: Slocan Star 519 tons, American Boy 143, Noble Five 25, Payne 25, Last Chance 20, Trade Dollar 20, and Queen Bess 257.

Dr. Hendryx is managing the Last Chance in the absence of Mr. Heap, who is very sick at Banff. There are now about 50 men at work in the mine.

The proposed tunnel on the Slocan Star will give that mine the greatest working depth of any mine in the Slocan.

EASTERN CANADIAN WIRINGS.

MONTREAL, August 4.—E. J. Barbeau, assistant receiver general here, is dead, aged 70.—He had been identified all his life with local banking interests.

HALIFAX, N. S., August 4.—Eliza Mudge, widow, her three daughters, and her niece were poisoned last night by eating canned meat. All are on the way to recovery with the exception of the youngest child, whose condition is considered critical.

MONTREAL, August 4.—Nathan Barlow, lineman, employed by the Lachine Rapids Hydraulic & Land Company, was instantly killed this afternoon while engaged in repairs by coming in contact with a live wire carrying 4000 volts. The man was badly burned when taken down from the pole.

QUEBEC, August 4.—Hon. David Mills and Hon. R. R. Dobell arrived from England last night on the Allan steamship Parisian. Mr. Mills expressed himself satisfied with the result of his mission in connection with the judicial privy council. Among the passengers were members of the Bisley team and several returned officers from South Africa.

Handled Detectives Roughly.

NEW YORK, August 4—The attack upon Robert McLellan, one of the detectives employed by the Society for the Prevention of Crime, who was assaulted and injured in an alleged poolroom in the rear of 724 Broadway, is attracting unusual interest here because of the prominence of the location of the room and the circumstances connected with the assault. War on poolrooms in this city has been unusually bitter for some time, and McLellan and another detective were in the room securing evidence at the time of the attack. The place was crowded with patrons betting on the races when the detectives were recognized. Some of the employees and a number of the patrons formed a flying wedge and separated the two men. McLellan says he was then assaulted with a blackjack. He drew his revolver and fired in the air. This created considerable excitement among the inmates, who made unavailing efforts to escape, the doors of the place being locked. A crowd, however, collected on Broadway and reports being circulated that agents for the Society for the Prevention of Crime were being assaulted, Frank Moss, the president of the organization, was notified by telephone. He hurried to the place with a half dozen of the society's officers and succeeded in releasing McLellan and the other detective.

London's Determined Bishop.

LONDON, August 4.—The bishop of London promises to fulfill the prophecies made when he was appointed. He has been warning the extremists in his diocese that they must abandon the practice of the reservation of the sacrament and remove the tabernacles from ritualistic churches. No general order has been issued and a compromise may yet be effected, but the bishop is now credited with a firm determination to forbid certain ritualistic practices which the archbishops have declared to be illegal. The bishop was known to be in sympathy with the ritualists when appointed, but the best informed churchmen were convinced that this would be a strong resource in regulating the excesses of the extremists and enforcing compliance with the archbishop's advice.

The man who boasts of being able to spell every word correctly may not be much good at anything else.
